

Bids Received For County Fuel, Food And Laundry

Bids were received Friday in county court for food and laundry services for jail prisoners and for gasoline and diesel and fuel oils.

Mrs. J. M. Britton, wife of Sheriff Murray (Red) Britton, submitted the lone bid for jail food. Her bid was 55 cents a meal. Mrs. Britton attributed a five-cent per meal increase in her bid this year to "the higher cost of food." She has supplied jail food for several years.

Superior - Troy Laundry once again was the lone bidder on the contract for prisoner's laundry. The bid included a wide range of items and services.

Gas and oil bids were less than in 1960. Shell Oil Company submitted the apparent low bid of 19.49 cents a gallon for gasoline, compared with last year's low of 21.05 cents (also by Shell). Six other bids ranging up to 22.9 cents a gallon were received.

The apparent low bid on diesel oil was made by Richfield Oil Corporation - 11.51 cents a gallon. The low bid last year, by the Texas Company, was 13.32 cents a gallon.

Fuel oil bids were also lower this year. Shell Oil Company submitted the apparent low bid of 12.3 cents a gallon, compared to last year's low of 14.25 cents a gallon by Western Oil and Burner Company and Peyton and Company.

Savings to the county as a result of lower gas and oil prices would amount to approximately $6,600. The county court is expected to act on the bids next Wednesday.

Josephine County Starts Distribution Of Surplus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Oregon State Welfare Commission Friday encouraged counties to get into the surplus food distribution program, but so far, only Josephine County has started.

In Grants Pass Friday, the Josephine County Court said it would make available to some 1,500 welfare recipients and 1,500 low-income families from $4 to $5 worth of federal surplus food, starting April 1.

The Welfare Commission adopted a resolution at its meeting at Portland to make available to the counties any future funds for distribution of surplus government food to the needy.

This, said a commissioner, will assure the counties that they will receive their share of any future money available from the state, regardless of whether or not they have their food programs in effect.

Raymond A. Lathrop, a commission member who is also a Josephine County judge, said the initial food distribution will be about 32 pounds per person, and will average about 16 pounds of food a month after that.

This includes cornmeal, all-purpose flour, dry milk, rice, butter, dried eggs, pork and gravy, pea beans and peanut butter, Lathrop said.

Humble Oil Ends Office

LAKEVIEW - Humble Oil and Refining Company has closed down its offices here.

In a statement issued by Frank Pennington, remaining representative of the company here, future company plans for the area were left in an indefinite state.

The release said, "Humble Oil and Refining Company has announced the closing of the local office and all matters for Oregon will be handled in the Eugene office.

"The company is in the process of evaluating all of the information on Lake County, and will, in the very near future, make a decision as to further exploration or releasing of all holdings in Lake and Modoc counties."

Firemen Combat Spilled Chemical

Klamath Falls firemen were forced to don gas masks as the result of a jug of formaldehyde being broken in the basement of Waggoner's Drugstore at Ninth and Main Saturday afternoon.

The firemen used smoke ejectors to clear fumes from the basement and then mopped up the chemical.

Man Confesses Killing Medford Mother, Son

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP)—Le Roy Sanford McGahuey Saturday signed a statement admitting the brutal slaying of his girl friend and her 2-year-old son, Dist. Atty. Allen Holmes told a news conference here.

Holmes said that McGahuey, 43, admitted killing Mrs. Loris Holt, 32, in her Central Point, Ore., apartment the morning of Feb. 13 by beating her on the head with a hammer, strangling her, stabbing her twice in the chest with a knife and then shooting a bullet into her head. Holmes said that McGahuey told him he killed the little boy, Rod Cameron Holt, with one blow on the head with a claw hammer.

McGahuey could not or would not give a reason for slaying Mrs. Holt, Holmes said. The district attorney quoted the accused man as saying that he killed the boy because "I was concerned about the future welfare of the child with the mother dead."

Holmes said that McGahuey gave this account of events after the double murder. McGahuey put Mrs. Holt's body in a closet, put the child's body in an apple box in the closet and covered both with blankets.

The slayings were not discovered until Feb. 22. But before they were discovered, McGahuey returned to the scene of the crime to remove any evidence that might link him to it. He broke in the front door, barricaded the door with furniture and then left through a window after cutting the screen.

McGahuey then caught a freight train to California. He returned, via freight, two days ago and went to a Medford restaurant. There he was seen by Mrs. Holt's estranged husband, Charles T. Holt. Holt, who only a few hours earlier had been released by police after questioning about the case, notified authorities and McGahuey was picked up and questioned. He has been held since on a check charge.

Holmes said that McGahuey made an oral confession to jailer Paul Hanlin and later made another statement which was transcribed and signed.

Dead Indian Road Opened

Dead Indian Road has been cleared of ice and snow and is open for travel, Jack Kalmoski, county engineer, said Friday.

County Road Department snowplows operated on the road during the week to make it passable. The road leads from Klamath Falls to Lake of the Woods and east to Ashland.

Kalmoski said the road would be kept open, barring serious storms and heavy snowfalls.

Posse To Meet

Members of the Klamath County Sheriff's Posse will meet Tuesday, Feb. 28, at the county courthouse at 7:30 p.m. and all those members who will ride in the Reno parade are urged especially to be present.

The posse has been invited to perform in special events there March 11. The group will have a practice drill Sunday.
