Montague Holds Show Of Flowers

MONTAGUE—Despite inclement weather the first annual flower and hobby show of the Shasta Valley Garden Club was held Saturday, in the Garden Hall of the old Montague Elementary School. Serving as judges for the event were Mrs. Wil Blackman of Klamath Falls, Mrs. Earl McFall of Newell, Calif., and "Lucky" Schmidlin of Yreka. To aid the Montague club in their first venture, Schmidlin, who has nurseries in Yreka, had decorated the front entrance of the old school building with a variety of potted plants and shrubs. He also added trailing-ivy vines, arranged in the old fountain, which centers the front entrance walk into the building. As an added feature, Schmidlin had a diversified selection of potted plants and shrubs on display in the building. Blue ribbon winners in the various classifications were as follows: Arrangements—Mary Beth Conley, Edith Williams, Leah Reichman, Rita Prather, Henrietta Terwilliger, Ellen Walters and Alta Allen. Horticulture—Aldee Davis, Mildred High, Rita Prather, Di Raver, Elizabeth Hessig, Jessie Terwilliger, Gladys Halter, Evelyn Hansen, E. Colla, Mary Lilly, Charlotte Robinson, Pearl Conroy, Ora Kouts, Henrietta Terwilliger, Mary Beth Conley, Edith Williams, Grace Church, Tressie Clement, Ellen Walters and Leah Reichman. Hobbies—Rita Prather, metal craft, perfume bottle collection and dried flower pictures; Douglas Gordon, pencil sketches, tile blocks and collage; Ora Kouts, oil painting and ceramics; Tressie Clement, crocheted poodle dogs; Jean Fredericks, seed pictures; Molly Conroy, oil paintings; Sally Soule, oil painting; Paula Cairns, Fun with Sugar, and crocheted poodle dogs; Pearl Conroy, china painting, and Alta Allen braided rugs.

MASTER CANDYMAKER — E. Remington Davenport, who operates a School of Candies in Portland, will pass on the tricks of his trade to Southern Oregon home-makers and candy enthusiasts during a free school Tuesday, Oct. 3. The instruction will be given at the Mills School Auditorium at two classes, starting at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Content of the two classes will be the same. The school is sponsored by the Herald and News, and there will be no charge for admission.

Candy Making School Scheduled

A master candymaker who believes women should be able to make good candies in the home just as they do good cakes will instruct a free Herald and News candy school here Tuesday, Oct. 3. S. Remington Davenport, who has been in the candy business for 26 years, will give the candy-making lessons described as "not only a school but a show." Setting for the school will be the Mills School Auditorium. Classes will be conducted at two times—2 to 4 p.m. and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Davenport will make three basic candies—fudge, after-dinner mints and peanut brittle. In this instruction, he will teach ten kinds of related candies. For instance, in preparing the fudge, he will show how to make such candies as fondant, divinity and Mexican penuche. He will also demonstrate some of the "extras" of candy-making, such as stripping. Davenport also will answer questions about candy-making such as: "What makes my candy turn to sugar?" or "What makes candy curdle?" The school is sponsored by the Herald and News, and there is no charge or obligation for attendance.

Historical Symposium To Hear College Man

YREKA—Dr. Hector Lee of Sonoma State College, will be one of the main speakers at the Symposium of Historical Societies of Northern California and Southern Oregon Oct. 6 - 7 - 8 at Ashland and Jacksonville, Ore. A luncheon at 12 noon will be served at the Masonic Hall dining room in Jacksonville with Dr. Lee as speaker. The afternoon business session in the Masonic Lodge room will be conducted by Dr. R. C. Coker, University of the Pacific, Stockton. H. J. Swinney, director of the Idaho Historical Society, on the topic, "The Value of a Museum in Local History." A banquet will be held at the Mark Antony Hotel at 7 p.m., the speaker to be Dr. Arthur Kreisman, director of General Studies, Southern Oregon College. On Sunday, Oct. 8, for those who wish to remain, an automobile tour of the area starting at the Mark Antony Hotel at 9 a.m. will be conducted by Jack Sutton of Grants Pass. For members of the Siskiyou County Historical Society and their friends, a chartered bus will leave the museum in Yreka at 7 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 7, returning at approximately 10 p.m. Reservations must be made in advance for the bus, as well as the luncheon and dinner meetings, through Mrs. Hazel Rider, secretary, at the museum in Yreka.

Water Fills Swim Pool

YREKA—Alton Taylor, Yreka city clerk-administrator, reported that the Ringe Memorial Swimming Pool was filled with water for the first time last week. Taylor said that with the exception of minor odds and ends the construction of the pool is completed and will be ready at the end of this week. But he added the pool probably will not be used until next summer. The city clerk said the contractors, Geremia-Paddock Co., Inc., will have a man spend a week with Ernie Prothier, city pool manager, to instruct him in operating the pool. They will go through actual procedure, and test all the equipment at the same time. All that remains for the final completion of the pool, according to Taylor is the installation of the diving towers and boards, tile in the shower rooms and painting.

Vets Ready For Virus

ALTURAS—Locally, and across the state, veterinarians are preparing for an outbreak of cattle abortion virus in Modoc County this year, Norman Nichols, county farm adviser said here. Last year's abortion outbreak was nearly over before organized work by the vets could be started to learn more of the disease. Nichols said officials hope there will be no recurrence this season, but emphasized that when signs of it begin to appear, veterinarians should be summoned immediately. Nichols said the state is very interested in getting fresh material for lab analysis. "In addition to fresh fetuses, we are interested in learning about how the disease occurs in a herd," he said, "without this information it will be impossible to try and pin down the disease." No vaccine for virus abortion has been developed, Nichols said. He asked that any rancher who gets a freshly aborted calf refrigerate it immediately and notify a veterinarian.

Identical Cars Crash Headon

McCLOUD—Two cars of the same model, make and year crashed headon on a turn in McCLOUD on State Route 98 late Sunday night. Four persons suffered minor injuries in the crash. Each car was damaged in an identical manner. Leonard John Kipp, 23, of McCLOUD was the driver of one car, Donald L. Grady, 18, driver of the other. James Sweeney was a passenger in the Grady car. Marianne Frisk was a passenger in the other. A complaint has been filed against Kipp, charging excessive speed and failure to drive on the right side of the road.

Tour Conducted

McCLOUD—Personnel of McCLOUD Ranger District conducted a tour of the 104-acre railroad plantation site, east of McCLOUD, Sept. 26. Bids on the operation will be opened Sept. 29 in Redding.

Low Bidders

McCLOUD—Crowe Brothers of Castella were low bidders on the McIntosh Wells plantation clearing project. Crowe's bid of $33 per acre on the 120-acre job was the lowest of five submitted.

Rummage Sale

Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church will stage a rummage sale beginning at 8 a.m. Saturday at 1116 Main Street (former Reliable Cleaners).

INCREASED RADIOACTIVITY

ATHENS (UPI)—Soviet nuclear tests increased radioactivity measured here to record levels, the Greek Atomic Energy Authority announced Wednesday.

Light Pole Cost Eyed By Council

YREKA—During last Thursday night's session of the Yreka City Council, Harry Friedman, councilman, acting as mayor in the absence of Matt McNeil, appointed himself to investigate why Pacific Power and Light Co. has apparently raised the cost of three light poles, recently installed in front of the Siskiyou County General Hospital. They were offered to the city last spring at a cost of $314.74. Friedman said, after reading a letter from PP&L, that the power company was adding $35.99 for one anchor; $22.51 for a down guy, and $50.21 for 930 feet of overhead wire to the original price. According to Friedman, it was his understanding when he and city building inspector Basil Ray were dealing with the California Oregon Power Co., prior to merger with PP&L, that the power company was adding $35.99 for one anchor; $22.51 for a down guy, and $50.21 for 930 feet of overhead wire to the original price. According to Friedman, it was his understanding when he and city building inspector Basil Ray were dealing with the California Oregon Power Co., prior to merger with PP&L, that the power company was adding $35.99 for one anchor; $22.51 for a down guy, and $50.21 for 930 feet of overhead wire to the original price. Friedman stated he would report his findings at the next meeting of the council, when all board members would be present. Councilman Charles Cooley was also absent. The council discussed an emergency cleanup of the city dump and considered a new dump maintenance plan for the next meeting. Councilman Ed Doyle reported he had many complaints about the burning of rubbish at night, and one night recently when he saw a big fire there he called the fire department to extinguish it. Doyle stated the dump manager quit the next day and the dump has not been taken care of properly since that time. The council requested city clerk-administrator Alton Taylor obtain estimates on the cost of repairs to the Veterans Hall to raise its condition to minimum standards as set by the city. Councilman Earl House pointed out that more and more people will be using the building this winter, and it should either be made fit for public use, "or looks put on the door." Amendments to the city's electric and plumbing code were introduced by the council, which will be discussed and passed on at a later meeting. Amendments restrict any electric or plumbing building or repair work to those with city licenses.

LAKIN MEMORIAL — Carl Myers, left, and Alex Pieruccini install a new fountain in front of McCLOUD Post Office in memory of B. W. Lakin, civic leader, who died in 1936 forest fire. Pieruccini was on the fire line when Lakin died.

Memorial To Observe Forest Fire Casualty

McCLOUD — In McCLOUD residents have kept alive the memory of B. W. Lakin, manager of McCLOUD River Lumber Company, who perished 25 years ago in a forest fire. After his death residents and organizations erected a native stone monument at the spot where he was found and placed a memorial drinking fountain in front of the McCLOUD post office. But time, use and nature's elements take their toll. This week on the eve of the Oct. 1, 1936, fire, the lumber company is repairing the monument and a new fountain is being installed. Lakin came to McCLOUD from Bemidji, Minn., to manage the lumber concern in 1925. He provided many community buildings, new homes, and was influential in acquiring two large tracts of timber, assuring the future operation of the lumber industry in McCLOUD.

Trucker Gets Jolt

MOUNT SHASTA — Ambrose Frank Wenker, Ashland truck driver, whose court record shows 33 traffic violations, was given a six-month sentence Monday and a 180-day sentence Tuesday by Judicial District Judge John Kinstry. They will run consecutively. Monday Wenker was charged with driving with a suspended driver's license. Tuesday the charge was for driving while under the influence of alcohol. The Ashland trucker's record ranged from overloads, 13 accidents, three suspensions of operator's permits, allowing unlicensed persons to operate his vehicle, wrong side driving and no signaling devices, according to the court. Judge Kinstry recommended that the defendant's license be permanently revoked.

School Flip Gets Okay

DUNSMUIR — Mrs. Josaveen Manning has been given permission by the Dunsmuir Elementary School Board to take her three children out of the Dunsmuir Elementary School and enroll them in the Mount Shasta School. Permission was given by the board after Mrs. Manning explained difficulties in getting her children to school although they reside within the school district. The family of seven children, three in elementary school, one in high school and three of pre-school age, live at the old Toy Factory, 10 miles from Dunsmuir over unimproved roads. Mrs. Manning said her children could remain with friends in Mount Shasta if storms kept her from making the daily round trip with them. Her younger children could also stay with friends until dismissal time for the older children. Acceptance of the out-of-district children will be up to the Mount Shasta board. The Dunsmuir board held a special meeting last week to consider Mrs. Manning's request.

Boy Scout Drive Set

DUNSMUIR—Annual Boy Scout drive in Dunsmuir will begin on Oct. 10 with J. Morgan Jones as drive chairman. Drive majors will meet for a planning session at breakfast Oct. 3 at the Travelers Hotel. These men who will enlist the help of others in the community are Gary Girdler, Bill Starkey, J. Bud Lachenmyer, Ivan Tucker, Judge A. A. Smith and R. L. Palmer. A second breakfast on Oct. 10 will launch the drive. Jud Compton of Medford, Crater Lake scout commissioner, and Lonny Johnson of Yreka, scout field worker, will assist in an advisory capacity. "Strong youth organizations help build a strong nation," J. Morgan Jones agreed in accepting the post of drive chairman.

Bishop Slates Dunsmuir Visit

DUNSMUIR — Rt. Rev. Bishop Clarence Haden of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern California will make his annual visit to St. Barnabas Episcopal Church of Dunsmuir on Monday, Oct. 2. Dinner for Bishop Haden and members of the church will be served by members of the guild at 6 p.m. and a discussion of church affairs will follow. A family supper party was a recent event at St. Barnabas Church. Forty-six attended the gathering, according to Mrs. F. F. Kohlbacker, chairman. The next guild project will be a "Next to New" sale at the Mason Harrison building on Oct. 27. Mrs. Harold N. Walsh is chairman.
