

Psychology Major Tries Sales Talk

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: I am 19 years old and going steady. My boy friend tells me I am unrealistic, immature, stubborn as a mule, and terribly inconsiderate of him. He claims I must "prepare" for marriage if I expect to be a successful wife. According to him (and he's a psychology major) if a girl doesn't get some experience, marriage can be a shock.

He is very convincing, and it all makes sense while he says it, but something is holding me back. You seem to have all the answers. What's the answer to this one?—DON'T KNOW

Dear DON'T!: Tell the psychology major that pregnancy before marriage can be more of a shock to a girl than marriage without experience.

And another shock that can result from going along with what he suggests is best illustrated by samples from today's mail:

"He said he loved me and I believed him. After I proved my love, he dropped me like a hot potato. I haven't seen him since." That one was from Toledo, here's one from Kansas City.

"When he got what he wanted, he said, 'I don't think I could ever marry a girl who gave herself before marriage. It would always be on my mind. Goodbye.'"

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please say something to "Public Pluckers?"

These are the women (occasionally a man) who, under the guise of being helpful, will crook the little finger and painstakingly remove a microscopic speck of lint, or a stray hair off the shoulder of a victim—preferably in a room filled with people.

Last night this happened to me again, for the 100th time. I had all I could do to keep from blowing a gasket. The hostess stood there brushing — I can't imagine what — off my shoulders. It must have appeared to the guests that she was helping to rid me of some unsightly dandruff — or worse.

Maybe I'm a nut on the subject, because nobody seems to mind it but me. Is there a way to stop this?—B.B.O.

Dear B.B.O.: I won't go so far as to say you're a nut, but your irritation is excessive. Some people, indeed, consider this little gesture one of solicitude.

You'll never be able to stop Public Pluckers because by the time you've been victimized, it's too late to complain. I suggest you reduce your hostility by joining their ranks. The moment someone does this to you, respond by removing an imaginary speck from HIS shoulder.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter is a sophomore in high school. She is very much interested in biology. At present her class is studying the bookworm, tapeworm, flukes and other parasites. She flatly refuses to eat meat unless it is burned to a crisp. She says people get worms from eating under-cooked meat. Is this true? I have never heard of it. Please print your answer because she won't believe me if I tell her.—DISTRESSED MOTHER

Dear Mother: People can get sick from eating under-cooked meat only if the meat is infected. Government inspectors do an excellent job of protecting the public against sub-standard products. It is wise, however, to cook all meat fairly well—especially pork—but it need not be burned to a crisp.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please say something to "Public Pluckers?"

These are the women (occasionally a man) who, under the guise of being helpful, will crook the little finger and painstakingly remove a microscopic speck of lint, or a stray hair off the shoulder of a victim—preferably in a room filled with people.

Last night this happened to me again, for the 100th time. I had all I could do to keep from blowing a gasket. The hostess stood there brushing — I can't imagine what — off my shoulders. It must have appeared to the guests that she was helping to rid me of some unsightly dandruff — or worse.

Maybe I'm a nut on the subject, because nobody seems to mind it but me. Is there a way to stop this?—B.B.O.

Dear B.B.O.: I won't go so far as to say you're a nut, but your irritation is excessive. Some people, indeed, consider this little gesture one of solicitude.

You'll never be able to stop Public Pluckers because by the time you've been victimized, it's too late to complain. I suggest you reduce your hostility by joining their ranks. The moment someone does this to you, respond by removing an imaginary speck from HIS shoulder.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter is a sophomore in high school. She is very much interested in biology. At present her class is studying the bookworm, tapeworm, flukes and other parasites. She flatly refuses to eat meat unless it is burned to a crisp. She says people get worms from eating under-cooked meat. Is this true? I have never heard of it. Please print your answer because she won't believe me if I tell her.—DISTRESSED MOTHER

Dear Mother: People can get sick from eating under-cooked meat only if the meat is infected. Government inspectors do an excellent job of protecting the public against sub-standard products. It is wise, however, to cook all meat fairly well—especially pork—but it need not be burned to a crisp.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please say something to "Public Pluckers?"

These are the women (occasionally a man) who, under the guise of being helpful, will crook the little finger and painstakingly remove a microscopic speck of lint, or a stray hair off the shoulder of a victim—preferably in a room filled with people.

Last night this happened to me again, for the 100th time. I had all I could do to keep from blowing a gasket. The hostess stood there brushing — I can't imagine what — off my shoulders. It must have appeared to the guests that she was helping to rid me of some unsightly dandruff — or worse.

Maybe I'm a nut on the subject, because nobody seems to

BUILT IN 1873 by Jesse Kirk Sr., and later relinquished to K. Davis, this log house located at K. Davis Hill still stands. The logs were hauled from Bald Mountain by Kirk. Many old square cut nails may still be found around the house.

— Photo by Veston Casey

Capping Ceremony For Gray Lady Corps

A capping ceremony for new members of the Gray Lady Corps will be held at the local Art Gallery on Saturday, March 25, and the public is invited. The pictures that have been received to date from the foreign countries participating in the exchange program of school art through the Red Cross will be displayed at the meeting.

Al Nyback, chapter chairman, urged all board members to attend.

Mrs. Orson Stearns, Junior Red Cross chairman, announces that

Churches' National Council Against Private School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national council of churches official said today he is sure a majority of its governing body "would be opposed to loans for parochial school construction."

The Rev. Dr. Gerald K. Knoff, executive secretary of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches, spoke in testimony prepared for a hearing of the House Education Committee, which is considering the administration's school aid bill.

Dr. Knoff cited previous pronouncements by the council's governing board, which opposed any federal aid to church schools. He said the board has not taken a definite position on loans for parochial schools, but predicted it would oppose them.

"The majority sentiment would be in hearty agreement with the positions of the President of the United States and the secretary of health education and welfare," he said.

"In all candor I must say that there would be others who would not object in theory to loans to be repaid at the prevailing rate of interest," he added. "But what many of these persons might sup-

Jennie Latham Funeral Held

ALTURAS — Funeral services were held in Pekin, Ill., this week for Mrs. Jennie P. Latham, 85, who died here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gladys L. Robbers Saturday, March 4.

Mrs. Latham made many friends here during frequent visits with her daughter, who owns Hotel Modoc. Mrs. Latham managed property for her daughter in Oakland until last year, when she moved here to live with Mrs. Robbers.

Mrs. Latham was a native of Illinois. She leaves another daughter, Mrs. Zeda Rapp, and a son, Raymond I. Latham, both of Pekin.

Curtis Vernon Services Held

ALTURAS — Funeral services were held in Lake City Tuesday afternoon, March 7, for Curtis Vernon, 49, a Cedarville native, he died in Modoc Medical Center March 3, where he had been a patient most of the time since he became ill last July.

Final rites were held in the Bible Baptist Church at Lake City and interment followed in Lake City Cemetery under direction of Kerr Mortuary.

Vernon had been a member of the Alturas police force in the early 1950s.

Vernon is survived by the widow, Doris, Alturas; three brothers, Durward of Bandon, and Earl and Mervel of Alturas; four sisters, Mrs. Fay Wood of Alturas, Mrs. Lila Fink of Fields, Ore., Mrs. Blanche McMinn of Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Zelma Cassell of Santa Cruz.

Three Recruits

Three Klamath Falls men were enlisted in the Marine Corps in Portland during the last month. They were Dennis L. Morrow, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Morrow, 220 South Rogers; Ralph D. Swift, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, 3118 Crosby, and John P. Coker, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Coker, 3067 Flint.

The men are presently undergoing recruit training at San Diego.

Exhibit To Close

The Klamath Art Association's current exhibit of works by Klamath Basin artists will be shown for the last time Sunday from 2 until 5 p.m. in the community art center, Maple Park.

The exhibit contains a considerable number of paintings in several media and a few other works. Some are for sale.

Artists are asked to pick up their work beginning at 4 p.m.

KILLED IN AMBUSH

ORAN, Algeria (UPI)—Four Algerian Moslems were killed Monday in an ambush by rebel terrorists who attacked two cars. Two police officials escaped the machinegun attack without harm, but two policemen and two drivers were killed.

Girl Scouts Study Klamath Heritage

By Mrs. Harriette Brotherhood
National Girl Scout Week now in progress is an appropriate time to announce the heritage hike program taking place in the Klamath Area Council as well as all councils throughout the United States. This activity is one of the several especially designed for the Girl Scout birthday years observance over the nation.

In honoring the past these heritage hikes will enable our local Girl Scouts to learn more about early history of towns represented in the Klamath Area Council. Cultural traditions, population, first citizens, etc. will be explored through research. Interesting local lore and history will be studied.

Equipped with this background of information, the girls will draw maps pointing up landmarks to be visited. These maps will be used as guides for numerous heritage hikes covering points of interest for Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Scouts. The hikes will vary in scope and length. Some will be designed for foot traveling, others for bicycle groups, and still others for automobile trips.

Heritage hike maps will also be made available to the community this summer. These maps will enable entire families to make tours to local historic landmarks and sites. Descriptive material pertaining to each stop indicated will accompany each map.

It is hoped that these hikes will take place throughout the summer. By fall, Brownies and scouts and interested adults will be better informed citizens of our communities as a result of this project.

The longest hike of all will be the national-international Heritage Trail scheduled for this summer. Forty eight U.S. Senior Scouts and 24 Rangers from 12 other countries will explore the U.S. together. Four groups, each com-

Klamath Court Promises To Aid Hospital Project

PEA 2-30-2 KLAMATH COUNTY L. may be placed on the primary ballot in May 1962. Although the Klamath County Court Wednesday morning assured two representatives of the Chamber of Commerce Hospital Committee of its cooperation in the quest for a new county hospital.

Committee members George Proctor and John Van Doren met with the court Wednesday to outline plans for the creation of a hospital district, which the committee has endorsed as the best method of financing the project.

Proctor said a hospital measure

Crabtree To Attend Meet

Klamath County District Attorney Dale T. Crabtree will attend a traffic law enforcement conference in Bend Friday.

The conference, sponsored by the State Department of Motor Vehicles, has been designed to standardize traffic law enforcement throughout the state. A series of conferences has been scheduled by the department.

Crabtree will go on to Portland Saturday to attend the wedding of his son, Tom. He will return to Klamath Falls Monday.

KF Man Is Charged

A Klamath Falls man, Darrell Houston Blackwell, 22, 2805 Berkeley Street, was returned to Yreka Tuesday afternoon to face burglary charges.

The burglary involves the theft of some tools, tires and gas from the Don West ranch near Macdoel. Sheriff's deputies said Blackwell was also questioned in regard to thefts in the Klamath Falls area.

A cache of property, some of it stolen, found in a local garage led to Blackwell's arrest, officials said. He was first brought in last week on two traffic charges.

Four Teachers At Conference

Four members of the Klamath County Chapter Retired Teachers Association left Wednesday for Portland where they will attend the state convention for three days, March 15, 16, and 17.

Attending are Mrs. Lorena Ward, state president; Miss Mildred Dressler, vice president of the Klamath County chapter, who will report on the local activities, May Phinney, active member, and Mrs. Edna Wilkerson, past president of the local chapter.

Old Friend Dies

BONANZA—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burnett, Langell Valley, received word Tuesday, March 14, of the death in Portland of J. D. (Jack) Mickle, who had visited the Klamath Basin many times as a hunter. He was 90 years old.

Mr. Mickle continued to hunt here until he was past 80.

ESQUIRE Starts TODAY!

THE SUN CAME UP TWICE THAT DAY ONCE IN THE HEAVENS FOR ALL THE WORLD TO SEE... ONCE IN THE DARKNESS FOR A MAN, HIS WIFE AND THEIR CHILDREN ALONE TO SHARE...

SUNRISE AT CAMPOBELLO

RALPH BELLAMY · GREER GARSON
as the man who never forgot how to smile... as the woman who never forgot how to love

A SCHARY PRODUCTION
HUME CRONIN · JEAN HAGEN · with ANN SHODMAKER · ALAN BUNCE
Screen and Story by DORE SCHARY. Based on the play by VINCENT J. DONOHUE Technicolor® · Presented by WARNER BROS.

TOWER TU-4-8484 LAST TIMES TODAY!

WALT DISNEY'S NEW ALL-CARTOON FEATURE
One Hundred and One Dalmatians

Starts FRIDAY!

HIS WAR CRY RINGS OUT— TO EVERY HALF BREED IN THE WORLD!

ELVIS PRESLEY

as Pacer, The Half Breed

FLAMING STAR

CINEMASCOPE COLOR BY DE LUXE

FIGHT FILMS!

BETTER THAN RINGSIDE!

FLOYD PATTERSON vs. INGEMAR JOHANSSON

OFFICIAL WORLD'S HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT FILM!
Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

$4.50
House 4 calls
BILLY GOLDEN - TV
Parts and Work Guaranteed
PH. TU 2-1259
"Have Tubes - Will Travel"
DAY - NIGHT - SUNDAY

Karl's SHOE STORES EASTER SPECIALS

EASTER CHARMER
To delight little girls! Convertible in black patent leather or white smooth leather. Sizes 8½-3.

2.99

PARADE WINNER
Bow-topped convertible pretty in black patent leather or white smooth leather. Sizes 8½-3.

3.99

HANDSOME OXFORD
Dressy moc toe shoe for little boys — so sturdy! In black or brown leather. Sizes 8½-3.

3.99

FREE!
BEAUTIFUL SPRINGTIME COLORING BOOKS FOR THE KIDDIES AT KARL'S! NO PURCHASE NECESSARY!

820 MAIN
Phone TU 2-9316

Karl's SHOES

There are over 300 Karl's Shoe Stores in the west

• People Read SPOT ADS — you are

Subscription Rates:
Carrier 1 Month $1.75
1 Month $1.50
3 Months $4.50
6 Months $8.00
1 Year $15.00

W. B. SWEETLAND, Publisher
Entered as second class matter at the post office at Klamath Falls, Oregon, on August 20, 1956, under act of Congress, March 3, 1879. Second-class postage paid at Klamath Falls, Oregon, and at additional mailing offices.

AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATION
Subscribers not receiving delivery of their Herald and News, please change Gene Carpenter, Circulation Manager, 1500 4th St., Klamath Falls, Ore. 97601