Senators Break Over State Water Problem

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Northern and Southern senators broke sharply today over the state water program.

Ten Northern members of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Water Resources submitted a report to the upper house in which they recommended the legislature should review and control the spending of $1.73 billion in bonds which will finance water development.

Three members of the same committee, all from Southern California, issued a minority report in which they said legislative control over expenditures "could lead to some of the most harmful logging ever seen."

The majority and minority committee reports pointed up the fact that the decade-long disagreement between North and South over a water program is far from over, at least in the Senate.

Southerners, basically, are ready to proceed with the program as it. Voters last November approved the bond issue and the state already has signed a contract with the principal Southern water user, the Metropolitan Water District, promising to deliver in the years to come up to 1.5 million acre-feet of Northern water to the Southland.

But Northerners, in a majority in the Senate, obviously want some changes made. In addition to reviewing and controlling the expenditure of bond money, the Northern senators are afraid that their water rights are not fully protected, that conceivably San Joaquin Valley or Delta users could wind up in a position of having to buy their own water back from MWD.

One small but influential bloc of Northern and Central senators contends that under the existing water program the cost to the agricultural user will be too high. And still another group in the Senate insists that the federal government should be called in to help build the project, particularly the high level dam on the Feather River above Orville, the key unit of the statewide project.

The sharp split between the North and South was evident last Friday when the fact finding committee headed by Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Westpoint, held a hearing on the state-MWD contract. Sen. George Miller, Jr., D-Martimez, said the MWD "holds all the cards" in water development by virtue of its contract with the state. The state-MWD contract was signed before the election but will not take effect until 90 days after the present session of the legislature ends in mid-June.

More fireworks are expected Tuesday when the Teale committee goes back into session to resume its review of the water program. Signing the majority report of the fact finding committee were Northern Senators Teale, Miller, Carl L. Christensen, James A. Cobey, Richard J. Dolwig, Hugh P. Donnelly, Ed C. Johnson, Edwin J. Regan, Waverly Jack Slatery and J. Howard Williams, all representing districts north of the Tehachapies.

Joining in a minority report were Senators Hugo Fisher, San Diego; Stanford C. Shaw, San Bernardino County and John A. Murdy, Jr., Orange County.

Agreement Is Reached On Drainage Problems

WEED — Weed Mayor J. I. (Jack) Kersey was informed last week that county officials and local men have come to agreement over solution to drainage problems involving the new Bel-Aire subdivision and the southern section of the city.

Jackson stated that any water overflowing from the subdivision area into the easterly city area will become Belcastro's responsibility. He also said the county officials asked Belcastro for immediate measures to control runoff.

Jackson said that the county plans to start installing a large drainage pipe from the edge of the subdivision down College Avenue and Walnut Street to where adequate drainage facilities exist to carry runoff waters to Boles Creek. The work will begin immediately if weather permits, said Jackson.

Recent and unusually heavy rainfalls and inadequate drainage facilities have created the drainage problem. Land leveling operations and reduced percolation area due to space taken up by new homes have further aggravated the drainage problem and sent extraordinary flow down College Avenue and Walnut and Oregon streets, flooding yards, washing out streets and walks and dumping debris, mud and gravel in yards.

This action identifies the chamber as an interested party in all proceedings in the Southern Pacific bid to merge with WP. The chamber has the privilege of taking a formal stand at a later date.

Sam Burton, superintendent of Shasta Division of Southern Pacific at Dunsmuir, told chamber members that railroad mergers are now becoming a national pattern and that Southern Pacific had taken the initial action on the proposed merger with Western Pacific. Santa Fe's bid came as a defensive action, he stated.

He reminded those present of the importance of a major railroad to all communities in the Sacramento Valley. He pointed out that Southern Pacific is a heavy taxpayer in Siskiyou County, has a substantial payroll in Dunsmuir and that over 50 SP families make their homes in Mount Shasta. He said that Southern Pacific competes with many forms of transportation. He could envision no gain to Siskiyou County communities currently being served by SP to have another major rail line competing for rail traffic over another route.

In a response to an inquiry by Bob Rogers, Burton promised to inquire into Southern Pacific Land Company policies to see if home-site leases are available.

In other business the chamber passed a resolution asking for state consideration of a 20-section state park site just north of Castle Lake. It was felt that the need of a state park in Siskiyou County is so imperative that action be encouraged on all levels of government as rapidly as possible. The proposal is being considered by the county planning commission and board of supervisors.

Orr Apperson asked that a resolution on the matter be sent to Senator Randolph Collier, Pauline Davis and the Department of Parks and Beaches. He said the boundaries of the proposed state park had been revised to include only those areas suitable for public recreation.

Bob Rogers, Orr Apperson and Ray Torrey were appointed a committee to work with the city in developing a campsite plan. City councilman Gino Marconi displayed the city's master plan for campsite development in the area known as "Steel Bridge" and plans for the civic beautification planned at the city entrances. Both projects will require "total community effort," Marconi said.

Horace Greeley was born in the New Hampshire village of Amherst, which is located on Beaver Brook. The Indians called it Quohquinnassakessanahng.

Board Votes Inclusion
ALTURAS — The Modoc County Board of Supervisors voted this week to include the Hackamore-Lookout Road in the county's federal-aid-to-secondary-roads program.
This has been a proposal that has found strong supporters and opponents. Public feeling ran so high that the board was forced to meet in the courtroom of the county courthouse instead of the supervisors' room and then lines of spectators extended into the halls.
Most opposition came from residents of Canby and Alluras who claimed that the proposed road would divert tourists away from every town in Modoc County. Many Alturas residents are alarmed at the number of businesses that have closed here recently and express concern over the economic future of Alturas.
Supporters of the plan contend that the road would provide a much-needed, all-weather farm-to-market road for Lookout area farmers. They also argue that in the future the road will be taken into the state highway system and might become State Route Alternate 89 East.
The controversial Hackamore-Lookout Road will branch off State Highway 139, 17 miles north of Canby, and will connect to U.S. Highway 299 near Bieber in Lassen County.
Construction is not slated to begin on the road before 1963 or 1964.

Driver Faces Drunk Charges
DUNSMUIR — Monte Joe Anderson, 24, Mount Shasta, has been charged with drunken driving following an automobile accident at the northern access to Highway 99 in Dunsmuir.
Anderson pleaded not guilty in Dunsmuir Justice Court Thursday. The northbound car he was driving ripped out a section of freeway fencing opposite Thom Chevrolet and overturned Wednesday afternoon. The trial date is pending. No injuries were reported but the late model car Anderson was driving suffered major damage.
Florence I. Stacey, 70, of White Rock, B.C., suffered moderate injuries in an accident at the same spot Tuesday afternoon.
She was a passenger in a northbound car driven by her husband, Newton L. Stacey.
The Stacey car was involved in a collision with a car driven by Robert Louis Randal, 37, Dunsmuir, who was entering Highway 99 via the northbound access road.
Both accidents are still under investigation by the California Highway Patrol.

CC Enters Rail Case
MOUNT SHASTA — The Mount Shasta Chamber of Commerce passed a motion at its luncheon meeting on Thursday authorizing the secretary to file a petition of intervention with the Interstate Commerce Commission on Southern Pacific's proposal to assume control of Western Pacific railroad.
This action identifies the chamber as an interested party in all proceedings in the Southern Pacific bid to merge with WP. The chamber has the privilege of taking a formal stand at a later date.

Dorris City Council To Call Bids On Patrol Car; Will Fence 'Sump'

DORRIS — The Dorris City Council found several money requests on the agenda at the monthly meeting.

After a report from Police Chief Byard Kelly on the condition of the city patrol car the council decided to call for bids for a 1960 or '61 fully-equipped patrol car. The bids will be opened at the next meeting, March 6, at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Chief Kelly was instructed to fence in the sump in the south end of town and the water tank.

Mayor Bob Edgar reported to the board that George Tebbe, Yreka city attorney, is willing to attend council meeting when his assistance is needed. The retainer fee would be set at $75. This will be resolved at the budget meeting, councilmen said.

City Clerk Virginia Hamilton read a letter of resignation to become effective immediately from Councilman Norman Meek. The council voted acceptance of the resignation.
Mrs. Flora Lee Reeves asked the council if it would be proper for the council to vote a resolution to go to the county board of supervisors requesting a deputy sheriff be placed in the Mount Hebron-Macdoel area. She stated that the lower end of Butte Valley has no police protection.

The board said that it would not be proper but Councilman Bob Carnini suggested that if a few of the residents of that area would come forth and appeal for the Dorris council's help, it would be given.

The council instructed the city clerk to write a strong letter of protest to the state Division of Highways regarding the sign at the Weed junction of Highways 97 and 99. The sign directs traffic to Portland on 99 but only directs traffic to Klamath Falls on 97.

Board members feel that the division of highways is trying to direct traffic to use Highway 99 and thus is doing a disservice to towns on Route 97.
Mrs. Hamilton asked that $3,000 be transferred from the water fund to the general fund.
The clerk was instructed to write a letter to the League of California Cities protesting Bill AB127. The bill has to do with controlling governmental meetings of cities.
The council passed a resolution giving the fire chief or authorized persons of Dorris Volunteer Fire Department authority to hire men at the scene of fires as needed and giving the men hired insurance compensation coverage for that job only.
Building permits were approved as follows:
Marshall Hamilton, $8,000 for a punice brick building with concrete sidewalks and floors, composition roofing; Mrs. Carlos Rushing, $150 for garage, concrete foundation and floor; Edwin McElvain, $75 for storage and wood house; Earl K. Harmon $400 for drive-in hamburger stand, and Fred Lane, $100 change to a structure.

IT means better living for you
Once a manufacturer was looking for a better product. "I want to be sure that people NEED IT," he said. So he asked a lot of them about IT. The answers told him how to MAKE IT. Finally he GOT IT. But it cost an awful lot to make. To sell it for less, he'd have to make IT by the million. Which meant IT had to be sold by the million, too.
So he let his advertising man SEE IT. Ads began to SHOW IT to millions who might LIKE IT enough to BUY IT. And they did. For IT was indeed a product that they needed, at a price they could afford to pay.
Then a big sign, MORE HELP WANTED appeared on the factory door. Everybody was happy, for now they had IT made.
