Footbridge

"The building doesn't hurt anything," he said. "I have it for sale and see no reason to do anything with it."

He continued, "If it burned down, there's nothing around it to burn."

Schortgen pointed out the main objection was the fact that the building was open.

Councilman Lyle Kellstrom stated, "The building should be made secure. Sessler should do what Vern says should be done, or the building should be condemned."

The council told Sessler he would have to make the building secure against entry by burns or youngsters. He was given 30 days to do so or condemnation proceedings would be started.

Two structures on lot 7, block 12, in Buena Vista Addition were reported either already torn down, in one case, or an assurance received it would be torn down in the case of another building. The building already torn down was owned by Andrew Ortiz and the one to be razed is owned by Robert Allen.

A neighboring building on Link Street, owned by George Keene, was declared unsafe and abandoned. Schortgen reported he had been unable to locate Keene whose last address was the building at 2321 Link Street.

Councilman Ladd Hoyt moved to proceed with condemnation and give six months for the building to be brought up to code or condemned.

Emil Nelson again appeared on behalf of a building at 1237 Adams Street. Action had been delayed a week pending a report on street drainage activity.

Paul Hamblin, street department superintendent, reported the city had installed 150 feet of storm line on South Sixth Street in 1958 and installed an open drain ditch on Richmond Street. Hamblin wrote in his report it was understood that residents of the area would run small laterals to this ditch to drain their property.

The previous week Nelson had said if something were done about the drainage he would do something about fixing up his property.

Nelson told the council he purchased the lots from the city and moved the two houses into the city in 1946, and he could not see why they were taking action now when the houses were in better condition than they were then.

Kellstrom moved to proceed with the condemnation, and gave Nelson six months to bring the building up to code or have it condemned.

In other action, a special locksmithing ordinance was held up for two weeks to enable members of the Automobile Dealers Association to study it since it governs making of keys for autos.

The question of unsatisfactory four-inch sewer mains came up for discussion. The council authorized construction of a new six-inch line to replace an old line on High Street from Fourth to Fifth streets.

The body also denied ownership of lines serving houses in Dixon Second Addition, stating they had no easements for maintenance of such lines and decided the city had never owned them.

Bids on fire equipment were opened. Two firms submitted complete bids on hoses, nozzles and hydrant equipment while one firm, American Rubber Manufacturing Company of Oakland, submitted incomplete bids on only the hose.

The Oakland firm bid 99 cents per foot for 1 1/2-inch hose and $2.05 per foot on three-inch hose.

American Fire Protection Company of Portland bid $1 per foot on the 1 1/2-inch and $2.50 per foot on the three-inch. They also offered a bid of $1,234 for two nozzles, $197.50 for a smoke ejector, $36 for a dozen hydrant wrenches and $65 for a hydrant gate valve.

Bid of the Munnell and Sherrill Corporation of Portland was $1.06 on the smaller hose and $2.60 a foot on the larger. They bid $53.75 each on the two nozzles, $197.50 on the smoke ejector, $32.80 on the wrenches and $64.50 on the gate valve.

The council referred the bids to the city manager and the fire chief for action.

The bicycle was found alongside a building at 1434 Main Street. It had a black frame, chrome wheels and a black and white seat. The bicycle may be claimed at the police station.

A small, black long-haired puppy was found in the street in front of 2354 South Sixth Street. The friendly female puppy appeared to be part Scotty. She was turned over to Poundmaster Don Libby Tuesday morning and may be claimed at the dog pound.

Other police reports: Sgt. James Powers, 2610 Radcliffe Street, said someone put a dent in the left front door of his car. Damage was estimated at $25.

Jean Poole, 820 East Main Street, reported a car was driving around her house in a suspicious manner.

Couple Warned

A Merrill man and his wife were warned by county juvenile officers Monday after they left their four young children alone in a car parked on Main Street.

A meter maid on duty on Main Street in front of the courthouse saw the children in the car. She waited until the parents returned. The children were all under five years of age. The man said he had a job in Idaho and was leaving "right away." The couple was warned about leaving the children unattended.

Thief Loots Parked Car; Exchange Student Victim

A thief broke into a car parked outside Klamath Union High School Saturday night and stole $730 worth of clothes and other items belong to two high school students, one of whom is Klamath's first foreign student.

Livio Valdemarin, 1428 Pacific Terrace, an exchange student from Italy, and Marilyn Thorne, 1717 Siskiyou Street, told city police that the thief had broken a wing window out of a car and taken the clothes off the back seat. The car was owned by Judy Estgate, 1833 Hawthorne Street.

Valdemarin and Miss Thorne had been in Eugene for three days to a Model United Nations Meeting. They lost all the clothes that they had taken with them.

In addition, Valdemarin lost an expensive German camera and Miss Thorne's contact lenses were stolen.

City police said they would investigate fully.

The caller gave his name and city police and the Herald and News were checking Tuesday morning in an attempt to put an end to the calls. Residents receiving such calls are asked to report them to the police.
