DAC Meet At Luncheon

Klamath Chapter, Daughters of the American Colonists, met in the Empire Room of the Winema Hotel, Saturday, Jan. 28, for a noon luncheon and program. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert Odell and Mrs. Dick Henzel.

The executive board and regular business sessions were presided over by Mrs. L. H. Stone, regent. Seventeen members and prospective members responded to roll call with poems or quotations about George Washington.

The chapter received a welcome gift for an addition to the genealogical library from Mrs. William D. Foster, organizing regent who now resides in Dayton, Ore. The patriotic education chairman, Mrs. Stone, reported on the George Washington fifth grade poetry contest. Mrs. Robert Odell, Mrs. Arch G. Proctor and Mrs. William L. Wales Jr. were appointed as judges.

Mrs. Proctor, charter regent, and Mrs. Albert O. Roemcke, past regent, will present George Washington medals on his anniversary birthday, Feb. 22, to a winner in each city grade school.

Members were reminded that all annual reports are due by Feb. 15.

National defense chairman, Mrs. Charles K. Wells, announced Great Decisions dates and gave an invitation to a showing of "Operation Abolition," a movie on communism, in March.

The insignia chairman, Mrs. Rudolph Payge, reported a chapter regent's pin will be purchased, and offered recognition pins for sale.

The registrar, Mrs. Arch G. Proctor, presented a new lineage book, Volume X, and asked, in recognition of the Civil War Centennial, for each member to relate a family incident regarding this event. Many had letters to read as well as photographs of relatives' service records to show. Mrs. Stone reminded members that any Union or Confederate graves will be marked free by the Army.

After the report of the nominating committee, election of officers was held. Installation will be at the April meeting.

The program chairman, Mrs. George Proctor, introduced Mrs. Bert C. Thomas, who gave a delightful talk on colonial costumes illustrated by colorful pictures. She had many samples of old-time handmade dress materials, a piece of Indian muslin, a delicate lace fichu, linen and a silk stocking. She also showed a colonial style hat and a doll dressed in Puritan costume. The contrast of the Puritan dress from that of the Cavaliers was explained and illustrated. When the Puritans broke from the Church of England they dressed in severely opulent style to the flamboyant Cavalier. Even the cropped hair, dress was adapted rather than the wig. Many old customs of Mrs. Doris Atkins and Mrs. Bardress are retained today, such as bara Green. Sending a gift but the silk stripe down the side of unable to attend was Len Murphy.

men's dress suit trousers. Mrs. Stone announced that the small local DAC group has two members, Mrs. Arch G. Proctor and Mrs. Bert C. Thomas, who will attend the annual national assembly in Washington, D.C., in April.

The group unanimously endorsed Mrs. Arch Proctor as a candidate for state regent. Her name will be placed in nomination by the present state regent, Mrs. John Y. Richardson, at the annual state assembly to be held in Portland Feb. 26 and March 1. Mrs. William Maurice Carrigan, national president, will be the honored guest. All local members are invited to attend.

YREKA—A winter theme, featuring snowmen, frosted tumbleweed and simulated frozen lakes with tiny figures of ice skaters, marked the decor for the reception honoring Mildred Gilbert, assistant deputy grand royal matron, and Mary Hebard, assistant grand lecturer, following the regular meeting of Siskiyou Court No. 100, Order of Amaranth, held in the Masonic Temple on Friday evening, Jan. 27.

Royal Matron Florence Marliave and Royal Patron Charles Orr welcomed visitors from Rosy Ann Court No. 20, Medford; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Day, Medford; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gillette, Ashland; Jack Kennedy and Fred Puriden, both of Medford, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gilbert of Honey Lake Court No. 1, Susanville.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson was in charge of the decorations. Mrs. Frieda Johnson was chairman of the refreshment committee.

Several members of Siskiyou Court traveled to Medford on Sunday, Jan. 29, to attend the annual snowglobe given by Rosy Ann Court No. 20.
