FAA Chief Is Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy today chose Najeeb Halaby of Los Angeles to be chief of the Federal Aviation Agency. Halaby now is deputy chief.
Halaby will succeed E. R. Quasada who recently became part-owner of the new Washington baseball club, and resigned his federal post.
Halaby, 45, now has his own law firm in Los Angeles and is also secretary-treasurer of Aerospace Corp., the principal technical adviser to the Air Force on ballistic missile and space programs.
Halaby was a test pilot for Lockheed Aircraft from 1941 to 1943 and then a Navy test pilot until 1946.

Governor Pay Increase Bill Slated For House

SALEM (AP) — A bill that would raise the governor's salary to $25,000 a year and increase pay of other Oregon officials was scheduled today for introduction Friday in the House.
Rep. Richard Eymann, D-Mohawk, sent the bill to the Engrossed Bill Room for introduction Friday. It has strong bipartisan support, including House leaders for the Democrats and Republicans.
The bill would raise Gov. Mark O. Hatfield's salary from its present $17,500 to $25,000.
The salary of the secretary of state, state treasurer and attorney general would be boosted from $12,500 to $19,000.
The superintendent of public instruction and the labor commissioner would be raised from $11,500 to $17,500.
Another bill, also with Eymann as chief sponsor, would increase salaries for circuit and district judges.
Circuit judges would go from $13,000 to $19,000 and district judges would be raised from $11,000 to $12,000.
Among the sponsors of the bill are Rep. F. F. Montgomery of Eugene, the Republican House leader, and Rep. Robert Ellstrom, R-Salem.

KF Police Arrest Two

A bungled safe burglary attempt at Kingsley Field early this month was reported Thursday by city police detectives with the arrest of two young men.
Tommy L. Ellis, 25, 757A McGuire Street, and Everett G. Allen, 20, 1704 Johnson Street, were arrested Wednesday and Thursday and charged with burglary not in a dwelling. Detectives said they had written confessions from both men. A third suspect is being sought in connection with the crime.
Detectives said the trio is accused of breaking into the Kingsley Field commissary early on the morning of Jan. 2 and attempted to "crack" the safe. After using a hatchet, a claw hammer, a crow bar and a meat cleaver on the safe without success, the three men allegedly took some cheese and meat from a butcher shop on the premises.
Entry to the building was apparently made through a back window. Ellis is said to have worked at the commissary as a box boy. He was arrested earlier this month on a parole violation.

Coast Guard Recovers Body

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP) — A Coast Guard search party today recovered the body of one of seven men who drowned when two Coast Guard vessels and the fishing boat they tried to rescue sank in a storm at the mouth of the Columbia River last week.
A Coast Guard spokesman said the body of Bert Bergman, Ilwaco, Wash., was found on the beach near Oysterville, Wash., some 18 miles north of where the disaster occurred. Bergman was the skipper of the crab boat Mermaid.
The bodies of four Coast Guard men and one fisherman still have not been recovered. Beach parties are continuing the search for them.

The gallery and the art association have been gaining in popularity since the facility was built through efforts of the association, and donation from local firms, individuals and agencies.
The gallery was opened last February.

Motorist Is Charged

A Chiloquin woman was charged with drunk driving, driving without a license and having four people in the front seat after she was arrested early Thursday in downtown Klamath Falls.
Ernestine Jackson, 33, was fined $7.50 each on the last two charges Thursday morning in municipal court and the drunk driving charge was continued. Five passengers in her car were arrested for being drunk in a car.
Greta C. Peaslee, 19, 4548 Washburn Way, was cited for driving on the wrong side of the street early Thursday after her car ran into a parked vehicle in front of 2408 White Street. The parked car was owned by Hamm Randolph of that address.
State police investigated a collision Wednesday morning about halfway between Main Street and Shasta Way on Alameda Avenue. Cars driven by Randall Tobias Schuh, 17, 4039 Shasta Way, and Mike Webb, 29, Old Ford Road, collided in a near head-on accident. There were no injuries or citations. Webb's car was towed from the scene.

Senators Okay Amendment Bill

SALEM (AP) — The Oregon Senate passed 24-1 today a resolution to ratify the amendment to the United States Constitution to permit residents of the District of Columbia to vote for president and vice president.
Sen. Walter J. Pearson, D-Portland, said four states already have ratified it.
The resolution goes to the House.
Sen. Carl H. Francis, R-Dayton, said he voted against it because he said the Legislature should consider it at the same time it takes up a proposal to abolish the electoral college.

Wasn't Present During Party

Melvin C. Randolph was not in attendance at a Tuesday party at his home at 1336 Oak Street, as erroneously reported in Wednesday's Herald and News.
Homer Wetmore, who was taking care of the place for Randolph, said there had been a party Tuesday involving himself, three women and two men. The group left the house at 1 p.m.; Wetmore returned about 6 p.m. and noticed that a wrist watch, some costume jewelry and an $86 unemployment check made out to Randolph had been stolen.
Wetmore said everyone at the party knew the check was in a dresser drawer in the bedroom. He further stated that one of the women had seen him put the check in the drawer.

Police Quiz Suspects In Killing

PORTLAND (AP) — A man was shot and killed by gunmen who held up his service station here Wednesday night, police said. Authorities later took two men into custody and said they were questioning them today.
The dead man was identified as James Chambers, 53, who operated a service station at S. E. 107th Avenue and Foster Road. He had been shot twice, once in the shoulder, once in the chest.
Police said neighbors discovered his body, apparently a few minutes after the shooting. The cash register in the station was empty, and police said they estimated $70 had been taken.
The robbery apparently occurred as Chambers was closing the station. His body was found sprawled in his small office.
The holdup was one of a number that have occurred in and around Portland in the past few weeks.
Police said the men taken into custody were arrested on a traffic charge by patrolmen in Oregon City. A pistol was found in their car, police said.

Measure Would Abolish Death Penalty In State

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR.
SALEM (AP) — A new attempt to abolish the death penalty except for treason and murder committed by life termers in prison, was launched in the Oregon Legislature today.
Recommended by the Legislative Interim Committee on Criminal Law, it was introduced in the House by the chairman of the Judiciary Committees. They are Rep. George Van Hoornissen, D-Portland, and Sen. Carl Francis, R-Dayton.
Oregon has had capital punishment continuously since statehood, except between 1914 and 1920.
The last time the people voted on the question was in 1938, when a measure to abolish capital punishment was defeated 276,487 to 264,434.
The new measure would be on the 1962 election ballot.
A companion bill, which would become effective only if the Constitution measure is approved, provides that the death penalty be limited to treason and murder committed by life termers in prison.
It also would reduce the maximum term for second degree murder from life to 25 years.
These measures were part of a big package introduced today by the Interim Committee.
A major bill would provide that every person convicted of a felony be sentenced to five years. This, in effect, would give the State Parole Board complete power to determine the time that should be served, and make it possible for the board to keep most discharged convicts under supervision for a while after they are released.
Other bills in the package would attempt to prevent the sale of obscene literature, provide pre-let the state Game Commission issue mining leases on its lands. This right now is granted only to the Land Forestry Boards.

A state Claims Commission, consisting of three members appointed by the governor, would be set up by a new bill by Rep. Winston Hunt, R-Woodburn. It would be able to rule on claims against the state of less than $20,000.
The House Natural Resources Committee introduced a bill to increase the $75 fine for throwing away lighted materials on state lands to $150.
sentence investigations by the Parole Board of all criminals, and set up a Bureau of Identification and Investigation in the State Police Department to serve all law enforcement agencies in the state.
Another of the new bills would restore civil and political rights to convicts when they are paroled or discharged.
And another bill in the package would permit use of listening devices to pick up conversations in narcotics law violations.
The House Fish and Game Committee introduced a measure to

Mischief Reported

Two reports of malicious mischief were investigated by city police Wednesday.
Someone smashed a storm window Tuesday night with an unknown object, Mrs. Frank Johnson, 1946 Manzanita Street, reported.
Glen Streib, 2450 Vine Street, called the station to complain that a car had just driven across his lawn.
A side view mirror was stolen from his truck Tuesday, E. J. Scaggs, Amity, Ore., said. The truck was parked in the Western Pipeline Co. parking lot on Riverside Drive.
Roy Alston, 634 Owens Street, reported that a car had been parked in front of his house for three days. The vehicle was found to be registered to Hobart D. Perry, Silver Lake.
Clinton Williams, 2247 White Street, found some shot gun shells in the street and turned them over to police.

Defendant Is Fined

A $100 fine was levied Wednesday against Hilario V. Olvera, 57, 610 Main Street, after he was found guilty of disorderly conduct by District Court Judge Hal F. Coe.
Olvera was convicted of stabbing Pablo (Paul) Reyes, 112 South Eleventh Street, with a small pocketknife in a South Seventh Street tavern Saturday night after an argument over money. A five-day jail sentence against Olvera was suspended.
Olvera pleaded self defense; he admitted cutting Reyes after Reyes had allegedly bothered him about money and reached for his wallet.
Defense attorney Glenn D. Ramirez gave notice of appeal.

Bold Thief Unrewarded In Dorris City Hall Job

DORRIS — A bold thief's efforts in the city hall Tuesday night were fruitless, say police.
And James Oswald, 20, suspected of the break in here Tuesday night, was arrested by police in Sacramento Wednesday. Dorris Police Chief Byard Kelly learned.
Siskiyou County Sheriff A. B. Cottar said Sacramento authorities informed him Oswald admitted the crime when he was found with a pair of handcuffs and keys identified as the property of the city of Dorris.
He was arrested in Sacramento for charges he committed a misdemeanor there.
When the city clerk, Mrs. Virginia Hamilton, came to work Wednesday morning, she found the main city hall door locked. She had no key.
Neither did Kelly, who happened by. So a city employee, John Maginnis, entered the building through another avenue and opened the door.
Mrs. Hamilton found that someone had broken into her office. A pane in a small paying window next to the door had been smashed, allowing a man to reach in and open the door.

Colorful Figure Dies

A colorful figure in the entertainment field, J. Barney (Pop) O'Hagan, 73, who with his family made his home in Klamath Falls for some time, died Jan. 17 at his home in Chula Vista, Calif. The family still has property here.
Mr. and Mrs. O'Hagan were parents of four children and adopted parents of 15. During World War II they performed in service camps and war bond benefits, paying their own way.
While in Klamath Falls they gave generously of their talent, giving free performances at the Klamath Nursing Home and elsewhere. They were billed here and at other points in the Klamath Basin.
After 1955 they worked for Special Army Services, touring camps and bases in Japan, Singapore, Korea, Malaya and the Philippines.
In addition to the widow, he is survived by 14 children.
Cremation followed funeral services.
