

Chiloquin To Dedicate New Library

CHILOQUIN—The area branch library here will be dedicated informally Saturday with a coffee hour for the public from 2 to 5 p.m.

Special invitations have gone to members of the Klamath County Library Board of Directors, the county court, city councilmen and others who made the library possible and to other librarians.

Mrs. Paul Herron, librarian, and Mrs. William Lorenz are in charge of the afternoon's planning. Mrs. Lorenz was a member of the library board from 1949 until January of this year.

Library headquarters at Klamath Falls have added 500 books to the 1,200 library books and the 1,000 donated books already there.

The selection includes a variety of books for children, teen-agers and adults. Reference books and periodicals are included, said Mrs. Betty Cote, county librarian.

The library has been open to the public for about two weeks. It was moved from the city clerk's office to the old fire hall near city hall.

The city donated the hall to the county for the library and provided some of the labor necessary to level the concrete floor, cover it with tile, add shelves, a window, rest rooms, new cupboard doors and closets, repaint the building and its furniture and complete other alterations.

Hours are from 2 to 5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. The librarian is contemplating adding more hours.

Here is a list of donors and their contributions, in addition to the city:

Thunderbirds basketball team, $30; Mrs. William Wampler, cash donation and assistance during food sale; Mrs. Minnie Mallory, $10; Reservation Junior Chamber of Commerce, $100; county court through the county library board, $100 and material through book fine money.

Lloyd Peters, plywood and carpenter labor on book shelves; William Lorenz, plumbing fixtures, neon lighting fixtures, magazine rack and lumber, labor on cutting shelving and on floor; Kircher Hardware Company, discount on tile for floor; Mrs. William Lorenz, librarian's desk and chair; Klamath County schools, furniture.

The following is a list of men and women who donated labor:

Harry Whiting, leveling and completing floor; Paul Herron, repainting chairs and reading tables and covering a table; Lloyd Peters, carpentry on book shelves; Robert Ayers, installing plumbing and electrical work; T. Temby, San Diego, carpentry; Dan Werner, laying tile floor; William Lorenz, cutting lumber and assisting in preparing the floor for tile; Aubrey Storkey, installing wiring; Emmett Gully, putting shelving together; Hiralto Zakoi, installing shelving; Police Chief Lew Jones, directing trustees in moving books to the new library; Edward Chase, donating miscellaneous labor; Mrs. Herron, assisting in planning the building arrangement, moving books and arranging for the opening, and Mrs. Lorenz, assisting in planning the building arrangement, moving books and arranging for the opening.

Daylight Saving Bill Offered

SALEM (AP) — A bill to let each county decide for itself whether it wants daylight saving time will be introduced by Rep. Ed Benedict, D-Portland.

Benedict made his announcement at a House Planning and Development Committee meeting on a memorial which would ask Congress to put the whole country on standard time each summer, as well as the rest of the year.

The voters rejected last November a bill to have daylight saving time each summer, while a similar measure was approved in Washington. California has had daylight saving time for several years.

Benedict hopes that by his local option plan, Multnomah County would have daylight time to conform with Washington.

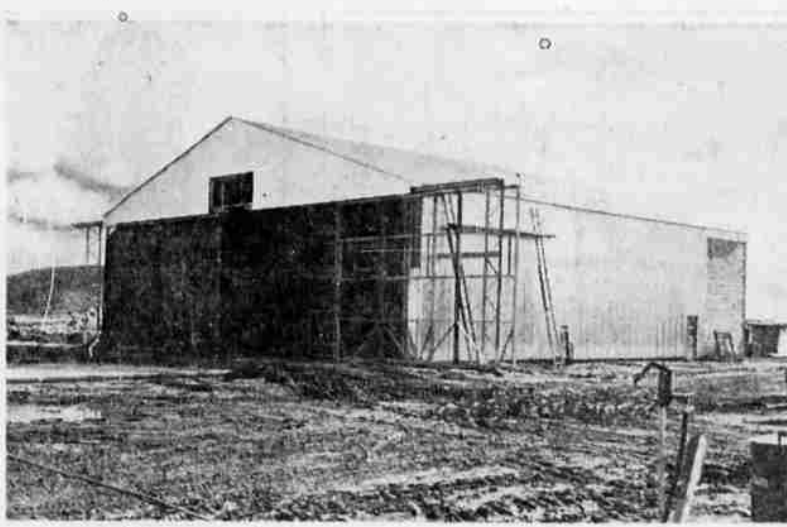

QUOTE IS RIGHT

DETROIT (UPI) — Convicted Patrick Henry Daniels, 26, told Judge W. McKay Skillman he knew what the man he was named after was famous for.

"Give me liberty or give me death," Daniels quoted the original Patrick Henry.

"That's right," Judge Skillman said, "but I can't give you either." He sentenced Daniels to two to four years in prison.

Forest Service Cuts Prices Again On N.W. Stumpage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U. S. Forest Service said today it had cut its appraised stumpage prices in the Pacific Northwest for the third time since September, 1959.

The announcement came at the same time Sen. Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., said in Washington that the record did not bear out complaints that overpricing of federal timber had contributed to unemployment. She said the lumber industry and some congressmen had made that criticism.

However, she said, the average bid at timber sales in Western Oregon had been nearly $6 higher than the average appraised price.

Mrs. Neuberger said that "Forest Service appraised prices dropped over $6 during the year, but despite this fact, bid values continued to exceed appraised prices."

"Under these circumstances, I am at a loss to see how I could present a convincing argument to the new secretary of agriculture

Frishneck, Oregon State College Animal Husbandry Department, will be here to discuss the subject.

A similar meeting will be held each Thursday afternoon with college staff members discussing the various topics. The subject for Thursday, Feb. 16, will be on animal nutrition.

All livestock producers are invited to attend.

that Forest Service appraisals are unrealistic." Mrs. Neuberger said that the Industrial Forestry Association told her the Forest Service had failed to lower appraised prices despite a steady decline in lumber and plywood prices. It said this increased unemployment and threatened even more jobs. However, said Mrs. Neuberger, one company, which objected to appraised values, was successful bidder at five Forest Service sales in 1960, bidding $823,615 for 28 million board feet appraised at $309,630. The regional Forest Service office in Portland said its third appraisal reduction west of the Cascades since the market high of September, 1959, was effective Jan. 27. In pine country east of the Cascades, a Feb. 1 reduction was the fourth in 1960-61, the announcement said. W. H. Lund, assistant regional forester, said appraised prices follow the market trend but do not fluctuate as widely. He said bid prices try to anticipate the market at time of expected harvest which results in offers above the appraisal. In 1960, Lund said, 3,000 million board feet were sold at 122 per cent of the appraised price.
