

New Institution Bill Offered

SALEM (AP) — Rep. Mel Gordon, R-Portland, has introduced a bill to construct an institution for sex offenders within 20 miles of Portland. It would cost $2 million. It would be referred to the people at the 1962 general election.

Gordon said the bill provides for a plan to rehabilitate sex criminals.

He added that the state penitentiary and state penal institutions now have no facilities to treat them.

Pay Increases

SALEM (AP) — A bill to give state police $100 monthly pay increase was introduced Friday by Sen. Richard Groener, D-Milwaukie.

Sen. Al Flegel, D-Roseburg, also introduced a state police pay increase measure. Groener has been a consistent critic of the state police administration.

Amendment Asked

SALEM (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to have the legislature meet annually was introduced Friday by Sen. R. F. Chapman, D-Cos. Bay. It now meets every two years.

Similar measures have died in recent sessions of the legislature.

Delay Granted

SALEM (AP) — The Senate passed unanimously and sent to the House Friday a bill granting the Umatilla, Lincoln and Baker county assessors a delay in conforming with a new law that all property should be assessed at 25 per cent of the true cash value. The law went into effect Jan. 1. The delay is to permit those counties to wait until they complete their reappraisal programs later this year.

Sen. Loyd Key, D-Milton-Freewater, author of the bill, said it would save those three assessors lots of work and prevent compounding of errors before the reappraisals are completed.

Praise Officials

SALEM (AP) — A resolution praising Roseburg officials for their work following the explosion on Aug. 7, 1959, was introduced in the Senate Friday by Sen. Al Flegel and Rep. Sidney Leiken, both Roseburg Democrats.

It also expresses sympathy for the families of the 14 persons killed when a truck loaded with 8½ tons of explosives blew up.

The resolution says the legislature wishes to express its respect and admiration for the city of Roseburg, its administrators and executive officers for the admirable manner in which they worked out their problems resulting from the explosion, with a minimum of outside financial aid.

Election Change

SALEM (AP) — Legislation to allow state party central committees to select their national committeemen and committeewomen was introduced in the Senate Friday by Sen. William A. Grenfell Jr., D-Portland, and Rep. Beulah Hand, D-Milwaukie. They now are elected at the primary elections.

Channel Asked

SALEM (AP) — A memorial asking Congress to provide a 40-foot deep 750-foot wide ship channel from Portland to the ocean was introduced Friday by Sen. Thomas R. Mahoney and Rep. Ed Whelan, both Portland Democrats.

New Firm Talked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Plans to create a new telephone company to operate in Washington, Oregon and part of Idaho were announced here Friday.

Blueprints for the firm, which would take over operations currently maintained by Pacific Telephone-Northwest, were disclosed after a meeting of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s board of directors.

C. O. Lindeman, president of PT&T, said the new company would acquire business functions and properties of Pacific Telephone-Northwest, set up last February.

The proposed division would be the 20th in the Bell Telephone System.

Lindeman said there would be important advantages in having separate companies operate in Washington, Oregon and North Idaho and in California and Nevada. PT&T would continue to handle the latter two states.

More than 15,000 persons are employed by Pacific Telephone-Northwest in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

Okay Rate Hike

SALEM (AP) — Public Utility Commissioner Jonel C. Hill Friday granted a rate increase averaging 20 per cent to the John Day Valley Freight Lines, Inc. Hill said an investigation showed that the firm's operations in sparsely populated areas of Eastern Oregon were being conducted at a loss and the increase was needed.

The freight company provides local runs from John Day to Pendleton, Burns, Baker, Fossil, Mitchell and Seneca.

Put On Alert

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The 34th troop carrier wing, with squadrons at Hamilton AFB, McClellan AFB near Sacramento; Paine Field, Everett, Wash.; and Portland, Ore., international airport was put on alert Saturday morning.

Brig. Gen. Roland B. Moore Jr., commander of the Air Force reserve unit which flies C119 flying boxcars, said the alert "is part of normal training routine."

The alert affects 34 planes and their crews in the four squadrons as well as ground crews and headquarters personnel.

THE OWL HOOTS

By A. L. GEISS
It was interesting in browsing through the first printed issue of the Oregon Tech catalog published in June, 1949, to see how many instructors on the faculty then are still with us. We found an even dozen including Dr. Parvum. Others were R. L. Smith, Carl Stolpe, Don Orrell, Hallard Bailey, Roy Green, Larry French, Hal Rotrock, Wally Uerlings and Jesse Crabtree.

In line with Oregon Technical Institute's policy that instructors should be informed about other curricular areas than their own, the first of curricular-area visitations for instructors will be arranged in the near future.

Earl Sweet is planning a display which will include some custom work plus instructional materials which have been prepared in cooperation with Hallard Bailey, Jack Frost and Gus Ekland. He has also been involved in preparing the instructional and materials. As tentatively planned, the instructors may visit throughout the day at their convenience.

We have been informed that visitors will be welcome to see these classes in operation. The visitation, which will be arranged in most curricular areas over a period of time, will be for the purpose of acquainting instructors and others with the instructional programs rather than as fair type displays.

Speaking of visitations to know what's going on on the campus—anyone who has not visited the new health service facilities in King Hall and heard about the job it is doing from Natalie Reichenberg, has missed seeing and hearing about an important, functioning activity on the campus.

Jim Armon, Bernice Andrews, Bob Baird, and Russell Madson will travel to Prineville Monday evening to present an Oregon Technical Institute program for parents. The visitation is the result of an invitation to Mr. Armon while on high school visitation.

Willis U. Haugen, a 1959 graduate in Diesel Technology, was a visitor on the campus on Jan. 24. He is employed at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Livermore. He is pleased with the education he received at Oregon Tech.

This writer was responsible for indicating under the picture of the foreign students in "The Miller that John Wong is from Hong Kong, China. We had a call from O. K. McCart stating that Hong Kong is not in China but in B.C.C. (British Commonwealth Colony). It is an island off the coast of China on which Britain has a 99 year lease.

The X-ray department received its new 3,700 mobile X-ray machine last week. The students are getting ready to put out a card that says "Have X-ray machine, will travel." They say, though, that this machine is a "mobile" machine and not to be confused with the portable machines—on an old-timer of which they have that they call "the thing."

In the purely personal column—Bernice Andrews has been ill this week. Betty Stanko's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Keating, from Edgemont, S.D., visited for several days at the Stanko residence. J. J. Heidel, father of Ruth Geiss, has been visiting at the Geiss residence since the first of January. Ruth took him to Walla Walla on Tuesday and will be gone the rest of the week, so this writer knows what Cecil Barkdoll means when he says "It is the bunk to be baching." Cecil's wife has gone to Elkhart, Kan., for the golden wedding anniversary of her sister, Imogene Halston is convalescing at home after surgery a couple of weeks ago. Incidentally, if anyone wants to know how it feels to fall down on the ice while skating with a bottle of pop in one hand and a sandwich in the other, just ask Shirley Douglass. From Bruno Marchese on married life: "I am painting every night and redecorating but it's wonderful. I still hear the last word in—I say 'Yes, dear.'"

Clifford D. Lundenburger of 2121 Etna Street was injured Friday at about 8:30 p.m. when the car he was driving eight miles north of the Chiloquin junction on Highway 97 went off the road and overturned.

The car was southbound when Lundenburger apparently lost control. The car traveled about 422 feet along a steep bank, went through some brush and then rolled end over end. Lundenburger was taken to Klamath Valley Hospital by Peace Ambulance.

Klamath Falls firemen responded to a call from 1139 Owens Saturday at 5:47 p.m. A car fire at that address damaged wiring and hood paint. Owner of the car was Jack Foote.

Charles Martin's picture appeared this week in a Washington paper being presented a "diplomat in Biology" at a Tacoma meeting recently. This is not the first of such honors that our distinguished medical technology professor has received. Incidentally, he will go to the hospital for surgery on a finger on Friday.

Five second year students in the mechanical technology class with their instructor, Ray Garrison, went on a field trip last week to Aerojet General Corporation at Sacramento and Lawrence Radiation Laboratories at Livermore. The students are required to pay their own expenses on these trips. The value of the specially conducted tours in highly technical industrial plants adds substantially to the theory training acquired at school.

Bill Darmolt, foreign student from Liberia, spoke to the Kiwanis Club on Wednesday on the subject of "Education in Liberia."

Our ingenious instructor, Jim Brady, has innovated an attachment for a Heath Laboratory type oscilloscope in the Electronics Department which permits the $170 unit to practically do the same job as some other similar unit, which cost $800. The machine used for time and frequency measurement dissipated so much heat within the chassis under continuous use that it was not satisfactory for extensive use in the electronics laboratory until Jim's innovation solved the problem. In order to remove the hot air, Jim installed a surplus fan and bored holes in the proper places for hot air release.

Members of the gunsmithing class are conducting a hunters' safety program for boys in the YMCA. This special Y program started last week and will continue through the school year. Larry Amundson, Bill Jensen, Tom Renfro and Gerald Warner along with their instructor, Earl Sweet, are giving their time to the project.

SWIMMING IS THERAPY for the handicapped, the YMCA believes. Here Tom Ballantyne and his son, Jim, enjoy the Y's program at the Klamath Union High School natatorium. Says Ballantyne, "It is most important that anyone who enjoys the water be able to swim for safety's sake. For the handicapped, it is much more important because it is wonderful exercise and physical therapy is one of the most important things necessary for their development—physically and mentally." The YMCA's annual membership roundup is in full swing.

Great Decisions Group Will Meet Here Monday

Klamath County citizens will have an opportunity to take part in state-wide discussions of key issues of United States foreign policy beginning Feb. 5.

The organization meeting for "Great Decisions" group, however, will be held Monday, Jan. 30, at the Klamath County Library at 7:30 p.m.

Jim Boyle, chairman of the local committee, urges all interested persons to attend the organizational affair.

Sponsored by the Pre-State Commission Extension Service, "Great Decisions" is a series of discussions on eight topics of foreign policy of the United States.

The eight topics to be discussed in this year's series are: deadlock over Germany, Soviet challenge and world leadership, France and Western unity, Japan—future of an Asian ally, UN in explosive Africa, the Americas in jeopardy, arms and survival and blueprints for the world economy.

Mrs. Betty Cote is county distribution chairman, and Mrs. Floy Johnson, county tabulation chairman.

Other members of the local committee are Isabelle Brinker, Jim Bosley and Walt Jendrzewski.

General objective, Boyle reports, is to provide an organization and a program for learning about these vital issues.

This program, he said, will give to the people of Klamath Falls an opportunity to express their feelings about actions of the federal government. In addition, he continued, it will give the people who participate an opportunity to concentrate on the study of several specific issues to be raised in 1961.

During eight weeks of committee-wide study and discussion, individual participants in the program will be able to express opinions on each of the issues by use of an opinion ballot.

Tabulated reports of the ballot will be published locally. Ballot results will be forwarded to Congress and to the State Department in Washington.

Further information on the "Great Decisions" program can be obtained by calling TU 2-3466, extension 51.

Find Quick Cancer Test

CARMEL, Calif. (UPI)—A simple breathing test for early detection of lung cancer was described Friday by Los Angeles physicians who developed the method.

Doctors John F. Murray and Gerald Trosler of the University of California at Los Angeles said they conducted the tests with a spirometer, a machine which charts patient's breathing capacity and is normally used in basal metabolism tests.

Speaking before the Western meeting of the American Federation for Clinical Research, they reported that the spirometer graph shows persons with early cancer breathe with a cycle different from non-cancerous patients.

Wasco County DA May Get U.S. Attorney Post

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Harry J. Hogan, now district attorney of Wasco County, said Saturday he had talked with officials in Washington, D.C., about possible appointment as the new United States attorney for Oregon.

Hogan made the comment after a Portland newspaper, The Oregonian, said in a dispatch from the nation's capital that the Kennedy administration had picked Hogan for the post and would announce the appointment soon.

"I don't know anything about it," Hogan said at The Dalles. "I don't know who is being considered and I don't know who will be appointed."

However, Hogan said that he had been in Washington, D.C., six days earlier this month, and had talked with officials there about the U.S. attorney's post.

"But I didn't receive any assurances from anyone," Hogan said. He declined to identify the officials with whom he talked.

In its story, The Oregonian said Hogan is to succeed C. E. Lucey of Eugene, who has served in his top legal post throughout the Eisenhower administration. The position carries a salary of $17,500.

"The appointment must be confirmed by the Senate," Hogan was heard in Washington, D.C., recently and is understood to have been given assurances of clearance from both Oregon senators, Wayne Morse and Maurice B. Neuberger.

Hogan, 46, was elected to a second term as district attorney last November. He began practicing law in The Dalles in 1952, after being a regional counsel for the Bureau of Indian Affairs. He also has been a legal counsel for the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Bureau of Land Management.

Hogan has been active, too, in politics. He managed the 1958 reelection campaign of former Gov. Robert D. Holmes, and last year was registration chairman of the Democratic Party in Oregon.
