

Added Police Power Bill Passes

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR. SALEM (AP) — Legislation to give police officers greater authority to issue citations against drivers who cause accidents was passed 56-2 Monday by the House. It goes to the Senate.

The House also sent to the Senate a bill that would prevent any person from being forced against his will to run in Oregon's presidential primary.

The traffic bill is similar to that requested by Gov. Mark O. Hatfield. It would let the officers issue citations requiring an appearance in court when they have reasonable grounds to believe a law has been violated.

Under present law, an officer cannot make an arrest or issue a citation unless he actually sees the offense committed.

Police officers testified that the bill, in its present form, would take care of most of their problems in making traffic accident arrests.

It is aimed mostly at curbing drunken drivers who are involved in accidents. An investigating officer, who usually arrives after the accident, now can't make a drunk driving arrest. He can only arrest the driver for the minor charge of being drunk on a public street.

As the governor originally proposed, the bill would have let the officers make actual arrests when evidence pointed to the fact that a law had been violated. But Rep. John R. Dellenback, R-Medford, told the House that the Judiciary Committee did not think this would be a sound policy.

The presidential primary bill would permit withdrawal of candidates whose names are filed by petition of 1,000 or more voters. Under present law, they can't withdraw.

Those candidates whose names are entered by the secretary of state in the presidential primary are permitted to withdraw.

Sen. Wayne Morse was entered by petition in the 1960 Democratic presidential primary. He said that forced him to run, and he indicated he might have withdrawn had he been allowed to do so.

The only ways candidates are entered in the primary are by petition or by the secretary of state.

Rep. Robert L. Elfstrom, R-Salem, has introduced a bill to have a voters' referendum on the question of whether basic school aid to local districts should be increased to 50 per cent. The state level of aid now is about 38 per cent of the cost of public schools.

The Legislative Interim Committee on Education has introduced legislation to boost the figure to 50 per cent in the next four or five years.

Several important hearings were scheduled Monday. They deal with legislative re-apportionment, billboards and timber taxation.

The Senate completed legislative action on a bill to drop the words "of education" from the names of Eastern Oregon College of Education at La Grande, and Southern Oregon College of Education at Ashland.

The third college, Oregon College of Education at Monmouth, will keep its name.

County Facing Road Deficit

HILLSBORO (AP) — The Washington County Court, faced with a deficit in its road funds, says it will lay off all 84 Road Department employees for two weeks.

The layoffs will be spread over a two-month period and each worker will be furloughed for one week each month.

The saving to the county in salaries will amount to about $12,600, the court said.

Last May, voters rejected a $341,000 levy for road construction work. The court said that the county's growth has far outstripped its financial ability to provide services. Only the voters can provide the solution, the court added.

Solon Says Law Unconstitutional

SALEM (AP) — Rep. George Van Hoomissen, D-Portland, said today that the state eugenics law is unconstitutional.

The law permits the state Board of Eugenics to sterilize mentally ill and feeble-minded patients, with consent of their guardians. Van Hoomissen, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, gave his testimony at a House Public Health and Welfare hearing on his bill to abolish the board.

He said the state "doesn't belong in the sterilization business."

Dutch Families Reach Oregon

PORTLAND (AP) — Three families of Dutch refugees from Indonesia — including 13 youngsters — arrived in Oregon from Holland Saturday to begin a new life.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Franciscus G. De Water and their six children, who will settle in Oregon City; Mr. and Mrs. Louise De Bats and their two daughters who will live at Springfield; and Mr. and Mrs. Willem Veight and their five children, who will live at Tillamook.

The three families were brought to this country under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Church.

Resigns Post

BONANZA — James Heseline resigned as a member of the city council at the regular meeting Monday night. Virginia Thomas was appointed in his place.

The final reading was heard on the building code bill. This bill would require council approval for remodeling or building in the town.

Bly Grange Honors Past Masters

BLY — About 35 grange members and their families joined together recently to honor the past masters and charter members of the Bly Grange on its 30th birthday.

Past masters and charter members present for the occasion were O. H. Osborn, now of Klamath Falls; E. J. Casebeer, Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon and Mrs. Basil Hall, all of Bly.

Bly Grange was organized Jan. 22, 1931, with 33 charter members. O. H. Osborn was elected first master and served for two years. He was followed by Math Obenchain in 1933; E. J. Casebeer 1934-35; L. T. "Bass" Richardson 1936-38; James Dixon 1939; Basil Hall 1940-42; O. H. Osborn 1943-46; Ruth E. Hall, 1947 to present time.

Bly Grange members purchased their hall and four lots in 1953. The grange is now debt free and have five lots.

Clear Slide Area

OREGON CITY (AP) — Road crews Sunday carried away the last rocks from a slide that littered a highway with huge boulders.

The tons of rock tumbled down Saturday from a roadside cliff onto Highway 99-E just south of here. Some of the boulders were so big they had to be broken into haulable size with dynamite.

No cars were caught in the slide.

Eighth Grader Captures SCS Speaking Contest

FORT ROCK — Marvin Markus, eighth grader at Silver Lake School, was winner of the speaking contest on soil conservation at the annual meeting of the Fort Rock-Silver Lake Soil Conservation District here March 7.

Marvin emphasized the importance of conservation of our remaining six inches of top soil on our planet regardless of our progress in reaching the moon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Markus.

A. L. Hafenrichter of Portland was guest speaker. Color slides contrasted "before and after" in the studies and plantings done by plant materials centers in the western states. The speaker heads operations in this area.

Steps were shown in the development of plants suited to high altitude, low rainfall areas quite comparable to Lake County. Hafenrichter pointed out the high percentage of increased need for beef which will take place by 1975 due to the population explosion. This calls for improved grasslands, with greater emphasis on quality, he said.

"Your technicians here know about your local soils and their capacities better than I," the speaker asserted, and recommended their services to the large number of ranchers attending from the Fort Rock, Silver Lake and Summer Lake communities.

Eston Porter, chairman of the board of supervisors, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Ann Sprague, Lake County superintendent of schools, was in charge of the speaking contest. She made the award of the plaque to the winner and presented prizes given by the SCD to the six contestants, Howard Michelson, Silver Lake; Douglas Clark and Clark Hallgren, Summer Lake; and Jeanne Webber and Michael Mattis of Fort Rock. Their teachers who assisted were Nelson Park, Silver Lake; Mrs. Violet Wagers, Summer Lake, and Mrs. Coca Pervorse, Fort Rock.

Porter of Silver Lake and Bud Parks, Fort Rock, were reelected to the board. J. D. Corum of Silver Lake was chairman of the nominating committee.
