U.S. Plans Buildup Of Regular Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today the Defense Department has recommended an increase in conventional weapons strength.

The President also told a news conference that the administration has reached no decision on whether there should be any stepup in nuclear weapons capability.

As to the Pentagon recommendation for an increase in conventional weapons power, Kennedy said he will take about two weeks before making any judgment on it.

At the start of the conference, Kennedy made these announcements before opening the session to questions:

1. For the first time since last July, there was no net outflow of gold from the United States this week.

2. West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will visit Washington April 12-13 at Kennedy's invitation.

3. The President announced he is urging Congress to restore to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower the rank of five-star general.

4. Kennedy said he had today signed an executive order creating a Peace Corps of Young Americans who will serve abroad in providing aid to underdeveloped nations.

oped nations. The corps will operate at first on a pilot basis, Kennedy said, but he also is asking Congress to enact legislation which would make the corps a permanent operation.

In response to questions, Kennedy said he shortly hopes to issue an executive order designed to "strengthen employment opportunities in and out of government."

He made that announcement when asked how he feels about a recommendation by the Civil Rights Commission that federal funds be withheld from public colleges and universities that discriminate on grounds of race, religion or national origin.

Kennedy said the new administration's efforts in the civil rights field will be concentrated first in the field of employment. He indicated action may be taken later in the areas of education and housing.

This fifth Kennedy news conference drew 398 newsmen. The President—wearing a dark gray suit, white shirt and navy blue tie—was calmly matter-of-factly throughout the entire 30-minute session.

The questions and answers ranged over these additional areas:

WILLIAMS — Kennedy said in his opinion Asst. Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams has "done very well" on his current tour of African nations.

"I am wholly satisfied with his mission," Kennedy said.

A remark by Williams that he favors "Africa for Africans" has touched off criticism in allied capitals and in this country.

Williams has said he was talking of all Africans, whatever their race.

Alluding to that, Kennedy said

Williams "made it clear that he was talking of all those who felt that they were Africans whatever their color might be, whatever their race might be. I do not know who else Africa should be for."

EDUCATION — Kennedy said the Constitution clearly prohibits distribution of federal aid for education to private and parochial schools, that Supreme Court decisions have made this very clear. He made that remark when asked why his administration's program does not provide for any aid to such schools.

BUDGET — Kennedy indicated that the still-to-be-made decisions regarding national defense spending will determine whether the budget can be balanced for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He declined to speculate when asked whether the budget might show a deficit of about $1 1/2 billion. The budget Kennedy inherited from the Eisenhower administration for the fiscal year predicted a surplus.

ECONOMY — Kennedy asserted it would be premature to make a judgment "that our economy is on the rise" and that, therefore, there no longer is any need for administration efforts to end what he calls the months-old recession.

Bloody Oran Riots Leave Three Dead

ORAN, Algeria (UPI)—Police ordered an end today to a Moslem work stoppage that sparked rioting in which two European workers were burned alive.

The work stoppage, called as a sign of mourning for the death of King Mohammed V of Morocco, touched off violence which caused the deaths of three Europeans and injuries to three persons, including a 5-year-old child.

A 10 o'clock curfew was enforced in the Moslem sections of Oran Tuesday night and police ordered all Moslem workers to return to work today. All shops and other businesses were told to reopen.

The word to stop work had been spread through Moslem communities in all cities in Algeria but had little effect except in Oran and Tlemcen, which are close to the Moroccan border.

Several hundred Moslem mourners gathered in a street in the Moslem section Tuesday, shouting at shopkeepers who had not closed their stores to do so. The clamor became more violent and the mob yelled its support for Algerian Moslem rebel leader Ferhat Abbas.

At this point, a car with three Europeans drove by. The demonstrators surged toward the vehicle and overturned it. They poured gasoline on the automobile and set it on fire. Then the crowd prevented the persons inside from opening a door to escape.

Police arrived in time to rescue one of the occupants, a 65-year-old baker. He was badly burned but alive. The baker's 55-year-old wife and another woman died inside the car.

A 5-year-old European child being driven to school was injured when the car skirted the demonstration and was stoned.

Bloodmobile To Visit Klamath Falls March 8

Although its founders could not envisage the advance in medical science which the years have brought, the volunteer blood donor program which engages a healthy percentage of the Red Cross efforts today would probably have been unanimously approved by the local residents who launched the chapter in 1917 in Klamath Falls.

Through regular visits of the bloodmobile to this community, all local needs for whole blood are supplied hospital patients. Many do not realize that over 100 pints of blood are used locally each month, and our local supply is dependent on successful recruitment of donors every three months," Al Nyback, chairman, states.

"On March 7 the bloodmobile will be at the Merrill Community Hall from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m. and on Wednesday, March 8, it will operate at the Elks Lodge from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 o'clock to 8 p.m. We will need a minimum of 400 pints in these operations. Although replacement of blood used is not a mandatory responsibility of recipients, families and friends of those who have needed and received the blood during the past three months are urged to donate blood in order that a supply may be available for others who will need it in the next three months.

"Because there is no charge to the patient for blood given through the Red Cross, local residents pay only service and administration fees, thus keeping the lifesaving qualities of whole blood available to all and not the privilege of the wealthy patient.

"Any healthy person between the age of 18 and 59, weighing over 110 pounds can be a donor. I urge all who can be donors to take an hour of time and come to the bloodmobile in Klamath County next week," Nyback concluded.

Appointments may be made by phoning the Red Cross office, TU 4-4125.

Couple Solves All Problems

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The Dallas News reported today a suburban couple solved a problem by turning to a marriage counselor for advice.

The couple quietly got a divorce. The man got custody of the children.

And married the marriage counselor.

AL NYBACK, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, is shown here with a glass of blood. He is the one who will be at the Merrill Community Hall from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m. and on Wednesday, March 8, it will operate at the Elks Lodge from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 o'clock to 8 p.m. We will need a minimum of 400 pints in these operations.
