

Yanks Finish Series, 13-5

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — It was that famed Yankee power that finally closed out the Reds. The Yankees got pitching to be sure. It wasn't the Whitey Ford type, but they didn't need it the way they hammered eight Cincinnati pitchers to win Monday's game, 13-5, closing out the series four games to one. It was the Yankees' 19th triumph in 26 World Series.

Series Outcome Justifies Yank Front Office Move

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — The New York Yankees are back on top of the baseball world — carried there for the first time in three years by a new manager and that old-fashioned Yankee power.

Scarcely had this super-charged team of sluggers completed the rout of the Cincinnati Reds with Monday's World Series clinching 13-5 victory than General Manager Roy Hamey and Manager Ralph Houk clasped hands in a gesture that cemented the new front office-manager combination for perhaps years to come.

"You did a tremendous job," Hamey told Houk. "I've never worked with a better fellow."

Moments later Hamey said that Houk, who took over the difficult job of following in the footsteps of Casey Stengel this year, will receive a substantial pay raise for the 1962 season. Houk, who got an estimated $35,000 this year, undoubtedly will be moved into the $50,000 class.

Yanks Battled To Win For Manager

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Ralph Houk's gone fishing — and while he's at it he can congratulate himself for not snapping at the bait of three other managerial offers last year.

A year ago this time, two clubs, the Detroit Tigers and Kansas City Athletics, were after Houk to become their manager.

Earlier during the 1960 season, the Boston Red Sox let it be known that he would be most welcome at Fenway Park, too.

Houk, then a coach with the Yankees, wanted more than anything else to become a major league manager. With the Yankees preferably, although the last thing he would do would be to step on Casey Stengel's toes.

The Yankees made the decision when they let go Casey.

No one, outside of the Yankee players perhaps, fully realized what winning the World Series Monday meant to Houk.

"I could talk from now until Christmas and I still couldn't explain how much it meant to me personally," said the elated ex-Army major after the Yankees mauled the Reds Monday.

"But don't make a big thing about how I feel," Houk pleaded. "That's not important to anyone but me. The players really did it all. I didn't get any hits."

Maybe so, but the Yankee players were so bent on "winning it for Ralph" that they sometimes resembled a college football team straining to win one for the coach.

"From the time this season started, the big thing with me was to help Ralph win anyway I could," said Mickey Mantle, before he took off for Dallas Monday during the ninth inning of the game.

Redleg Strategy Failure

CINCINNATI (AP) — This will be known as the series in which the Cincinnati Redlegs sent up 12 men to pinch hit—and got one double, which had no effect on the score.

In which the Redlegs issued five intentional walks to the Yankees—and on four occasions the next man hit safely, and on the fifth, pitcher Bud Daley raised a sacrifice fly that scored a run.

In which, with the Yankees leading 11-3 in the fifth game, Vada Pinson led off the fifth inning with a single to center and was easily thrown out at second when he tried to stretch it into a double. The Reds then went on to get two runs, which would have been three or more if Pinson had played it safe.

But when all was said and done, the Redlegs really never had a chance no matter what their strategy was.

The Yankees took the final game 13-5 Monday and the series 4-1 and the reason was Yankee batting power plus pitcher Whitey Ford, who achieved a series mark of 32 consecutive scoreless innings.

Furthermore, the Yankees won with little help from their big guns. Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle. Mantle played only one full game and part of another, and Maris was held in check by Redleg pitching except for the third game when his ninth-inning homer won for New York.

A 100-run first inning off Joey Jay, the Reds' 21-game winner who had won the second game of the series, started the Yankees on their way, with Blanchard hitting a two-run homer. It never was a contest after that, although the Reds did pull within three runs in the third inning when Frank Robinson hit a home run with two mates on base.

That chased Yankee starter Ralph Terry, but Bud Daley came in to put out the fire. The Reds scored two unearned runs off him, but they were far too late and far too little.

Daley received credit for the victory while Jay was charged with the defeat.

Bobby Richardson, whose .381 average was the best in the series, started the Yankees off on the right foot with a record-tying single. It was his ninth hit, tying such old timers as Home Run Baker, Eddie Collins, Heinie Groh and Joe Moore for the most hits in a five-game series.

Jay retired the next two batters but then the roof caved in. He tried to pick Richardson off first, but first baseman Gordon Coleman let the ball get away from him for an error and Richardson went to second.

Blanchard then blasted one into the right field bleachers. Then came a double by Elston Howard, a single by Bill Skowron — which

Ford Ranks High As World Series Hero

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Now that the smoke has cleared from the New York Yankees' massacre of the outgunned Cincinnati Reds, a whimsical pitcher with withering finesse, lefty Whitey Ford, stands as the 1961 World Series hero.

Ford broke a Babe Ruth pitching record and hamstrung the Reds with 14 innings of scoreless pitching while Roger (61-homer) Maris belted only one vital blow and Mickey Mantle contributed mainly medical reports in the series won by the Yanks, four games to one.

Ford, a chunky, twinkling-eyed chap of 32, won the series opener last Wednesday in New York with a two-hit, 2-0 shutout and was credited with a 7-0 fourth-game triumph he didn't finish Sunday.

Wind-upping the regular season with the majors' best record of 25-4—displayed delightful humor as well as superb pitching in tying the Redlegs into knots.

This was a wide open series for hero candidates. They popped from the width of the Yankee bench in varying degrees.

They included:

Big John Blanchard, whose .400 batting effort in a utility role included two extremely timely homers.

Bobby Richardson, who continued his amazing series hot hitting with a 9 for 23 record and a .391 average after collecting 11 for 30 and a .367 mark in the 1960 Yankee series' upset by the Pirates.

Another utility star, Hector Lopez, who slammed a home run, triple and single in 9 trips for the series RBI high of 7.

Cletis Boyer, the octopus-like third sacker, who hit when the chips were down.

And, to a certain extent, Maris, whose ninth-inning homer gave the Yankees a 3-2 triumph over the Reds in Saturday's third game, and Mantle, who played 11 painful innings with a festering right hip.

But, in the final analysis, it was the light-hearted, heavy-armed Ford who rang a loud mid-night alarm on Cincinnati's cinerella team.

Had Ford not suffered a badly

Dunsmuir Tigers Pick Up 2nd Win; Hayfork Next

DUNSMUIR — The Tigers invaded Trinity County on Friday night to pick up their second win of the season, defeating Weaverville 20-19 in the closing minutes of the game.

Dunsmuir set up the first score of the game in the second quarter by intercepting a Weaverville pass on the enemy 40. After a series of small gains, Beamer Hisey plunged over from the five-yard line. Hisey also ran the extra point.

Weaverville raced the clock for its initial touchdown. A 40-yard pass play, Jim Phillips, to Dave Crosswhite, put Weaverville on the scoreboard as the half ended. The extra point try failed and the half ended Dunsmuir 7, Weaverville 6.

Dunsmuir took the kick-off as the second half started and in eight plays drove to the five-yard line where Hisey again plunged over. He also accounted for the extra point.

The Trinity eleven snapped back and Phillips marched through the Dunsmuir middle for a 75-yard run and the second TD. The Tigers were able to fold the point try.

As the fourth quarter got underway, Phillips passed to Roger Carpenter for an eight-yard gain and another six points. The same play gave Weaverville an extra point and put them ahead 19-14.

Dunsmuir drove to the five-yard line but bogged down and Weaverville took over. The Tigers stiffened and Weaverville had to punt. Jim Nelson blocked the punt and Dunsmuir regained the ball on the eight-yard line. A little over-eager, the Tigers drew five yards for being offside, then moved to the two where Hisey scored on a fourth down play with seconds remaining in the game. The extra point try failed.

Hockey League Play Scheduled

BOSTON (AP) — The National Hockey League gets under way for its 45th season Wednesday night when last year's two weakest teams—the Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers—meet at Boston Garden.

The game could be billed as "new faces of 1961-1962." The Rangers have a new coach in former Montreal great Doug Harvey and four rookies. The Bruins, last season's cellar dwellers, have former New York Coach Phil Watson now in command and six rookies.

The rest of the league will open later this week, with the Stanley Cup champion Chicago Black Hawks hosting the Detroit Red Wings at Chicago Sunday night.

Thursday night the Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs open at Detroit, with Boston playing at New York. The Montreal Canadiens start their campaign Saturday night at the Forum against the Rangers, with the Bruins at Toronto.

Berra Sets Records In 1961 Play

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Yogi Berra, who sets a record every time he appears in a World Series game, didn't play in the New York Yankees' clincher Monday—but still managed to break nine records and equal two others.

Another Yankee "old pro", Whitey Ford, in addition to breaking Babe Ruth's 29 2-3 innings of scoreless pitching, set records in five other categories.

Berra, who was forced to sit out the fifth game of the series because of an injured right shoulder, now has included among his host of records: most series played (12), most games played (72), most hits (71), most singles (49) and most runs batted in (39). The Yankee slugger equalled marks for the most times being a member of a winning club as an active player (9) and most extra base hits for total series (22).

Ford set new marks for the most series games for pitcher (16), most series played for pitcher (8), most games won (9), most games started (16), and most strikeouts (70). The stubby left-hander also has a string of 32 scoreless innings going for him.

Bobby Richardson and Johnny Blanchard of the Yankees also got into the record act. Richardson equalled three records in a five-game series for the most at bats (23), most hits (9) and most singles (8). Blanchard tied two marks for a five-game series with most home runs (2) and most extra base hits (7).

Among the team marks equalled by the Yankees were seven homers and 24 walks during a five-game series.

New Leader In Big Five

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A wholesale shakeup in Big Five team statistics resulted from football games last weekend.

Six of eight categories have new leaders, with Southern California grabbing first in total offense, passing and scoring.

The Trojans, losers to Iowa 35-34, have ground out 982 yards, 431 yards in the air. They have scored 62 points.

Washington's Huskies have given up the least points, 37, and trail only USC in points scored with 48. Washington also leads in rushing offense with 635 yards and rushing defense with 584 yards allowed.

UCLA leads in two departments — total defense with 676 yards allowed and passing defense with 144 yards allowed.

Each Big Five team has played three non-conference games.

GOOD FOOD IS MY LINE

From time to time, "GOOD FOOD IN MY LINE" will pass on information regarding items of food which might interest you as much as they do me. Today we'll talk about carrots. It's hard to imagine, but every year, Americans eat 1-1/2 billion pounds of carrots. Because of this great demand, carrots have become a commercial crop in twenty-one states of the union. This vegetable can be harvested during every season of the year. Another fact about carrots is that they are not native to this continent. They were brought over here with the Jamestown settlers in 1600, and although the carrot is one of the primary sources of vitamin A, it has been a popular food only since the 1920's.
