No Labor Shortage Predicted

TULELAKE—Although the labor prospect for the potato harvest indicates there will be no shortage this year, Clifford Jenkins, Tulelake association manager, recommends that local growers use neighbors and friends if possible in the harvest to take up unemployment slack in the Klamath Basin rather than depend on outside labor sources.

[illegible], in a question on the coming harvest season, said that a large percentage of potatoes will be harvested mechanically cutting down on demands for help. A number of crews [illegible] up of local people in the last few years.

Probe Aims At 'Fixer' Of Games

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., pushed his gambling inquiry today in hopes of nailing the campus corrupters —crooked gamblers who bribe college athletes to "fix" contests.

McClellan also hoped his Senate rackets investigating subcommittee could find out why youths in colleges and universities succumb to the lure of gamblers' gold.

Red Cross Honors Mrs. G. Myers

Mrs. George L. (May) Myers was named Red Cross Volunteer of the Year by the Klamath Basin Chapter at its annual luncheon meeting Thursday.

Ten-year service pins were presented to Mrs. Dick Reeder and Mrs. Stephen Walker by Al Nyback, outgoing chairman, who presided at the Pelican Cafe meeting attended by 75.

Mrs. Myers has directed training of lifeguards and swimming teachers in the Red Cross program for the past 10 years throughout the county. Nine years ago she acted as volunteer chairman of a committee to promote public education on the need of a swimming pool. The Klamath Municipal Swimming Pool was built as a result of a community vote.

Mrs. Reeder has served as a member of the board for the past three years and pioneered the chapter's chairman of volunteers position. She has served as a staff aide, a social welfare aide and a Gray Lady.

Mrs. Walker has worked with the Red Cross Bloodmobile, as a nurses aide and for the past two years as staff aide chairman. She more recently was named adult chairman of the newly organized teen-age "Volunteens."

James D. Monteith, who served as vice chairman last year, was voted chairman for the coming year. Serving with him will be Dr. George Nicholson, vice chairman; Mrs. C. R. Canine, secretary; and William J. Owsley, treasurer.

Elected to three-year terms on the board of directors with the officers were Owsley, Mrs. Everett Miner, Charles Pedersen, Mrs. E. Cook, Jack Douglas, Robert Kyle, George Callison, Brooks Dickerman, Dr. Nicholson and Dr. Clifford Robinson.

Chairmen of the various Red Cross groups also made awards to volunteers in the Gray Ladies, nursing service, staff aides, social welfare aides, canteen service and bloodmobile workers.

AGC Meets In Klamath

Southern Oregon regional meetings of chapter members of the Associated General Contractors are being held Sept. 8 and 9 in Medford and Klamath Falls.

A. H. (Bill) Harding, Portland, attended a meeting of Medford area AGC contractors at noon Friday.

On Friday evening, Harding will represent the AGC at a State Industrial Accident Commission award ceremony in Klamath Falls. Asphalt Paving Co., Klamath Falls, will receive a safety award. Ray Byrnes will represent the company.

An AGC business meeting breakfast is scheduled for Klamath Falls area contractors Saturday, Sept. 9.

Medicare Payment Date Set

SALEM (AP)—The first applications for medical care for the aged will be accepted next month, and the first payments will be made Nov. 1, Andrew Juras, state welfare administrator, said today.

The aid will be given to needy persons who are not on the welfare rolls.

However, the Welfare Commission has not yet decided whether it will insure through a company providing medical insurance, or make direct grants.

The commission might decide the question at a Sept. 29 meeting. But Juras said a special meeting might be held before that.

He said he couldn't comment on a legislative fiscal committee statement that the Welfare Commission might have to ask for emergency funds. He said the commission now is restudying its entire biennial budget.

Juras also said that no city has yet showed an interest in obtaining men on welfare to work on work relief projects. But, he added, some cities might get interested this winter.

The legislature extended the work relief program to cities. Before that, most of the counties used the program.

He said the commission had little trouble in August in keeping general assistance food standards at 85 per cent of the federal standard. The commission gave $15,000 to Multnomah County during the month to maintain these standards.

Coos County got $[illegible] for this purpose, and Josephine and Klamath counties $1[illegible] each.
