Measure Would Enlarge Oregon Aid To Schools

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR. SALEM (AP)—Legislation to increase state aid to local school districts to 50 per cent by 1965 was introduced in the Oregon Legislature today by the Senate Education Committee.

The state now pays about 38 per cent of school costs. The bill would boost this to 42 per cent next year, and reach the 50 per cent level in four years.

The bill, prepared by the Legislative Interim Committee on Education, also would provide for a new distribution formula based on 90 per cent flat grants and 10 per cent equalization. The equalization would be achieved within counties.

The bill is expected to spark hot debates. Sen. Carl Francis, R-Dayton, introduced a bill to have the state pay low-income people who suffer catastrophic illness, or doctor and hospital bills which are far too high for them to afford.

The aid would be given by the State Public Welfare Commission to persons whose property is valued at less than $7,500 and who own less than 160 acres. The measure was introduced in the legislature by Representative Carrol Howe. Sisemore pointed out that the bill would avoid the use of protested warrants for the county. The accumulated funds would cover expenditures from the tax-supported budgets for the period from July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year, until taxes begin to come in about Nov. 15.

The measure was adopted unanimously by the board. A
