SP Derail Ties Line, Burns Car

DUNSMUIR — Southern Pacific Railroad's main north-south line was tied up by a five freight-car derailment Saturday night. One car which left the track, loaded with lumber, burst into flame, but SP crews working with Mount Shasta Fire District firemen quickly controlled the blaze. The accident occurred between Upton and Dietz, five miles north of Mount Shasta about 7:30 p.m. Traffic was resumed by 3 a.m. Southern Pacific said the derailment was probably caused by a burned out journal. U.S. Forest Service personnel aided firefighters on the scene.

Vidler Rites Set Oct. 4

YREKA — Funeral services will be held for Keith Vidler, 72, prominent resident, Wednesday, Oct. 4, at 2 p.m. from St. Mark's Episcopal Church, with Rev. John Martin officiating. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery. Friends may contribute to the St. Mark's Memorial Fund in his memory. Mr. Vidler died Sunday, Oct. 1, in the Veterans Administration Hospital in San Francisco, after a long illness.

History Of Yreka Swimming Pool Traced By 'Woman Of The Year' YREKA — Mrs. Lee (Kay) Morford, who was named Business and Professional Women's Club "Woman of the Year" last week, traced the long and sometimes colorful history of the municipal swimming pool of which she served as manager for many years. The old pool will soon be no more, Mrs. Morford said, for through a memorial request to the city, Yreka will receive a new "swimmin' hole" by next season. Negotiations and a movement to build the old structure began on Aug. 18, 1929, she said, when the Ross Nelson Post of the American Legion asked the city's board of directors if it would accept a completed natatorium. The city agreed, and the date of summer, 1921, was set as the opening. Fund raising, however, proved to be a stumbling block, and the committee of the legion was still putting on dances and shows in 1922. In March, 1923, the local paper printed a plea for residents to turn out to help with excavation. The article added, "if you can't work, then contribute $8 for two days labor." As the momentum of the community project picked up, excavation actually got under way in May, 1923. Formal dedication of the American Legion Ross Nelson Post Memorial Pool was held Sunday, Aug. 19, 1923 — two years after the first estimate of completion. "It was a truly gala affair," Mrs. Morford said, "with the Yreka-Montague band on hand to furnish music. Clyde Turner, commander of Ross Nelson Post a gave Robert Nixon, under-sheriff, gave addresses in commemoration of the pool." The president of the local chamber of commerce and Roy Schoen, Yreka mayor, officiated at the laying of the corner stone. "There were 175 bathers that Sunday," Mrs. Morford recalls. "The pool made a profit of $43 its first day of operation." Lawrence Schully was in charge of the pool.

Fund Drive Recruits Two

Dr. A. H. Newton, campaign general chairman of the Siskiyou County Hospital Building Fund, announced today that he had recruited Sen. Randolph Collier and Hal Chaney as his two vice chairmen. The two vice chairmen will serve directly under the general chairman, and each will supervise certain divisions of the campaign. Senator Collier will supervise the Major Gifts Division, the Medical Gifts Division, the Area Division, and the Government Division. Chaney will supervise the Business and Professional Division, the Women's Division, the Employees' Division, the Hospital Division, and the Clubs and Organizations Division. Newton said, "the campaign will get underway the latter part of October, run through the month of November, and be concluded on Dec. 6. "It is our hope," he said, "that everyone will participate in this important project, which affects every person, since there is no assurance that you or I may not need the hospital tomorrow, or another day, because of an accident, or for some other reason." Pledges to the building fund may be paid over a three-year period, and all contributions are tax deductible, within the prescribed limits, when figuring your income tax.

College Opens Finance Course

WEED — College of the Siskiyou here, in cooperation with the county Realty Board and the State Division of Real Estate, will hold a course in Real Estate Finance. Classes will be conducted on the campus Monday from 7 - 10 p.m. Registration will be held at the first class session Oct. 2 in Room H3. Instructing will be Howard Jones, city attorney for Dunsmuir and practicing lawyer. Two units of college credit are awarded for the course; tuition will be $2.50.

SIGN WEATHERS WELL — This new appearing sign showing the way to Sisson (changed to Mount Shasta in 1923) was found nailed to a fir tree 14 miles out of Mount Shasta. The sign is in good shape.

Sign Misleads -- Shasta Not 'Sisson' Anymore

MOUNT SHASTA — A shiny new-appearing metal sign nailed to an old fir tree 14 miles out of Mount Shasta is the cause of much speculation these days. Behind the sign painter was the time, the U.S. Forest Service metal trail marker cannot be less than 38 years old. Many think it's nearly, if not entirely, half a century old. What caused the stir is the sign points left to Sisson, with a mile beyond the sign to Dead-fall Lakes. The lakes are still there, but Sisson was voted out of existence in 1923, when the town's name was changed to Mount Shasta City. Lending credence to the belief that the sign was put up longer than the name change is the indication of old blaze marks in the sign tree. The bark-covered area surrounding the slashes could not have extended so far unless there were many years for it to grow. Precipitation in the region around the sign is heavy. Too, bears and porcupines destroy signs. Yet not a scratch can be found on the sign. Neither are there any bullet holes, or other damage usually associated with hunters. Some say this is because little hunting is actually done in the area of the sign. Others have brought up another practical question. They want to know what brand of paint it was that stood the weathering so well.

Siskiyou Aid Jump Small

YREKA — Siskiyou County welfare expenditures in August added up to a total of $98,137, which indicated a slight increase over July expenditures of $97,743, according to W. M. van Over, director of the welfare department. In August $3,440 was spent in general relief, as compared to the July figure of $2,665. More than 1,500 persons received general aid, including 613 in aid to needy children, and 749 in old age security. During the month of August $80,246 was spent on OAS. The $28,836 of this was paid out of federal funds, $26,922 stated funds, and $4,487 county funds. Of the $26,989 received by needy children, $11,069 came from federal, $10,678 state, and $5,141 county. Total aid to needy blind was $3,331, of which the federal government paid $1,386; the state $1,600, and county $336. Aid to the disabled totaled $4,031. The federal funds gave $1,800; the state $1,904, and $317 Schully was in charge of the pool.

Yreka Truck Man Guilty

YREKA — Joe Thomason, Yreka trucking operator, was found guilty on Friday of failure to pay wage earner deductions for state disability insurance within the time prescribed by law. Thomason appeared in Yreka Justice Court before Judge James B. McAdams, who gave him a 90-day suspended sentence and placed him on two years' probation. Thomason pleaded guilty to the charges after paying the $287.68 delinquent tax. He was ordered by McAdams to properly file and pay returns during his probationary period and to report he had done so each time to the court. The complaint against Thomason was signed by Harold Rimmer, auditor for the Department of Employment.

California's Cabinet Gets Ready For Work

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown's newly reorganized administration opened its doors for business today with a policy-making cabinet and eight "super agency" chiefs. Brown unveiled the cabinet and its agency heads, four of them authorized by statute, Saturday as part of a governmental reorganization program adopted by the 1961 Legislature. Purpose of the plan was to coordinate the activities of some 350 departments, boards and commissions. The selection of three of the four statutory "super agency" chiefs came as no surprise. But there was one newcomer to state government — Samuel Leask Jr., 67, who will head the Health and Welfare Agency. Leask is former city administrative officer of Los Angeles. The other three $25,000-a-year administrators authorized by the Legislature are: —Richard A. McGee, 64, former director of corrections, now chief of the Youth and Adult Corrections Agency. —Robert B. Bradford, 52, former director of public works, now administrator of the Highway Transportation Agency. —William E. Warne, 56, Natural Resources Agency administrator, who will continue as director of water resources. Limited Authority Brown said that authority of the four non-statutory agency heads not covered by legislation would be "tightly limited." "But to have a workable cabinet," Brown said, "someone must represent each of the major areas of state government at our meetings." The four non-statutory cabinet members, who will also keep their current jobs and receive no extra pay, are: —Hale Champion, 39, finance director and now revenue and management administrator. —Preston Silbaugh, 43, savings and loan commissioner who also becomes administrator of business and commerce. —John F. Jenning, 45, director of industrial relations and now employment relations administrator. —Bradford Crittenden, 49, state highway patrol commissioner, who also becomes public safety administrator.

Phone Rate Jump Eyed

DORRIS — A decision on whether telephone rates of the Dorris Telephone Company will be raised is expected from the California Public Utilities Commission within six weeks, the company announced Friday. President Robert Edgar of Dorris Telephone said the decision is expected in about six weeks, and any changes in present rates will become effective within 30 days of the announcement. The PUC hearing was held at Dorris City Hall Wednesday into the Dorris Telephone Company's request for increases on Dorris and Macdoel exchanges. Presiding at the session was PUC Examiner F. Everett Emerson. Neil C. Hasbrook of California Independent Telephone Association, presented the local company's complaint. In addition, four ex-officio cabinet members were named. They are Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson, Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, Roy E. Simpson, superintendent of public instruction, and Dr. John Richards, director of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education. No budget appropriation covers the four statutory administrators' salaries. Brown ordered that their salaries be paid from savings derived from consolidating the various departments and subgroups. Brown noted the cabinet would not replace the governor's council, which includes all department heads. The council, however, will not set policy. The governor said he would name replacements for McGee as corrections director and Bradford as public works director "within a short time."

History Preservation Asked By U.S. Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Park Service today urged the preservation of historic buildings in old Sacramento that are threatened by proposed routes of the North-South Freeway. The park service, in a report released by the Interior Department, said only the so-called route "Z" west of the Sacramento River in Yolo County, would not affect old Sacramento. "Any of the other routes on the east side of the river would require demolition or removal of old buildings of considerable historic interest and value, not only to Sacramento but to the entire nation," the report said. The report asked for "determined efforts" to avoid destruction of the buildings. The report cited the Big Four House and the Pony Express terminal as of "particular value" and eligible to be registered as national historic landmarks.
