

Rangers Play At Fox Benefit

Pea Wee Siddham and his Butte Valley Rangers will furnish western-style music during one of six portions of a dance to benefit Mrs. Helen Fox at the Klamath Auditorium Friday evening. Siddham's band will appear from 10:20 until 11 p.m. Other orchestras and combos from the Basin will perform, too, offering styles ranging from jazz and sweet-style to rock 'n' roll. Siddham's personnel includes Dick Fenwick, drums; Bob Abney, lead guitar; Sally Abney, guitar and vocals; and Johnny Holloway, bass. Siddham is a steel guitarist. His is the only organized western band in the Basin. The group furnishes music each Saturday night for dances at Dorris. Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m. The dance is sponsored by the musicians' local union. Proceeds will help cover expenses incurred by Mrs. Fox during a year's illness. She is the wife of a local musician.

GOP To Pick State Chairman

SALEM (AP) — The nominating committee for a new Republican state chairman will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the home of Wayne Giesy in Corvallis. The committee in addition to Chairman Giesy includes Foster Anderson, Eugene; Mrs. Parker Giesy, Independence; Irving Hart, Moro; and Mrs. W. E. Haggenstein, Portland. A replacement is being sought for Peter Gunnar, Salem attorney, who resigned recently as GOP state chairman.

Relationship Is A Mockery

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: From the beginning of our marriage I was the aggressor in our love-making. I'm a few years older than my husband. He has assured me it made no difference then and that it doesn't now. For the past several years I have felt that he should seek me out once in awhile. I suggested this to him about a year ago and he said he'd try. Last September he followed my suggestion but I was tired. He became furious and said "I won't bother you again." He has kept his word. He is good to me and I am considerate of him, also. Our life is pleasant in every other way, but I miss this part of marriage. Shall I say something to him or shall I let well enough alone?—SILENT

Dear Silent: What do you mean "leave well enough alone?" This sounds sick—not well. The brother-sister relationship you describe is a mockery. Marriage is more than just living in a house together and sharing meals. Intimate physical contact is one of the pleasures and privileges of married life. By all means talk to him and get this badly derailed situation back on the track. Since you cast yourself in the role of the aggressor early, don't expect him to switch just like that.

Dear Ann Landers: Your Code

For Gum Chevers was great, I wish you'd draw up something similar for "Dropper-Inners." The type I'm talking about never bothers to visit the lonely or the convalescent. They always pick the busiest people they know. It's odd, but the individuals I would really love to see never drop in unexpectedly — just the bores. Will you say something specific on this subject?—TON STANT WEADER
Dear "Weader": I've said plenty on this subject and I intend to say more from time to time. It's one of my personal crusades. It may surprise you to learn that not all people feel as we do. Whenever I print a word knocking Dropper-Inners I get a raft of bitter blasts, specially from small towns. They scream "We feel honored when people drop in." I say the "honor" is all theirs.

Dear Ann Landers: Since we moved to this city my husband has learned that a cousin he hasn't seen in years is a widow here and she'd like us to call on her. My husband wants to go but I am against it. She's about 38 and we are in our middle 40s. He says she was very attractive in her younger days but he hasn't seen her in 18 years and has no idea what she looks like now. I say why borrow trouble. The arguments are getting more frequent and more bitter. He agreed to abide by whatever you said if I would write. I agreed also. What's the advice?—STUBBORN CANADIAN

Dear Stubbhorn: The woman is probably a perfectly harmless widow with no ulterior motives. If she had wanted to contact your husband without your knowledge she could have done so. The battling has given zing to a situation which ordinarily would have had no special excitement. Grow up and invite the woman to your home.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lodges Outline Details Of Pilgrimage Contest

Boys and girls who will enter the competition in the 1961 United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth must be sophomores or juniors in high school to be eligible for the contest. Candidates must also not have passed their 18th birthday by Aug. 1 of the year they compete.

The pilgrimage is sponsored by Lake and Klamath County Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges.

Selection of delegates is now under way in high schools of both Klamath and Lake counties to determine this year's candidates. Students in both public and private high schools may enter and should contact the principal of the school they attend at once.

The winners from all parts of the United States will get an expense-paid trip to New York by way of historic points in Canada. They will spend one week observing procedure at the United Nations, then will visit Philadelphia, Gettysburg, Washington, D.C., and Congress in session.

The return trip will be by way of the Middle West with stops at Mt. Rushmore, the Bad Lands, Yellowstone Park and other points of interest.

Over 5,000 students have made the pilgrimage since the plan was adopted by the cooperating lodges.

More information will be given at a ham and pancake supper sponsored by Klamath Falls Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. The date will be announced.

Beer Bottle Causes Suit

An exploding beer bottle may cost the Lucky Lager Brewing Co. almost $8,000 if a lawsuit filed by a Klamath Falls bartender is successful.

Loren J. Allen, 2111 Holabird Avenue, is suing the brewing company for $7,500 general damages and $415.00 special damages as a result of injuries he suffered when a beer bottle exploded in his hand while he was opening it.

Allen was tending bar Dec. 18 in the Squirrel Cage Tavern, when a bottle blew up, causing a two-inch laceration in the skin between his thumb and forefinger and severing an artery. Allen alleges that he lost the use of his right hand for six weeks and still has pains in the hand.

John B. Thomas is Allen's attorney.

Copter Demonstration Planned At Field Sunday

One of the latest innovations in helicopters has a cruising speed of 100 miles per hour, will climb 900 feet per minute and the machine cannot be stalled or spun.

The new Umbaugh 18 is creating nationwide interest because of its numerous sensational features.

The helicopter, to be exhibited at Kingsley Field Sunday, Feb. 25, at 4:30 p.m., has a push button vertical takeoff, is capable also of vertical landing, has a top speed of 126 miles per hour, 3.5 hours cruising range, is all-metal construction, carries a 600 pound useful load, will climb 900 feet per minute, has a 100 H.P. Lycoming engine, has a service ceiling of 15,000 feet and there is no danger of engine failure, say demonstrators.

The machine costs less than $10,000, considerably less than many others in use. Operating costs are reported to be on a par with the average automobile.

The public is invited to the demonstration. There is no charge.
