Nuptial Mass Unites Couple

WEED—Nuptial Mass was read by the Rev. Father Francis Sullivan, Yreka, for the wedding here of Lina Anna Foggiano and Frank Talerico Jr., at noon Saturday, Aug. 19. White gladioli banked the altar of the Holy Family Catholic Church for the double ring ceremonies. The Rev. Manion, Yreka, sang during the mass, accompanied by Mrs. Virgil Groppi, organist.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Foggiano, Hill, the bride, carrying her bouquet of a white orchid and cascading stephanotis interspersed with ivy leaves, was escorted and given in marriage by her father.

Her white wedding gown was of hand clipped Chantilly lace over taffeta. The bodice featured a scalloped sweetheart neckline embroidered in pearls and iridescent sequins; the long sleeves tapered at the wrists. The bouffant skirt was fashioned with a front panel of lace in three-quarter length and formed to a V-point over the tulle underskirt edged with a wide flounce of scalloped lace.

A miniature crown of pearls held the bride's bouffant veil of hand rolled silk illusion that fell to her waist.

Mrs. John Warren of Brisbane, Calif., was matron of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Florie Talerico, and Jean Kiser, Yreka, were bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical ballerina length dresses of pink silk organza and lace over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodices with scalloped necklines and three-quarter length sleeves of lace. Bouffant skirts were set off with cummerbunds accented in the back with bows of silk organza. Leaves and pearls entwined with loops of hairbraid were in matching pink and held pink circular veils for their headpieces. They each carried pink carnation bouquets.

Vincent Talerico, a brother of the bridegroom, performed best man honors. Another brother, Joseph of Richmond, and Johnny Foggiano, Palo Alto, brother of the bride, were ushers for the 200 guests attending the late summer wedding.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Talerico Sr., of Weed. His mother wore white accessories with a navy blue lace and taffeta frock and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Foggiano chose an ice blue lace and taffeta frock with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Pink and white wedding bells were the decor arrangements complementing St. Michael's Hall for the reception held immediately following the ceremonies. Centerpieces for the tables were arrangements of pink flowers.

A buffet dinner was served the many friends and relatives attending the wedding and reception and was followed by the traditional cutting of the wedding cake by the bridal couple.

Pink satin bells topped the five tier wedding cake, served later by Mrs. Fred Johnston, Yreka.

Carol Sauer, Yreka, carried the guest book and Kathy Talerico, a cousin of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl.

Confetti was passed by the newly wedded couple before their departure for their honeymoon.

For travel the bride changed to a pink sheath dress and white accessories and wore the orchid from her bouquet as her corsage.

Following their return from Lake Tahoe and Squaw Valley, the new Mr. and Mrs. Talerico are now at home in the Farnea Apartments.

The bride was graduated from Yreka High School and attended Chico State College. She plans to attend the College of the Siskiyous this semester.

The bridegroom was graduated from Weed High School and Chico State College and will teach in the Weed Union Elementary School.

District Garden Meet Draws Record Crowd

More than 100 members and guests of the Klamath District Oregon Federation of Garden Clubs assembled at the fairgrounds Thursday, Sept. 21, for the fall luncheon and flower arrangement demonstration by Mrs. William J. Harris of Chico, Mrs. Chester Main of Tulelake, district director, presided. Klamath Falls Garden Club served as hostess with Mrs. Otto Bieber, president, and Mrs. B. C. Johnson, general chairman.

The quantities of chrysanthemums decorating the hall were contributed by Mrs. Louella Kucera, local grower on Summers Lane.

In addition to making many arrangements, Mrs. Harris, guest speaker, discussed the importance of grooming flowers for exhibition purposes, and suggested methods of transporting tender blossoms to flower shows. She displayed foliage treated for permanence with the time-tested glycerine and water formula—two parts water to one part glycerine. The addition of red ink to the mixture imparts a pinkish tint to eucalyptis foliage.

Attending the conclave from Portland was Mrs. A. H. Mason, president of the Oregon Federation of Garden Clubs. In her message to club members she stressed "togetherness" which is her theme and urged clubs to promote junior participation in every phase of gardening. Mrs. Mason's goal is an ever-increasing number of junior garden clubs. She requested that every new junior club be reported to her immediately upon being organized. Members have the opportunity through extensive work in therapy to earn a life membership in the federation, according to Mrs. Mason.

"World Gardening," Mrs. Mason reminded members, "is the slogan of the National Council president, Mrs. B. Nettleton of Virginia. It is Mrs. Nettleton's desire that all garden clubs work together in this program by sending seeds, bulbs and transportable shrubs and trees to Japan to aid in the restoration of Japan's arboretum which, prior to the war bombing, ranked as one of the world's finest." Clubs may contact Mrs. Maurice Judd, state chairman of World Gardens, or Mrs. Joe Wolf, 5437 Pleasant Point, Bellevue, Wash., Pacific regional coordinator.

In the district achievement contest, community service is not to sign projects sponsored by the Sears, Roebuck and Company. All achievements of individual members or the club as a whole, if not included in the achievement file of the state directory, are to be added to this list in making application for the achievement award.

It was suggested that a new bird chairman be appointed each club year. A committee to assist in landscaping Maple Park in Klamath Falls was appointed. It includes Mrs. Lane Smith Jr., Mrs. Robert Holl and Mrs. Chester Main.

The nominating committee consists of Mrs. Jay Fairclou and Mrs. Lester Urbach of Klamath Falls, and Mrs. William Rush of Alturas. Mrs. C. C. Heidrich was appointed to replace Mrs. Glenn Ferguson who resigned as therapy chairman.

Tentative plans were made to engage a speaker on flower arrangement from the Bay Area in the spring of 1962.

We The Women

The Jackie Look Is Gone; We're Ourselves Again

Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

By the way, what ever became of the Jackie Kennedy Look? It just occurred to me the other day when glancing through the latest fashion magazines that I hadn't heard anything about the Jackie Look lately.

Not only that, all those carbon copies of the First Lady that blossomed on Main Streets throughout the land seem to have faded away along with the last roses of summer—both the ones in the store windows and the ones walking along the street.

Even the models in the advertisements have gone back to being themselves, instead of Jackie Juniors.

What happened, I suppose, is that the Jackie Look had such a swift and sudden vogue it couldn't last. Just as we quickly got sick of women looking like sacks in their sack dresses, we quickly tired of seeing Jackie Kennedys every place we looked.

And just as we threw out the sacks and went back to a little individuality and variety in cloth we've left the Jackie look to Jackie and have decided to go back to being ourselves.

who are glad to see that the Jackie Look had such a short vogue, the gladdest must be Jackie Kennedy, herself.

For it would be frustrating to any woman to work hard to emphasize her own individuality—and then to suddenly find the look she had made her own staring back at her from models, shop girls, waitresses, matrons, and magazine cover girls.

I, for one, am happy that we have given the Jackie Look back to Jackie. On her it looks good. But you couldn't say the same for most of the carbon copies.
