

Senate Probers Offer Aid In 'Fixing' Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators offered today to help prosecute two gamblers accused of trying to bribe a University of Oregon football player.

Li. Carl Robinson, head of the Michigan state police racket squad, told a reporter he would urge immediate reopening of the case now that the Senate Investigations subcommittee has turned up one of the gamblers, Frank Rosenthal.

Subcommittee hearings Friday, the player, Michael Bruce, 20, dramatically pointed to Rosenthal as the man who offered him $5,000 to fix last fall's Oregon-Michigan game. Bruce, of El Cajon, Calif., said the bribe was offered in a hotel on the eve of the game at Ann Arbor, Mich. Bruce said he exposed the offer to the Oregon coaching staff and police were called in.

Rosenthal, of Chicago and Miami, stared impassively as Bruce leveled a finger at him. Then Rosenthal invoked the Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination and refused to testify about the incident.

The other gambler, David Budin, 28, a former New York school teacher, was arrested at the hotel. He was tried and fined $100 on a charge of registering under a false name.

Last June, Budin, former captain of the Brooklyn College basketball team, was indicted in New York on bribery charges in college basketball scandals.

Robinson testified that reluctance by Bruce to face the embarrassment of testifying in a trial was a complicating factor when the racketeers handled the case last September.

Atom Plant Measure Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The compromise bill that would create a single generator nuclear electrical power plant at the Hanford, Wash., Atomic Works will go before the House Wednesday.

The watered-down measure, drawn up by a joint congressional committee, would construct a 400,000-kilowatt generator at a cost of $58 million. The generator would turn out electrical power for the Hanford plant and none would be sold commercially.

Earlier the House rejected and the Senate approved a $95 million proposal by the administration to build a dual-reactor at the plant for electrical and plutonium production.

The Senate already has approved the compromise measure, but the House Minority Leader, Rep. Charles Halleck, R-Ind., said last week he would stick by the first House decision and ask that the new bill also be defeated.

Examination Scheduled

PORTLAND (AP)—Circuit Judge Paul R. Harris Friday approved the transfer of Richard L. Marquette, 26, from Rocky Butte Jail to Holladay Park Hospital for the completion of psychiatric examinations.

Marquette is accused of first degree murder in the dismemberment slaying of Mrs. Lawrence P. Caudle, 24.

Stephen King, defense attorney for Marquette, made the motion for the transfer, and Harris granted a postponement of Marquette's plea to the charge until the tests are completed.

"The outcome of the tests could very well have a bearing on our plea," King told the court.

White Youth-Colored School

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A white pupil has enrolled at a previously all-Negro high school here. He is believed to be the first white student in the school's history, officials say.

James C. Hardcastle, supervising principal of the William W. M. Henry Comprehensive High School, said there "was no tension whatsoever" Thursday when the 15-year-old white boy enrolled along with some 60 Negroes.

Hardcastle declined to reveal the boy's name. He called the action "a healthy sign" and said he hoped more white students would enroll.

Strike Talks 'Progressing'

SEATTLE (AP)—Cerebro by "some progress" during a day-long session that ran into the night hours, negotiators arranged to meet again Thursday in efforts to settle the 10-day strike of 4,500 Pacific Northwest plumbers and pipefitters.

Federal Conciliator Albert L. Gese told of the "progress" after Wednesday night's session recessed at 10:30 p.m. but declined to give any details.

Gov. Rosellini was asked by the Edmonds School District Wednesday to intercede so an elementary school near completion could be put to use. He declined to do so.

Rebels Caught

ALGIERS (AP)—The French army today reported killing or capturing 43 Algerian rebels during operations in the bush Tuesday and Wednesday.

Among those killed were two chiefs of rebel military districts, the army said.

The French casualties were not given.

"We now have color TV! I painted it red!"

Ambassador Weds Model In Old Denmark Chapel

HILLEROD, Denmark (AP)—An ancient European setting, U.S. Ambassador William McCormick Blair Jr. married a former model Saturday before an assemblage of more than 150 political and social figures from the United States.

The wedding of the envoy and Catherine Gerlach took place in a Renaissance chapel of the 350-year-old Fredericksborg Castle, for centuries the residence of Danish kings.

The event attracted friends of the bride and groom from Chicago, the home town of both, as well as Washington and many capitals of Europe.

Blair, 44, was active in President Kennedy's 1960 campaign and is a former law firm associate of Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The Chicago contingent included Bowen Blair, the groom's brother; Vice President Leigh Bloch of Inland Steel; Mr. and Mrs. Edison Dick; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ives; Mrs. Robert McCormick; and Mrs. Edith Sampson.

The famed Tivoli gardens were the scene of a pre-nuptial party Friday night.

Plane Makes Dizzy Hop With Pilot On Ground

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP)—Doren Bumgardner planned a short airplane flight around Burlington Friday. He didn't make it—but the plane did.

The plane, a Civil Air Patrol L16, jumped its mooring blocks at Municipal Airport after Bumgardner started the engine.

Then the shiny silver craft tried its wings without a pilot on an erratic two-hour flight that ended in an Illinois bean field.

"I sure hope it doesn't happen to me again," said the 29-year-old pilot, a member of the Burlington CAP squadron.

The plane's unusual behavior had this city of 34,000 persons in a tizzy for an hour as it circled lazily at 1,200 feet over downtown buildings and outlying residential areas.

Finally the plane straightened out, climbed to 12,000 feet, ran out of gas and plunged onto the J. L. Garmer farm four miles west of Aledo, Ill. The only damage was to the plane—demolished—and to the bean field.

"When that engine started, it started real fast," said Bumgardner, a rated pilot for six years. He said he ran to the side of the plane, grabbed the control stick, but couldn't get inside.

"I tried to do everything in my power to hold her down," he said. "I just couldn't. I had to let go."

Bumgardner suffered a skinned right side from ankle to hip. He was taken to a hospital.

Camp White Trip Planned

MOUNT SHASTA—Mount Shasta VFW Auxiliary No. 5238 is planning its annual pilgrimage to Camp White Sunday, Sept. 17.

The Mount Shasta group will take a supply of materials with which the disabled veterans may make useful articles for selling to the public.

Radios, watches, clocks and mechanical equipment are repaired at Camp White, as well as rugs and other articles are made in the rehabilitation center.

Rebels Caught
ALGIERS (AP)—The French army today reported killing or capturing 43 Algerian rebels during operations in the bush Tuesday and Wednesday.

Among those killed were two chiefs of rebel military districts, the army said.

The French casualties were not given.

Nehru's Mission To Moscow Finds Little Peace Hope

Editor's Note — Preston Grover, veteran AP foreign correspondent who is chief of bureau in Moscow and formerly served in India, kept a close watch on Prime Minister Nehru's mission to Moscow. He finds the outlook not encouraging.

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Two days of talks between Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Nehru of India appear to have brought the world no nearer to peace. Nehru leaves today with little success to show in his role as East-West mediator.

The tough Communist and the elegant, erudite Indian seemed to be working in two different worlds.

On the eve of Nehru's visit, the Soviet Union exploded its fourth nuclear weapon in the current series. As the talks proceeded, an interview with Khrushchev was published in the United States, quoting him as threatening to make even bigger bombs so he can frighten other nations out of making war.

Nehru held to his position that nuclear testing should stop and that East and West should try to negotiate a settlement satisfactory to both sides.

Khrushchev remained determined to bring about a settlement in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Editor's Note — Preston Grover, veteran AP foreign correspondent who is chief of bureau in Moscow and formerly served in India, kept a close watch on Prime Minister Nehru's mission to Moscow. He finds the outlook not encouraging.

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Two days of talks between Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Nehru of India appear to have brought the world no nearer to peace. Nehru leaves today with little success to show in his role as East-West mediator.

The tough Communist and the elegant, erudite Indian seemed to be working in two different worlds.

On the eve of Nehru's visit, the Soviet Union exploded its fourth nuclear weapon in the current series. As the talks proceeded, an interview with Khrushchev was published in the United States, quoting him as threatening to make even bigger bombs so he can frighten other nations out of making war.

Nehru held to his position that nuclear testing should stop and that East and West should try to negotiate a settlement satisfactory to both sides.

Khrushchev remained determined to bring about a settlement in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Editor's Note — Preston Grover, veteran AP foreign correspondent who is chief of bureau in Moscow and formerly served in India, kept a close watch on Prime Minister Nehru's mission to Moscow. He finds the outlook not encouraging.

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Two days of talks between Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Nehru of India appear to have brought the world no nearer to peace. Nehru leaves today with little success to show in his role as East-West mediator.

The tough Communist and the elegant, erudite Indian seemed to be working in two different worlds.

On the eve of Nehru's visit, the Soviet Union exploded its fourth nuclear weapon in the current series. As the talks proceeded, an interview with Khrushchev was published in the United States, quoting him as threatening to make even bigger bombs so he can frighten other nations out of making war.

Nehru held to his position that nuclear testing should stop and that East and West should try to negotiate a settlement satisfactory to both sides.

Khrushchev remained determined to bring about a settlement in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the non-aligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him in Germany.

LOOK!!
Gene's Service & Garage
OPEN
7 A.M. - 7 Days a Week
11th & Klamath

SAVE AT BIG-Y

Where Prices Are Lower Every Day!

SWIFTNING

3 lb. Tin 49¢

Sun Detergent

For A Brighter Family Wash

Money Back Guarantee!

King Size	Giant Size	Reg. Size
1.45 Value	79c Value	74c Value
88¢	39¢	2 FOR 35¢

PRUNES

Maxwell House Instant COFFEE

1-Lb. Bags	3 FOR $1
Reg. 1.79	98¢
10-oz. Jars

Hunt's Pork 'N Beans

Reg. 2 1/2 3:49¢

blue baby makes up for lost time!

Loan, Meaty Short Ribs 35¢

U.S.D.A. Good Round Steak 83¢

Colored Roasting Hens 33¢ lb.

BIG Y

Thick Meated Dillard CANTALOUPE 10 FOR $1

Danish Squash 3 for 25¢

4710 So. 6th Right to Limit Reserved

Weather Table

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Albany, clear	82 61
Albuquerque, clear	83 60 11
Atlanta, clear	84 68
Bismarck, cloudy	79 50
Boston, clear	82 68
Buffalo, clear	85 61
Chicago, cloudy	82 74
Cleveland, clear	81 53
Denver, clear	85 53
Des Moines, clear	88 70
Detroit, clear	84 62
Fairbanks, clear	53 35
Fort Worth, clear	81 72
Helena, clear	73 44
Honolulu, cloudy	86 76
Indianapolis, clear	91 69
Janeau, cloudy	56 49
Kansas City, clear	88 72
Los Angeles, clear	75 59
Louisville, clear	91 72
Memphis, clear	91 71
Miami, cloudy	84 82
Milwaukee, clear	86 64
Mpls., St. Paul, clear	76 72 38
New Orleans, rain	87 76 09
New York, cloudy	79 70
Oklahoma City, clear	88 70
Omaha, clear	86 70
Philadelphia, cloudy	80 69
Phoenix, clear	97 20
Pittsburgh, clear	84 69
Portland, Me., cloudy	75 61
Portland, Ore., clear	76 53
Rapid City, clear	86 38
Richmond, clear	78 64 01
St. Louis, clear	89 69
Salt Lake City, rain	85 56 07
San Diego, cloudy	86 60
San Francisco, cloudy	66 57
Seattle, clear	73 5
Tampa, cloudy	93 74 50
Washington, cloudy	86 72

(T-Trace)

Coast-to-Coast NEWSPAPERS SELL THE MOST!

Herald and News

836 Main

FREE! A NEW SERVICE AT LEO'S

Register your Camera and Accessories, Binoculars, Tape Recorders, etc. There is no charge for this service!

Just come in and fill out the card. It will give you a permanent record in case of loss, or fire or theft, for insurance purposes, and for gift suggestions. It makes good sense to have a record. Come in soon; the service is free!

LEO'S CAMERA SHOP

FREE ESTIMATES

STORAGE... CRATING... PACKING

836 Main Ph. 2-3331

When It's Your "MOVE" CALL TU 4-7425 PEOPLES WAREHOUSE

"SINCE 1918"

FREE ESTIMATES

STORAGE... CRATING...