

President Is Expected To Review World Policy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is expected to begin almost immediately a sweeping review of U.S. foreign and defense policies to determine how he can work toward worldwide peace and cooperation as set forth in his inaugural address.

Diplomats predict the survey of international relations and the development of new or revised programs will lead to early, high-level consultation with Allied governments as a prelude to negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy told the world after being sworn in Friday that both sides in the cold war should "begin anew the quest for peace," including a fresh start on disarmament and other critical problems. His words stood as a challenge to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who has called for an early return to summit conference diplomacy.

The new President did not mention a summit conference nor any other form of negotiation in specific terms. The burden of his statement seemed to be that it is not the form but the purpose of negotiations which is important. He had said during the political campaign last fall that a meeting at the summit must give advance promise of agreement.

In his first official declaration as President, Kennedy said that the United States would never "negotiate out of fear." This appeared to be a caution to Khrushchev against trying to force a summit meeting by stirring up a new crisis at Berlin or elsewhere.

What the great powers should do, Kennedy said, is "explore those problems which unite us instead of belaboring those problems which divide us."

He called for "serious and precise proposals for the inspection and control of arms," arguing that both the Allied and Soviet blocs are overburdened by the cost of modern weapons. Several months probably will be required to develop such proposals.

Both sides could work together in the development of science, including the conquest of space, Kennedy declared, and both could eventually undertake to create a new "world of law" in which peace and justice would be secure.

China Acknowledges Unrest Among Masses

TOKYO (UPI)—Red China formally acknowledged the existence of unrest among its hungry millions today, and added ominously that "bad elements will be cleaned out" of the government and the Communist party.

A communique issued at the close of this week's Communist Central Committee meeting in Peking also confirmed reports that last year's farm production failed to meet planned goals. It repeated previous statements blaming "natural calamities" for crop shortages.

The communique, broadcast by Peiping Radio, denied that the Red conquerors of China, North Korea and North Viet Nam are seeking to export revolution to other countries.

"Revolution is the affair of the peoples of the various countries themselves," the communique said. "The Communists have always been against the export of revolution... (and) the imperialist export of counter-revolution."

The communique said an unspecified number of opponents of the Red regime, officially described as "landlords and bourgeois elements," have taken advantage of its difficulties to engage in sabotage.

It also complained of official inefficiency, but gave no details. The Red radio said a campaign of "rectification" has been launched to put a stop to sabotage and inefficiency in cities and on farms.

"The extremely few bad elements which have been proved by careful investigation to have sneaked into the party and government organizations will be cleaned out," the communique said.

The Reds said their failure to achieve crop goals was caused by "the most severe natural calamities in a century."

Western Congressmen Trying To Save Valuable Timber Rotting In Forests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western members of Congress are joining forces in trying to save valuable timber — running into billions of board feet — from rotting where it stands.

The timber is in national forests and cannot be harvested because it cannot be reached.

More money for building access roads to this timber is the objective of the westerners.

"It will return to the treasury of the United States many times its cost, making it possible for us to harvest timber which otherwise would be lost," Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., told the Senate last week in urging support for a bill to authorize the funds.

Sixteen senators from the west are cosponsoring the bill. House bills have been introduced with the same aim.

The legislation would authorize expenditures of $45 million in the year beginning July 1, and $60 million in the following year. A present law limits funds for the two years to $35 million and $40 million.

Matter of fact it was sunny and fairly warm when deputy sheriff Vern Baldrige came upon postman Louis S. Romani burying an estimated 10,000 pieces of mail in a gulch near Half Moon Bay 20 miles south of here Friday. Nearly all of it was advertising material.

"I was just too plain lazy to deliver it," he told postal inspectors. He said he decided to get rid of it when he moved recently from one house to another in south San Francisco.

U.S. Commissioner Donald B. Constine set bail at $250. He faces trial on a charge of obstructing the mail. Possible penalty is five years and $500.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There was no sleep, snow, dead of night, none of that jazz that fires up a postman.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Catching Colds

- Repeat Smallpox
- Nicotine
- Arthritis
- Corns

Q. Does chilling after a bath cause colds?
 A. No, according to some authorities. Others say that chilling lowers resistance, thus permitting the cold virus (if present in the breathing passages) to become active and produce symptoms of a cold. While it is difficult to prove or disprove the "chilling" theory, proper drying and a reasonable waiting period before going out may have some precautionary value.

Q. Can smallpox occur in a person who has been successfully vaccinated?
 A. Yes. Contrary to the general belief, smallpox can occur in one-time vaccinated persons. Protection may last as long as ten years in countries where smallpox is rare but in places where smallpox epidemics still occur, yearly vaccination is needed to solidly protect against the disease.

Q. Is there more nicotine in cigarette tobacco than in pipe tobacco?
 A. American cigarette tobacco contains, on the average, about 2.5 per cent nicotine. Some blends may have as little as 1.5 per cent. Pipe tobacco contains about 2 per cent; cigar tobacco about 1.4 per cent.

Q. Will hormone shots given directly into the joint cure arthritis?
 A. No. There is no real cure for arthritis. However, injections into affected joints, when indicated and properly given, can bring temporary relief.

Q. Do corns or calluses ever turn into cancer?
 A. No. It is your right and privilege to have your prescription filled at a pharmacy of your choice. Choose wisely on the basis of professional competency and price fairness.
