What Can You Get From a—?

By Ragna Eskil

Players sit in a circle. The leader starts by asking, "What can you get from a tree?" The players may answer "wood," "masts," "furniture," "houses," "boats," and so on until everybody runs out of answers. Each player may mention only one thing at a time. If one person can't answer, the next one does. There must be no waiting between answers. The next question might be, "What do we get from cotton?" Or from iron? Or steel? Or apples? The game shouldn't last more than 15 or 20 minutes and is good to play before refreshments.
