

Cone Look Silhouette Introduced

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In this age of space cones it was only fitting and proper that somebody should introduce a cone-shaped fashion figure. So couturier Edward Abbott did it.

"This will be the look for you," he hopefully announced to buyers crowded into his elegant showroom for the first view of his spring collection.

"It's not high-waisted," Abbott said Tuesday before anyone could accuse him of just another Empire-inspired style. "But it's high-busted."

At any rate, Abbott's new silhouette nips in quite properly at the waistline and fits snugly all the way to the bosom, where a belt or a welt seam accents the latter. Shoulders are wide. Skirts taper to wide at the hem.

During the show, Abbott's models usually were properly covered with choker necklines and sleeves reaching the elbows. "The covered-up look is well bred," he pointed out.

But since a summer tan is useless without a bare back for display purposes, Abbott took some exception to the season by introducing a few costumes with deep scoops or V's in back. Still tiny jackets slipped over this flesh in a flash in order to redeem the well-bred appearance.

But fastening them up wasn't simple. Abbott, by taking a total of five minutes to manipulate the button-down-the-back jackets for the models, drove home the point that any woman with back buttons and zippers should think twice before divorcing a man.

As for the highly controversial sleeveless, collarless nothing dress made popular by Jackie Kennedy, Abbott has made something of it. He added beads, embroidery ball fringe and bright shades.

Albino versions joined his classic black crepe "cocktail mixer" dresses.
