SATAN'S CHAUFFEURS will conduct the Mother's March this year for the New March of Dimes on Tuesday night, Jan. 31. The group of young men is seeking women volunteers who will help canvass the city and outlying communities. The march will start at 6 p.m. Residents are asked to leave porch lights on. Mel Loy, far left, co-chairman with Tom Marchant, met with the Chauffeurs to outline plans for the march.

Marchant, Loy Heading Local Dimes Campaign

Klamath Falls annual campaign for the New March of Dimes is spearheaded by co-chairmen Tom Marchant and Mel Loy, local insurance men. As in the past several years young people of the community will play an important part in the effort to raise funds to further the fight against crippling diseases, to pay medical care bills for polio patients and research into arthritis and birth defects. Freshmen girls of Klamath Union High School will sell peanuts, balloons and tiny lapel crutches on downtown streets, Saturday, Jan. 21, and Saturday, Feb. 4. They are also stuffing envelopes with information on the drive, seeking contributions by mail. Members of Satan's Chauffeurs, headed by Phil Sheridan will conduct the Mother's March on Jan. 31. Any woman who can assist in the drive is asked to call Phil Sheridan.

Walter had sued the railroad under two separate charges. One was that he was injured after he was ordered to move a heavy plank. The second charge was that he was struck and injured when a heavy rock was pushed over an embankment by a company bulldozer. The jury found in favor of the railroad on the first charge and awarded Walter $9,750 on the second. The worker had asked $30,000 general damages on each charge. Walter was represented by E. E. Driscoll of Klamath Falls and the firm of Hildebrand, Bills and McLeod of Portland. Great Northern's attorneys were Ganong and Ganong of Klamath Falls and Hart, Rockwood, Davies, Biggs and Strayer of Portland.

Weekend Looks Good

The snow at Tomahawk Ski Bowl has melted like old wine and skiing is considered good. Though a rain softened the runs last Friday night, a frost Saturday night firmed the pack and Sunday's sport was some of the best offered this year at the bowl, some skiers reported. The pack and its quality have not diminished during the week, reports Don Divens, bowl owner-operator. Facilities will operate beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl reports fair to good skiing in weather so balmy that shirtsleeves are not daring. As it has been most of the winter, a temperature inversion is present in that area, so that temperatures in valleys are much cooler than those at the 8,000-foot level. Snow is packed to 62 inches in depth there now. A north-northeast wind up to 15 miles per hour was blowing. The five-day weather forecast: fair with highs in the 50s. Motorists are cautioned to watch sharply for rocks on the pavement, dislodged during the thaw. Skiing elsewhere in Oregon should be fair to good, according to reports. No new snow has fallen at Warner Valley ski area near Lakeview. Ski tows will operate Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. The warming hut will be open. The snow is hard-packed to 74 inches at Bachelor Butte near Bend and weather was just about perfect at 9 a.m. Friday. Motorists are advised to carry chains. Timberline Lodge—90 inches of snow, hard-packed. All facilities operating, weather permitting. Roads are clear and no chains are needed. Temperature was 34 degrees at 7 a.m. A light wind was blowing and skies were clear. Willamette Pass—Clear and sunny, temperature 28 at 8 a.m., no new snow, total 28 inches, packed, fair skiing, all facilities operating. The forecast is for fair weather through Saturday in the Mount Hood area and Santiam and Willamette passes. East slopes may get some patchy fog. Freezing level will be at about 12,000

Royal Pair Off On Tour

LONDON (AP)—Gay and smiling, Queen Elizabeth II and her husband, Prince Philip, flew out of misty London today to begin a 20,000-mile Asian tour. Royal visits to India, Pakistan, Nepal and Iran will keep them away from Britain until March 6. Their first stop is the island of Cyprus where the royal couple will meet President Archbishop Makarios. Makarios once was exiled by the British in his successful fight for independence for Cyprus, a former crown colony. The queen and her husband were seen off by Princess Margaret; her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and other officials. Kindig fought in France. He was felled by poison gas and once was buried by earth thrown by an explosion. Kindig served in the army of occupation in Germany after the war, then returned to his home. He came to California to visit relatives at Richardson Springs near Chico and entered Chico Normal School, now Chico State College. He was a member of the first class to be graduated after the school's name was changed to Chico State Teachers College. He taught a year at Grenada, near Yreka, and three years at Mon-

Gold-Toothed Cat Back Home

LONDON (AP) — The Siamese cat wandered in Devonshire Place Thursday night, its gold tooth glinting under the streetlights. A passerby took it to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The society promptly called Mrs. Sarah Sbarman of Wimpole Street, the cat's owner. She had reported the animal missing and said she thought it was the only cat in London with a gold tooth, supplied by a skillful veterinarian.

Young Man Is Facing Murder Rap

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—John Harrison Farmer, 34, faced a murder charge today for gunning a man he hadn't intended to kill. "I got all shook—all shook up when I heard I had killed an innocent man," he said. "That's why I decided to give myself up." The innocent man was Steven Mann Thomas, 29, Ukiah, Calif., a graduate student at the University of California. He was killed by a shotgun blast Wednesday afternoon in the office of English Prof. Thomas F. Parkinson, 40. The guilty man, in Farmer's mind, was Parkinson, who suffered severe facial injuries in another blast from the assailant's gun. Farmer, a UC graduate and member of a prominent California family, was picked up Thursday as he walked along a lonely road in the Berkeley Hills, carrying a rifle, a hunting knife and ammunition, and leading a mongrel dog. Patrolman A. W. Perrin, who made the arrest, said he thought at first that Farmer was a hunter. But when he approached to question Farmer, he said, the suspect handed him his rifle and asked: "Are they dead?"

Attorney Files Demurrer in Gambling Case

A demurrer was filed in district court Friday morning on behalf of Merle A. Hanscam, 42, Lucky Lanes Bowling Alley owner charged with paying off on pinball machines. The demurrer, filed by Hanscam's attorney, David Vandenberg Jr., said the complaint was invalid because it charged more than one crime and also because the facts stated do not constitute a crime. Hanscam is charged specifically with possessing, displaying and operating a game of chance. Two young state police officers said they were paid $1 each for free games they won on two pinball machines in the bowling alley. Both machines were confiscated. Hanscam has posted $250 bail on each of two identical gambling charges.

A Beatty man, Raymond Jackson, was treated for multiple knife wounds at Klamath Valley Hospital Thursday and then released. Nurses said Jackson had cuts on his nose, left ear, the top of his head and he also had an infected cut on his left hip. Jackson told city police that he had been at a drinking party in Beatty Monday but he couldn't remember where it was or who West Virginia was the first state to try out rural free delivery postal service, doing so in 1896.

Third Man Is Arrested For Attempt

A third young man was arrested by city police Thursday in connection with an attempted Kingsley Field safe burglary early this month. Robert Dean Welch, 18, 1113 Upham Street, was booked at the city jail on a charge of burglary. He and two other men, Tommy L. Ellis, 25, 7574 McGuire Street, and Everett G. Allen, 20, 1704 Johnson Street, are accused of breaking into the Kingsley Field commissary on Jan. 2 and unsuccessfully trying to break open the safe. The three young men waived preliminary hearing in district court late Thursday and were bound over to the grand jury by Judge Hal F. Coe. Bail was set at $1,500 for each man. Other police reports: An attempted burglary was reported by Maurice Paup, 1310 California Avenue, a janitor at LaPointe's, 507 Main Street. Paup said someone apparently tried to pry open a side door to the building Wednesday night with a crowbar. Two abandoned bicycles were taken to the police station. One was found in the parking lot of the Professional Building; it has knee action and yellow handgrips. The other bike, red with a three-speed gear shift, was found along the Link River.

Convict Set To Make Freedom Bid In Court

William Thomaston, a California cement contractor who shot and killed a friend's wife in July, 1958, will appear in Klamath County Circuit Court Monday for a hearing under the Post Conviction Hearing Act. Thomaston was sentenced to life in the Oregon State Penitentiary in March, 1959, after he pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the death of Edyth Atkins. He is suing Penitentiary Warden Clarence T. Gladden for release on the grounds that his constitutional rights were violated in his imprisonment and trial in Klamath County. Subpoenas have been issued to Judge David R. Vandenberg, ex-District Attorney Arthur Beddoe, Sheriff Murray Britton and Defense Attorney Murray Freeman. Thomaston has made allegations against all of these officials. Thomaston claims that Freeman, appointed by the court, failed to prepare the case properly. He says Freeman and Beddoe "coerced" him to plead guilty. He also alleges that he was not informed of his rights and that he was compelled to testify against himself. Judge Vandenberg is accused by Thomaston of being "prejudiced." The convict says, in his petition, that court reporter Doris Abernathy made intentional omissions and deletions from the official record. Thomaston claims that he was treated with "unnecessary vigor" in the county jail by Sheriff Britton and his deputies. He says he was not supplied with adequate food or medical aid and was denied proper clothing, toilet and shower facilities. He also alleges that he was subjected to "threats and violence" by the sheriff. Circuit Judge Herbert M. Schwab of Portland will conduct the hearing. Thomaston's attorney is Richard D. Lee of Salem. Thomaston prepared several motions himself in the penitentiary before securing an attorney. Sheriff's deputies are returning the convict from Salem Friday.
