

Caldwell Heads State Assessors

Klamath County Assessor Clyde R. (Hap) Caldwell is the new president of the Oregon State Association of County Assessors; he was elected over the weekend at the association convention in Newport. Caldwell returned Tuesday morning from the convention, which was held last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. He was elected second vice president last year but moved up to acting president following the defeat of one assessor and the death of another.

"This is an honor to me and to Klamath County," Caldwell told the Herald and News Tuesday. "I will work hard on legislative matters, especially to standardize assessing practices and procedures throughout the state." Caldwell is the first Klamath County assessor to be elected association president since Charles Mack, now a state tax commissioner, was elected in 1941.

MADRAS, Ore. (AP) — Selection of a jury in the first degree murder trial of Jeannae June Freeman, 40, resumed Wednesday.

Record Low Death Rate

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents during the long Labor Day weekend killed 386 persons, 34 below holiday estimates, and the death rate was a record low for the holiday period. The National Safety Council, which had estimated the death toll of 420, said some 16,000 persons suffered injuries during the 28-hour holiday period from 8 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. The traffic death toll compared with 411 for the Labor Day holiday last year and the record of 461 in 1961. Based on deaths per 100 million miles of travel, it was the safest Labor Day holiday on record with 6.6 deaths in traffic. The old record was 8.1 set in 1959.

Drive Test Weeds Out Hotrodders

By ALTON BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A new driver's test is slashing auto insurance fees for boys and young men who are really good drivers.

The test successfully predicts whether the male aged 16 to 25 is likely to be a safe driver or an accident-prone hotrodder, psychologist Charles F. Haner of Grinnell College, Iowa, said today.

The test is purely psychological. It does not involve vision, reflexes or any driving skills—just general attitudes.

The young man who scores high gets insurance at the same rate which adults pay. Lower scores kick up premiums. Those in the lowest group pay four times the adult rate.

In two years' experience with 4,000 young male drivers, the test has worked well, Haner said.

He said 24 per cent of young men had been classed in Group 1, the low risk group. And their accident rates have been slightly below that of all adult rates in Iowa, he reported.

About 40 per cent were put in the two highest risk groups. They have had 50 per cent more accidents—and more serious accidents—in which they were fully to blame than would be expected from the number of drivers involved.

Haner said he devised the test for the Farmers Mutual Reinsurance Co. of Grinnell on the reasoning that attitudes basically determine what kind of driver a person will be, and on the company's feelings that all young men should not be lumped together as irresponsible or equally accident-prone.
