Five Dollar Deposit Asked For Camping Reservations

Groups reserving camping areas in Oregon's state parks will be required to make a $5 deposit with their request this year, according to Mark H. Astrup, state parks superintendent.

The change, approved by the State Highway Commission at its Jan. 27 meeting, is designed to reduce instances of areas being closed to the public for the use of a group, then the group failing to use the reserved facilities. Under the present policy, groups must consist of 20 or more campers, and the deposit will be applied to the 25 cent per night, per person, camping charge. No charge is made for picnic use or reservations, nor will the deposit be required for the Silver Falls park youth camps.

In a further move to give better service, handling of all camping and picnicking reservations and permits has been transferred from the main office at Salem to the five district offices located in Portland, Salem, Coquille, Bend and La Grande. Reservation and permit requests coming in to the main office are being referred to the appropriate district. Checks or money orders for group camping reservations should be made out to Oregon State Highway Department.

Scout News

FORT KLAMATH

A large crowd of parents, scouts, leaders and others interested in scouting enjoyed the annual Blue and Gold potluck banquet given by Cub Scout Troop No. 34 and Cub Scout Pack No. 34 in the C.I. Clubhouse. The dinner and ensuing program were open to the public and commemorated the 51st anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Albert Place, a brief outline of the history of scouting was given by Star Scout David Van Wormer.

Committee Chairman Hollis Kizer announced winners in the father and son "Genius Kit" project. Gerry Page and his father won first prize, Bill Brown Jr. and his father placed second. Judges were Frank Strahan, Franklin Bitzer and Lee Lounge.

A decorated candle-topped birthday cake was a surprise gift to Bert Gray, in honor of his 73rd birthday on Feb. 22, a token of appreciation of the interest shown by both Gray and his wife during the years since the scouts were organized here over a decade ago.

In the absence of Claude Shepherd, cub scoutmaster, Gene Page presented awards to the following Cub Scouts: Rex Engle, bear badge and two-year pin; Randy Kizer, lion silver arrow and three-year pin; David Costelow, bear gold arrow and one-year pin; Wayne Engle, three-year pin; Jerry Latzy, two-year pin, and Gerry Page, one-year pin.

Page also awarded den mother pins to Mrs. Jim Costelow, Mrs. Gene Page, Mrs. Weston Engle and Mrs. Blaine Brattain. Mrs. Brattain also received a five-year pin. Hollis Kizer, Edwin Scott and Dan Brown were given four-year pins.

Boy Scout awards were made by Scoutmaster Franklin Bitzer as follows: Carl Jones, first class rank, home repairs, first aid to animals, sheep raising and dog care; David Van Wormer, senior patrol leader and coin collecting; Kenneth Scott, home repairs; Douglas Brattain, stamp collecting; Kim Kizer, home repairs; Wayne Scott, first aid to animals, leather work and home repairs.

The next regular monthly pack meeting of the scouts will be held Friday evening, March 24, instead of on Friday, March 31. Anyone interested in scouting activities is invited to attend.

British Keep Door Open For Africans

LONDON (AP) — The British Commonwealth today kept the door open for South Africa to remain a member as a republic but with the clear understanding she stands alone in advocating racial segregation.

Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd appeared waging a futile fight to stave off a public denunciation of his government's racist policies by the other 11 members of the multiracial family of nations. Such a declaration would force Verwoerd to take South Africa out of the Commonwealth or beat a sharp retreat from his repeated public declaration that he would not stand for "any humiliating treatment" from the conference.

One participant in the discussions boiled down the issue this way. "The question of South Africa's future membership has been settled. We have agreed to accept—or rather to tolerate—her in our midst."

"However, 11 of Dr. Verwoerd's colleagues want publicly to express their opinion that the principles and practices of the apartheid (racial segregation) system do not conform with the Commonwealth conception of human rights and racial equality."

After hours of argument Tuesday, Verwoerd stalled off a public declaration by invoking a veto. Under the traditional rules for Commonwealth members, all of them must agree to communicate.

The conference finally agreed to sleep on the matter and continue the discussion today.

Members of the British-led family of nations carries with it trade and other economic benefits that South Africa is reluctant to give up when she changes from a monarchial union to a republic in May. But Verwoerd and his government of Afrikaner Nationalists have said repeatedly they would make no modification in the apartheid policy, regardless of sentiment elsewhere in the Commonwealth.

Leading the campaign for a denunciation of racism are Prime Ministers Nehru of India, Abdul Rahman of Malaysia, John Diefenbaker of Canada and Presidents Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

Williams, a scout in the cavalry's Troop C, entered the Army in September 1959 and received basic training at Fort Ord, Calif. He arrived overseas in December 1960.

Williams is a 1958 graduate of Lakeview High School.

Chemical Weed Killers Prove Valuable

TULELAKE — Chemical weed-killers have turned in a remarkable record of safe performance under pressure of increasing pesticide residue regulations, but the heat still is on.

J. E. Swift, Agricultural Extension Service entomologist of the University of California, through K. G. Baggett, Tulelake farm adviser, points out that although concern over crop damage from such materials as 2,4-D played a significant role in bringing about legislation on residues, herbicides themselves recently have not been as generally suspect as other pesticides.

There's good reason, Swift says. "Because herbicides are designed to kill plants, they simply are not often used in a way that could result in significant residues on crop plants."

Swift said recent research has confirmed that if weed-killers such as 2,4-D, dalapon, diuron, monuron and sesone are used according to directions, there is no danger of significant residues.

As a result of investigations, a few more specific uses of 2,4-D on grain and irrigated pastures will be permitted during 1961.

During last year, Swift said, farmers turned in their best record yet of safe herbicide use, both as to lack of residues and lack of damage on nearby crops.
