

Klamath Yacht Club Commodore's Ball Is Festive Affair

THE COMMODORE'S BALL, a highlight of the year for members of the Klamath Yacht Club, was held Feb. 25 in a setting appropriately nautical in decor. Comical fish silhouettes on the windows appeared to be caught in the nets which were draped around the club room. Colorful floats and individual flags added to the theme.

A BIT OF FUN is had by Newman Kimes and P. K. Puckett, shown above. The prop is real, the sailboat of Dr. Hugh Currin, brought into the club rooms for true atmosphere. The program for the evening was ably directed by W. Don Miller as emcee.

Quota Club Names Ruth King 1961 Woman Of Achievement

QUOTA CLUB of Klamath County looks forward each year to the February banquet when the Woman of Achievement is named. This year Mrs. A. J. (Ruth) King was selected for the honor. She is pictured above, center, with Natalia Reichenberg, left, club president. Joyce Riker, right, in making the presentation, cited Mrs. King for her contributions to such projects as the Potato and Bohemian festivals and establishment of Wierd Park. During her years as Herald and News reporter Mrs. King has made many friends and many are those whom she has helped in selfless acts of generosity and kindness. Mrs. Riker paid tribute to Ruth King "as the person people call on with such confidence to say, 'I know of someone who needs help.'"

HEARTS AND FLOWERS was the theme and motif for simple effective decorations at Quota Club's banquet Feb. 28 in the Pelican Party Room. Mrs. Robert A. Thompson, above center, presented her excellent review of "The Listener" by Taylor Caldwell for the program. She was introduced by Joy Rolph, left, chairman of the affair. Elizabeth Derby, right, assisted with arrangements. Gail Campbell sang three selections, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. Anita Campbell. Past women of achievement present were Dorothy Pinniger, Lucille West, Alice Vitus, Ellen Clark, Frances Watkins, Clara Moore, Buena Stone and Patsy Fradrikson. Unable to be present were Betty Pepple, Mary Maxwell, Betty Hatzl, Lynn Kendall and Myrtle Wimer.
