

Pels Seek To End Grants Pass Domination

By FLOYD WYNNE
A 12-year domination may come to an end Friday night when the KUHS Pelicans invade the lair of the Grants Pass Cavemen in a vital Southern Oregon Conference clash.

The Pels have not defeated Grants Pass on the gridiron since 1949. That year they whipped the Cavemen at Grants Pass by a 29 to 21 score.

Coach Bob Williams' Whitebirds hit Grants Pass this time with a 3 and 1 record on the victory side while Coach Mel Ingram's club just notched its first victory last week. As a matter of fact the Cavemen had not scored until last Friday when they manhandled Del Norte, Calif., 25 to 0.

The Pelicans, in turn, were handing Eureka's Loggers, a highly rated California club, a 27 to 14 setback in a combination running and passing victory.

Only blemish on the KF record this season has been their one-point 13 to 12 defeat at the hands of the Vikings of North Salem.

Off comparative opponents, the Pels rate a favorite over Grants

Pass, but when the clash comes under the lights at Grants Pass Friday night all odds can be safely thrown out the window.

Klamath beat Marshfield in the season's opener by 14 to 6, and two weeks later the Pirates whipped Grants Pass 6 to 0. However, indications are that the Cavemen have picked up momentum since last week, and will be soaring when they host Klamath Friday night.

Coach Williams said all players came through the Eureka game without any crippling injuries, and all players will be set to go. Williams said, "We've had some colds this week, but nothing that should hold us back. Bill Kemnitzner who suffered an injured knee just before the Ashland game should be back and Jim Kaler, reserve end, is still hobbling on a sprained ankle, but other than that we are ready to go."

This will be the first of two crucial weekends for Klamath. Next weekend they entertain Medford in a Homecoming game on Modoc Field. The Pels need those two wins to capture district honors, something they haven't done in many years.

When queried as to whether his charges were looking a week up the calendar at the game with the Black Tornado, the state's number one team, Williams replied, "We're playing our games one at a time, and right now it's Grants Pass."

The Pel-Cavemen rivalry rivalry goes back to 1915 when the two schools first tangled in football. In that initial game, Grants Pass won 25-13 over a Klamath squad coached by Vernon Mutschbacher.

Klamath holds an edge in the overall series which will see its 49th renewal Friday night. In the previous 48 games, Klamath Falls has won 27 and Grants Pass 21.

Friday night's game has been proclaimed a "must" victory for the Pelicans if they hope to climb back into the piskin picture in the state after an absence that runs back almost 10 years.

Owls Work On New Offense Patterns For Vikings

By FLOYD WYNNE
With three pre-conference games under their belt, the Oregon Tech Owls attempt to storm the Portland State Vikings this weekend in their conference opener.

The Owls have captured two of their three encounters thus far, losing only to Whitworth at Spokane, and last weekend rolling over an invading gang of Chokers from Grays Harbor by a 14 to 0 score.

The Techmen's defense needs little polishing since it has shown itself capable of handling just about anything, but the offense pattern needs some versatility.

Coach Rex Hunsaker is quick to note this fact, and the emphasis in practice sessions for the Viking encounter has been on opening up the brand of football the Owls play into a wider array of passing and running combinations.

The Owls have corrected a pass defense deficiency that cost them heavily in their loss to Whitworth, and indications are that Portland State will resort to an aerial game in an effort to score their first win of the season.

However, the Owl defense has firmed up in this department, and will be ready for the pass-catching ability of Billy White, ace Roseburg High back, and now one of the top men for the Vikings.

The Owls came out of their Grays Harbor clash without any crippling injuries and should be at full strength for the initial OCC League outing. Harvey Graham, halfback freshman from Grants Pass, should be available for full time duty, Hunsaker indicated.

Allen, another freshman, from Springfield, will be out of action with a bad ankle. However, Lanny Myers, former St. Helens star, may be ready for action again, and Bud Maupin, Merrill, should be ready to take on additional assignments also.

Ranson may prove the additional offensive difference needed by the Owls. He completed eight of 22 tosses last Saturday for 73 big yards, and with ends like Roger Hooper and Jack Fox for targets, he should improve on that mark against Portland State.

Hunsaker was confident of his club's ability to defeat Portland State, but admitted that the Vikings were a club to be reckoned with and could prove a tough stumbling block in their own backyard.

He was especially pleased, however, by the performance of nine freshmen who saw action in the Saturday victory, and pointed out that they were pushing the starting assignments and would make the veterans in certain slots keep stepping to stay ahead.

Stan Glass, operating like a well-oiled Sherman tank last weekend, was ready to go back to work when pounded the yardage when needed. Glass slipped off 90 yards from scrimmage in the clash with the Chokers and dominated the offensive play of the game.

The Owl's chances will hinge on OCC Champion will repeat to a great extent on how they fare against the Vikings when they meet Saturday night in Portland.

West Coast Football Briefs

Coast Football Briefs

By United Press International
BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — California's number one quarterback, Randy Gold, will be ready for his first game of the season Saturday when the Bears meet Missouri at Columbia, Mo.

Gold has been out of action thus far this season with a knee injury. The Bears worked out two hours Wednesday, polishing off defensive plays and shoring up their defense.

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The Stanford football team worked out for almost three hours under the lights Wednesday night in preparation for Saturday's game with Michigan State in Michigan.

Thirty nine gridderers left today for East Lansing, Mich. The Indians' only doubtful starter is halfback Larry Boyce, who recently had a tooth pulled.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — San Jose State tackle Jim Cadile was back on the practice field today and coach Bob Titchenal was hopeful he would be in shape for Saturday night's game against Colorado State.

Cadile has been out with illness since the season opener.

Halfback Mack Burton, his knee ailment improved, alternated with Larry Doss during Wednesday's drill without pads.

Assistant coach Phil McHugh, who scouted the Gophers last week, reported that they have "the most destructive defense I've ever seen."

The Ducks drilled on ways to get around that defense Wednesday.

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — The Oregon State Beavers are in good physical shape for their Saturday meeting with Idaho, but pranksters are chipping away at their morale.

Since last Saturday's drubbing by Stanford, the Beavers have received an onslaught of criticism. The latest was in the form of a telegram from citizens of Molalla, Ore., challenging the Beavers to meet the local high school team.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Halfback Charlie Mitchell was back on the University of Washington varsity today, but Martin Wyatt and Bob Monroe still occupied the first string backfield berths.

Coach Jim Owens had Wyatt at fullback instead of Jim Stiger, with Monroe at halfback in place of Dave Kopyay. The Huskies ran off a variety of contact drills Wednesday. They meet Pittsburgh this weekend.

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Idaho coach Skip Stahley isn't taking any chances. He ran the Vandals through a light drill Wednesday, because "we can't afford to have anyone hurt."

The Vandals worked out for 30 minutes against Oregon State pass formations. They meet the Beavers at Corvallis Saturday.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Another two-hour passing drill was scheduled today for the Southern California Trojans as coach John McKay worked on his team's passing game in preparation for the Iowa game.

McKay kept quarterbacks Bill Nelsen and Pete Beathard throwing hard in workouts Wednesday and the two found their marks about two-thirds of the time. Ends Phil Hoover and Ben Rosin and fleet halfback Willie Brown were the principal targets.

McKay said the Hawkeyes, a team he rated as perhaps the fastest eleven in the nation, would probably face Brown on both offense and defense because of his speed and injuries to other players.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The UCLA Bruins were scheduled to leave early this afternoon for Columbus, Ohio, and their match Saturday with the Ohio State Buckeyes.

During drills Wednesday the Bruins warmed up their passing arms in case their heralded running game should be stopped as it was last week at Michigan.

Bobby Smith, the Bruins' top tailback, together with Mike Hallner and Keith Jensen, did most of the throwing. Jensen was impressive.

Tackle Tony Fiorentino, injured against Michigan, will make the trip to Columbus, but it was uncertain how much he would play.
