POTATOES

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI-FSMNS) — Potatoes:

Russets Klamath U.S 1A 2-inch minimum 5.00; 6-14 oz minimum 5.75.

LOS ANGELES (UPI-FSMNS) —No Oregon potatoes sales.

A NUMBER of public appearances are planned for the present three girl candidates competing for 1961 Dairy Princess of the Klamath Region. Deadline for filing is March 17 at the Klamath County Farm Bureau Office. Any high school girl senior who will graduate this year and is not older than 25 years may compete. The winner will be named by a panel of judges on personality, ability to speak in public, dairy knowledge and appearance. The winner here will go into state competition in June. Mrs. T. J. Albert, Lorella, is in charge of the contest. Contestants, left to right, are Kay Tofell, Bonanza; Pat Nelson, Bonanza, and Sharon Hobson, Merrill. All three will be 17 during the summer.

Jacobs Named Manager Of Park-Shop Effort

Rudy Jacobs, formerly a businessman in Klamath Falls, was appointed manager Monday of the Klamath Falls merchants' Park and Shop Corporation.

"We're tickled to death to have secured his services," said Bob Beach, merchants association president.

Jacobs will be able to devote full time to getting the park and shop system into operation by the April 1 deadline and to smoothing out any operating difficulties, said Beach.

Jacobs sold his business, Rudy's Men's Shop at the corner of Sixth and Main streets, last year. He was last year's merchants association president and was instrumental in formation of a park and shop corporation in Klamath Falls.

One of his main responsibilities will be to help blanket the entire downtown business core with park and shop parking lots.

Ideally, say the merchants, each block between about Fourth and Eleventh streets and Pine Street and Klamath Avenue should have plenty of park and shop space.

They are asking property owners to consider bringing their lots into the system and merchants and the public to buy stock in the corporation. Response has been enthusiastic so far, said Beach.

The system works this way:

The shopper drives into a lot and receives a ticket from the attendant, then hands the ticket to the clerk in the participating store when a purchase is made.

The clerk validates the ticket and parking thus is free to the patron. The merchant pays the corporation for the parking time.

Corporation members plan to

Police Mull Burglary

City police investigated a burglary Sunday in between traffic accidents.

Burglars broke a skylight window in the National Guard Armory, 2501 Shasta Way, Sunday morning and stole $25 to $30 from some vending machines.

Police said a burglar entered the building through the skylight, crawled along some steam pipes and shinnied down another pipe into the building's assembly area. The burglar then apparently opened a kitchen window to allow entry by an accomplice.

The thieves obtained a hatchet, a claw hammer, a chisel and four screwdrivers from a supply room. They attacked four vending machines with the tools and took some cash from the coin boxes. They also ate two bags of peanuts.

One of the thieves apparently cut his hand on the skylight as blood was discovered at the scene. One of the suspects was said to have been wearing a fuzzy red wool jacket.

Other police reports:

A. F. Ligman, 139 Jefferson Street, said the battery was stolen from his car while it was parked in front of his house.

Alfred Johnson, 31 Main Street, reported that he lost his wallet which contained personal identification and an unknown amount of currency.

Youth Arrested

A 17-year-old youth was arrested Saturday night at a high school dance and charged with being drunk in public. He was scheduled to appear in juvenile court Monday.

City police arrested the youth in the high school cafeteria after reports that he had been drinking. He was jailed over the weekend and questioned Monday morning about his source of alcohol.

Ice Causes Accidents

City streets were turned into sheets of ice in some spots Sunday after a heavy snowfall. At least four traffic accidents resulted.

A car driven by Loyce Mitchell, 47, 1738 Oak Street, skidded 96 feet Sunday morning, struck another car and then slid 20 feet farther. Mitchell told city police that he jammed on his brakes to avoid another car. The accident occurred on East Main Street near Reclamation Street.

The parked car that was damaged was owned by Betty S. Mitchell of Chiloquin. Her car was knocked 21 feet up over the curb. The street was described by police as "glare ice."

Hubert Royce Owens, 50, 2337 Garden Street, was cited for backing against traffic Sunday afternoon after he backed up and collided with a car driven by Raymond R. Howard, 39, 465 Owens Street. The cars collided at Fourth and Pine streets. Howard's right front door was damaged.

Two cars went out of control on icy streets early Sunday morning but their drivers escaped injury. A car driven by Patricia M. Fenimore, 25, 3314 Alva Street, hit an icy spot on the South Sixth Street overpass, skidded over the curb, struck a guard rail and veered back into the street.

A car driven by Estella I. Bobbitt, 45, 206 Michigan Street, slid on icy pavement near Main Street and Payne Alley. Mrs. Bobbitt's car hit a fire hydrant and a fence. She was cited for not having a driver's license.

Vandals Strike KUHS BB Fans

It was an especially dismal weekend for four Klamath Union High School basketball fans. While the four were watching the Pelicans lose to Medford, vandals were tampering with their cars.

John Hyden, 2640 Bisbee Street, said someone kicked in his hubcaps while he was at the game. His car was parked near the high school.

Windows were broken out of cars owned by Donald Ross, 1879 Del Moro Street, and Toby Schuh, 4039 Shasta Way, while both were at the game.

Andrea Reeder, 1105 Pacific Terrace, reported that vandals had rolled her car into a yard at 1176 Crescent Street, uprooting some flowers and shrubs.

The incidents were being investigated by city police Monday.

Meet Scheduled

Peterson Patrons Association will meet at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, March 7, at the school for an interesting and informative talk by Mildred Lowden, psychiatric social worker of the Klamath County Health Department.

Rain, Snow Cover State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain fell over Western Oregon today and skies elsewhere were generally cloudy in the wake of a rousing storm that swept in from the ocean Sunday.

Along the coast the heaviest blow was reported at Newport, where gusts of 83 miles an hour broke store windows, tangled power lines, and ripped shingles from roofs.

The wind toppled trees from Portland to Salem, and caused widespread power failures.

Snow fell heavily in both the Coast and Cascade ranges and the wind whipped it into a blizzard. Some 75 skiers at Timberline Lodge, who had left their cars at Government Camp, were ferried to the lower level by snow tractor. Another 50 or 60 skiers were snowed in with their cars at the lodge and were still there this morning.

Four Grants Pass high school students were rescued early today from a snowed-in mountain road where they had spent the night, north of Grants Pass.

The highway from Timberline Lodge to Government Camp was snowed shut and in addition some trees were down across it. Snow still was falling there this morning, but not heavily.

Although winds had subsided, the fishing boat Bering Sea rode outside Coos Bay today, waiting for rough water over the bar to subside so it could enter. It was in no difficulty.

The storm that raked the state Sunday had moved into Montana today, the Weather Bureau reported.

In Sunday's blow, store window breakage was reported at Newport, Salem and Lebanon. Felled trees struck houses in many cities but there were no reports of injuries. A falling elm brushed the state Supreme Court Building at Salem.

Among those upset by the many power failures were the municipal elevator operator and one passenger at Oregon City. They were stalled midway for two hours.

At a drive-in theater south of Milwaukie, the wind blew down the screen.

Rainfall totals in the 24 hours at 4:30 a.m. today included 1.35 inches at Eugene, 1.29 at Newport, 1.20 at Salem, .35 at Medford, but only .04 at Baker and .02 at Pendleton.

6 Injured In Accidents On Ice-Slick Highways

Six people were taken to Klamath Valley Hospital Sunday after traffic accidents on ice-slicked Klamath County highways.

A 16-year-old Bonanza girl, her mother and two Lakeview youths were injured in a two-car crash near Olene on the Lakeview Highway shortly after noon Sunday. Eunice Bernadette Hunt, 16, the driver of one car, suffered a factured knee, lacerations and bruises. Her mother, Martha Clara Hunt, 60, suffered a fractured left leg and arm and multiple contusions and abrasions. She was reported in "fair" condition Monday morning.

The second car was driven by Douglas Anson Dameron, 16, Lakeview. Charles Grindestaff, 17, also of Lakeview, was an injured passenger. Both youths were listed as "satisfactory" Monday morning with cuts and bruises. Two other passengers in Dameron's car were uninjured.

State police said Miss Hunt was westbound on the highway when her car went into a slide as she came down a hill. The car slid sideways and hit the Dameron car in the left side. The cars went into ditches on opposite sides of the road. Both cars were towed from the scene.

A Portland man and his wife were injured Sunday noon when their car went out of control and smashed into a tree. Robert Lee Rennick of Portland and his wife, Jean, 31, were treated for facial cuts and bruises and released from Klamath Valley Hospital. Two other passengers were uninjured.

State police said the Rennick car was southbound just south of the Kirk Junction on Highway 97, when it skidded on the ice. The car veered back and forth on the highway and apparently grazed the rear end of a "semi" truck driven by Marvin Otis Thornton of Madras. Rennick's car then went off the road and hit a tree headon. The car was heavily damaged and was towed away.

A minor collision occurred Sunday morning between two cars at the intersection of South Sixth and Madison streets. Cars driven by Erie Maxine Kramer, 19, 2121½ Radcliffe Street, and Claude J. Long, 35, 7716 Cannon Street, collided.

According to state police, the Kramer car was attempting to make a left turn and Long had pulled out to pass. Both cars received minor damage. No one was injured.

A RECEPTION for members of the joint legislative Ways and Means Committee and other state officials who toured Oregon Technical Institute's facilities Saturday was offered Saturday evening in the Pelican Cafe by the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce. These men are, from left, Dr. John R. Richards, state System of Higher Education chancellor; Ed Geary, former Klamath County legislative representative; Bob Kent, chamber president, and J. Vern Owens, chairman of the chamber's Education Committee.

Architect Explains Building Plan For OTI To Legislative Committee

David Pugh, registered architect of the Skidmore, Owings and Merrill architectural firm of Portland, explained plans for the first phase of building on the new Oregon Technical Institute campus to members of the state legislative Joint Ways and Means Committee and other state officials who toured both campuses Saturday.

Pugh presented details of the two main buildings to be constructed on the new site, beginning next fall, probably, if money is appropriated by the state legislature.

That "if" may be settled one way or the other from results of the officials' visit here. They were gathering facts for a study of the state System of Higher Education's request for two million dollars for first - phase construction.

A hearing will be conducted later in Salem. The date has not been set, said Dr. Winston Purvine, OTI director.

The request would cover estimated cost of construction of big classroom and laboratory buildings. The classroom building would contain a library seating 160 students. It would also house a lunch counter.

The space would be converted to classrooms and faculty offices when the final buildings, including separate library and student union facilities, would be built later this decade.

The officials, "asked lots of questions" during their visit, said Dr. Purvine. They were briefed concerning OTI's curricula during the afternoon by the school's department heads and deans.

In the evening, the officials gathered for a reception planned for them by the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce Education Committee in the Pelican Cafe.

They arrived here by train late Friday evening and left again by train early Sunday morning.

They were accompanied by Dr. John R. Richards, state System of Higher Education chancellor.

Members of the committee who attended were Sen. Dan Thiel, Clatsop and Douglas counties; Al Flegel, Douglas County; E. D. Potts, Josephine County; Reps. Allison, Clarence Barton, Coos County; George J. Annala, Hood River; Carlton Fisher, Lane; Stafford Hansell, Umatilla, and Ross Morgan, Multnomah, all committee members.

Carrol Howe and George Flitcraft, representatives from Klamath County; Freeman Holder, director of the state System of Higher Education Department of Finance and Administration; Robert Bauck, management consultant for Holmer's department; Kenneth R. Bragg, state System of Higher Education legislative fiscal officer; H. A. Bork, comptroller, and J. I. Hunderup, assistant to the comptroller.

Court To Report

The public is invited to hear a report concerning overnight campsite development in Klamath County by members of the county court during a dinner meeting of the Klamath County Democratic Club Tuesday evening at Shasta View Community Building, Shasta Way and Madison streets.

A spaghetti dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. by women of the club. Members of the county court expected to be present are Frank Ganong and Ken
