

AAUW Tea, Faculty Wives Coffee Highlight Autumn Social Scene

The Julian Eccles home, 220 Conger Avenue, was the scene of the AAUW fall tea Sept. 23 honoring new members of the group. Above, Mrs. Glenn C. Miller, center, president of Klamath Falls Branch, greets Carol Armstrong, one of the new members. With Mrs. Miller is Mrs. Richard Newman, vice president.

SOCIETY

By Helen Bechen
Herald and News
Klamath Falls, Oregon
Sunday, Oct. 8, 1961

Pouring at the tea table, centered with lavender and white marigolds and calendulas, is Mrs. A. H. Patterson Jr., a past president of AAUW. In the background is Mrs. Victor O'Neill.

Members and guests attending the AAUW tea are shown above in the spacious living room of the Eccles home. Seated on the patio at left, Mrs. Julian Eccles, left, and Mrs. Robert Stalker, right, enjoy a brief respite from their duties as tea co-chairmen. With them is young Jill Eccles. Pictured at the right, Mrs. Victor Stockebrand, left, and Mrs. Fred Krauel were among the new members honored at the tea.
—AAUW Photos by Glenn Walker

An informal coffee hour at the home of Mrs. Charles Woodhouse, 530 Hillside, opened the new season for the City Faculty Wives Club. Fall flowers, arranged by Mrs. Lyle Matoush, centered the table. Pictured, left to right, are Mrs. James Johnson, Mrs. Gary Robertson, Mrs. Charles Woodhouse, Mrs. David Davis, Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Willard McKinny.

Among the 35 guests at the Faculty Wives Club coffee were, left to right, Mrs. James Buehler, Mrs. Gordon Hart, Mrs. LaMar Jensen and Mrs. Dor Herbig. Club officers, Mrs. Davis, president; Mrs. Matoush, vice president, and Mrs. James Johnson, secretary-treasurer, were assisted with party plans by Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Woodhouse, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Howard Strode and Mrs. McKinny. Photos were taken by a student team of Toby Schuh, Jack Franklin and Dwight Schuh.