

Murder Suggested in UN Diplomat's Death

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee has suggested that U.N. diplomat Povl Bang-Jensen's death in 1959 may have been murder instead of suicide as police ruled.

The Senate group said Monday night that Bang-Jensen, assistant secretary of the U.N. investigation of the 1957 Hungarian revolt, may have been the victim of a "political murder" by Soviet "terror apparatus."

In a report on an inquiry headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. the subcommittee said:

"There are too many solid arguments against suicide, too many unanswered questions, too many serious reasons for suspecting Soviet motivation and the possibility of Soviet implication.

"About the most that can be said on the basis of the information available today is that it is still unclear whether it was suicide or murder."

Security Measures Lax

The subcommittee also charged that the United Nations' security measures were "dangerously lax."

Bang-Jensen, a Dane, was suspended from his U.N. post after he refused to turn over a list of Freedom Fighter witnesses who had testified on condition that their identities would not be disclosed.

The witnesses feared Communist officials at the United Nations would learn their identities and order reprisals against their relatives in Hungary.

On Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 26, 1959, Bang-Jensen was found dead in Alley Pond Park, New York. There was a bullet through his head. His own gun was in his hand and a suicide note, which the New York police said was in his handwriting, was found in his wallet.

Sought Out Ike, Dulles

The subcommittee said Bang-Jensen several times offered to supply President Eisenhower or Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, with data on Communist infiltration of the U.N. high command and of U.S. intelligence.

The evidence never was presented although, according to a version of the subcommittee testimony, it involved the offer of a group of Communists to defect to the United States.

The Senate report concluded that there was "a lamentable example of procrastination and indecision" in dealing with Bang-Jensen's request that he be allowed to give data to top men in U.S. intelligence.

Grand Jury Given Case

One man was bound over to the grand jury last Friday after a district court preliminary hearing and another man was released when his hearing disclosed a lack of evidence.

Gilbert R. Marshall, 30, of Hoopa, Calif., was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of being an ex-convict in possession of a firearm by District Judge Hal F. Coe. Bail is set at $1,500.

Marshall was arrested Sept. 22 by city police, who said he had a .22 caliber revolver stuck in his belt. The arrest was made at Ole's Tavern on Main Street. Marshall admitted serving prison time on a larceny charge three years ago.

An aggravated assault charge against Fort E. Proctor, 54-year-old Newell man, was dismissed when Judge Coe ruled that there was not enough evidence to pass the case on to the grand jury. Proctor, a tractor driver, had been accused of beating his wife in a complaint signed by her.

Communist Party Here Called Tool Of Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another long round of legal wrangling shaped up today in the government's fight to make the Communist party register as a tool of Russia.

The Supreme Court ushered in the new round Monday when it refused to reconsider its June 5 decision that the party must register.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy

promptly announced "we will enforce the law." Communist party leaders said they would defy the ruling.

The attorney general has said he expects a long battle through the courts to obtain compliance with the 1950 Internal Security Act, which the Supreme Court upheld.

Party Must Register

Under that law, the Communist party must register with the Justice Department within 30 days after the court's mandate becomes final.

The mandate is expected to become final about 10 days from today.

If the party fails to register, it faces criminal prosecution and fines of $10,000 a day for each day it fails to register.

If the party defies the law, the act orders registration of individual officers—the 18-member national executive committee—with in the 10 succeeding days. If they don't register they would be subject to the same fines and five years in jail.

Bankrupt Party

If neither the party nor its officers register, individual party members would be required to register within 60 days after the order becomes effective.

The practical result would be to bankrupt the party and send its officers to jail if there is no registration.

Justice Department officials said the Communists have been meeting with their attorneys daily to plan legal maneuvers. They are expected to take every individual case through the longest possible legal maze.

The act the court upheld, in addition to registration, also calls for disclosure of finances and lobbying of its propaganda as such.

Youth Asked To Compete

Klamath Falls youths have been invited to participate in the state-wide art competition being sponsored by the Citizens for Art Committee.

A Nov. 18 deadline has been set for the contest which is open to high school sophomores, juniors and seniors. Five cash prizes will be awarded and the outstanding paintings displayed at Portland's Loyer Gallery in the Lloyd Center during the Christmas holidays.

Entries should be sent to Dorra Lee, 5006 N. Denver Street, Portland 17. Judging will be by two professional artists, a high school educator, a college instructor and an advertising art instructor.

Weed Police Catch Youth

The second of two young men sought by Klamath County authorities on a larceny charge was arrested last Friday in Weed.

Dickie Lee Hitchcock, 20, Mount Shasta, was arrested by sheriff's deputies on warrant charging larceny in a building, Richard Gordon, 25, Saguinaw, Ore., is already in custody on the same charge. Bail for each man is set at $2,500.

The pair is charged with stealing a camp stove, some ammunition and gunpowder from a warehouse at 3444 Lindbergh Street owned by Charles D. Fryor. An indictment was returned Aug. 4 by the grand jury.

Ocean Air Tests Seen

SEATTLE (AP) — The United States may conduct nuclear tests in the atmosphere over the Pacific Ocean next year, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said Monday.

Such tests might include the firing of Nike-Zeus anti-missile missiles against other missiles, Jackson said.

"We have weapons systems which haven't been tested, including some components of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile," he said in an interview. "And there is a strong possibility that the Soviet Union also has developed an anti-missile missile."

Jackson was also asked about competition between government and private shipyards for shipyard work.

"The yard that can do the work should get the job," he said. "The Puget Sound Naval Shipyard at Bremerton, for instance, will play an important part in the repair and maintenance of nuclear submarines because it is best equipped for the job."

Vandals Hit On Weekend

Cold weather failed to slow up thieves and vandals this weekend, according to reports received this weekend by city police. These reports were investigated:

Jim Novak, 1919 Manzanita Street, said someone removed the battery from his car Sunday night while it was parked in the Safe-way Store parking lot near the corner of Eighth and High streets. He valued the battery at $15.

Mrs. Edward Zajac, 1100 California Avenue, told police a thief went into her kitchen Sunday evening and stole $2.50, a half gallon of milk and two candy bars from the kitchen sink.

Wayne Reinmiller said a suspicious man was seen driving around his trucks. He said a truck tire was slashed and a hole poked in a radiator on Saturday.

Lois Adkins, 1204 East Street, said her children found a girl's blue bicycle with chrome fenders at the corner of East and Crescent streets.

Moronic Males Can't Buy Suits

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I started to work in a men's clothing store recently. It opened my eyes in regard to the American male.

I had no idea that about 80 per cent of the men in this country are such moronic males. They can't buy a suit without advice from a wife, a mother, or a girl friend. They need someone to tell them what looks good, which fabrics wear, how a suit ought to fit, and how much money they can spend.

If a man likes a certain suit and the female he brings in likes another one, you can bet he will end up with the suit she likes.

Please, Ann, print this letter as a protest against men bringing women in when they buy clothing. The salesmen hate it.

—HOUSTON HARRY

Dear Houston: You can be sure when a man and woman come into a men's clothing store together, she brought him. A great many men would never buy a suit or a coat if they had to shop alone.

The woman who cares enough about her man to shop with him demonstrates genuine interest. This is a compliment and no man should resent it. I phoned several salesmen before I wrote this reply. One said, "I don't like to see a wife come in with her husband because I know I can't sell him last year's dog."

Dear Ann Landers: Three years ago I married a widow. Her son is now 24 and he lives with us.

Both my wife and stepson work. He makes at least as much as I do. I am a fireman. They put their checks away and I pay all the bills. The boy buys his own clothes and keeps his car up. Last month the telephone bill was $28. The kid made several long distance calls to his girl. I told my wife I thought he should pay the bill. She said it was the responsibility of the husband to pay all household bills.

What do you think of this setup?—B.H.

Dear B.H.: Not much. When a husband and wife both work the checks should be pooled and the expenses shared.

And a 24-year-old is no "kid"—he's a grown man. Not only should he be paying for his own long distance telephone calls, but he should fork over at least 25 per cent of his pay check.

Dear Ann: You may think I'm crazy to write about Christmas now but I want to be prepared in advance.

Our 14-year-old daughter is fascinated with her Aunt Mazie and wants to visit her during Christmas vacation. Mazie is my wife's youngest sister. She has been divorced twice and is now living with a well-to-do gambler in Detroit. They live like millionaires and I'm sure the glamour would appeal to our daughter.

When Mazie was here she told our daughter that marriage is for suckers and smart girls live with men until the shine wears off, then they shove off for "greener pastures." Mazie drinks like a fish and has served time for forging checks.

I'm opposed to letting our daughter make this trip but my wife feels she should see all sides of life. I need your help.

—TWO TO ONE

Dear Two To: No teen-ager should visit in the home of an unmarried couple. By sending her, you condone Aunt Mazie's indecent design for living. Tell your daughter she can't visit people who have such shabby standards of morality.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NY's Mayor Candidates Debate

NEW YORK (AP) — The two major party candidates for mayor borrow a page from last year's presidential election for a television debate tonight.

Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner and his Republican opponent, State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, go before the cameras of WPIX, the New York Daily News television station.

Each candidate will be asked seven questions by New York City reporters. They will have two minutes to reply to each. Then the candidates will be given one minute of rebuttal on each question.

Wagner, 51, and seeking a third $40,000 a year term in City Hall, won the Democratic nomination Sept. 7 as an insurgent, beating by nearly 2-1 the regular party candidate, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt. In the process, Wagner ended the reign of Carmine DeSapio as head of Tammany, second choice of the Rockefeller forces, who originally tried to get Sen. Jacob K. Javits to run.

The mayor has based his campaign for reelection at the Nov. 7 election on charges that the city has been "unmercifully short-changed" by the Republican state administration of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in funds for education, crime prevention and housing.

Also, Wagner has continued to sound his primary battle cry against political bosses in both Democratic and Republican ranks.

Lefkowitz, 57, had no opposition in the primary for the Republican mayoralty nomination. He was
