

York Rite Conducts Initiation Saturday

Oregon Priory, Knights of the York Cross of Honor, will conduct initiation rites in Klamath Falls Saturday, Oct. 21, following a 6:30 p.m. banquet in the Masonic Temple.

The honorary organization of Masons is composed of men who have served as presiding officers of the York Rite Masonic bodies. This is the second time the Oregon state group has ever convened in Klamath Falls.

Sanford C. Selby, 2349 Wantland Avenue, will be inducted into membership at the meeting. Selby has served as worshipful master of Klamath Lodge No. 77, excellent high priest of Klamath Chapter No. 35, Horace Getz Council No. 21 and eminent commander of Calvary Commandery No. 16, all in Klamath Falls.

Of the 80 members in the state of Oregon, three are Klamath Falls men, including William D. Milne, Joy A. Walker and Elvin E. Phillips.

George Knocke, Portland, will preside over the meeting which will be attended by several Masonic Grand Lodge and Grand York Rite officers.

Naomi Shrine No. 5 White Shrine of Jerusalem will prepare the banquet. Visiting Knights and their wives will be entertained afterwards by a committee composed of Mrs. Milne, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Phillips.

The group will meet informally for Sunday breakfast, Oct. 22, at the Pelican Cafe.

Vandals Strike Newell School

ALTURAS—Vandals struck the Newell School over the weekend, Modoc County sheriff's office reported Tuesday.

Investigation by officers Marion Thompson and Lunn Harris revealed that desks were turned over as part of the damage. Investigation will continue, the sheriff's office said, more information on the vandals is expected by later in the week.

"YES YOU WILL!" Marie Owens, center, counsels husband Bruce, that wearing masks and funny duds is all part of gala masquerade event planned for observance of Halloween by Klamath Falls Lodge No. 1247, BPOE. Mrs. Audrey Keerins, right, newly arrived in Klamath Falls from John Day, agrees. Members of the lodge and their ladies will dance Saturday, Oct. 28, and "the word" is that costumes will be judged for prizes.

Masquerade Needs Masks

Ladies of Elks, who plan to get in the swing of the masquerade at the lodge, the night of Saturday, Oct. 28, should get out needle and thread, round up their ingenuity and whip up some costumes.

This is to be the first masquerade Halloween party at the lodge for several years and the committee had planned to have costumes for rent for the fun. This week comes word from the costume houses of Portland and San Francisco that costumes will not be available. Prizes are to be given to the couple with the most original costume and to the couple with the most hilarious.

Dancing will be from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. to Baldy's Band and there will be chips and dips for $2 per couple.

Costumes may be devised from odds and ends found in any household, the committee says, and the "sillier the better."

PGE Sues GE On Price Fix

PORTLAND (AP)—A $2,170,537 damage suit was filed in U.S. District Court against General Electric Co. Thursday by Portland General Electric Co.

PGE charged that it suffered damages from a price control conspiracy involving GE and 11 other electrical equipment manufacturers.

The suit charges that GE conspired to stabilize prices during a period starting prior to 1952 and continuing through 1960. This, the suit contends, caused PGE to pay excessively for generators on Pelton Dam in Central Oregon.

Local Delegates Attend Soroptimist Conference

The recent district meeting of the Northwestern region of Soroptimist Federation of the Americas, observing the 40th anniversary of Soroptimism, held in Grants Pass, drew more than 100 women including a delegation from the Klamath Falls Soroptimist Club. Headquarters were in the West Linn Inn.

Present from here were Margaret Larkin, Northwest district director, who introduced special guests, Crystal Cloake, president of the Klamath Falls club; Mary Bothwell, Venture Club chairman; Delight Hicks, program chairman, and Frances Anderson, service objectives committee chairman.

Theme of the convention was "Forward From Forty—Our Challenge to Service and Community Leadership." Mrs. Austin Seavy, Oregon City Club president, gave the address of welcome.

On the two-day program Oct. 7-8 were Mrs. Eloise Hamilton, Portland, Northwest regional secretary; June McManus, LaGrande, Northwest regional service objectives chairman; Lily E. Quarberg, Vancouver, Wash., Soroptimist International representative; Pearl Powell, Seattle, Soroptimist governor; Miss Indreni Savundranayagam, winner of the Northwestern Regional Fellowship award, and others.

Miss Savundranayagam is working towards her doctorate in English at Oregon State University. She is a native of Ceylon.

A number of Soroptimists from foreign countries joined the officers and delegates from all of Oregon and part of Washington. Oregon City members were hostesses for the two-day meeting.

$11 Million Western Spending Plan Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Reclamation Bureau said Friday it plans to spend $11,084,000 on its construction program in Washington, Oregon and Idaho during the year that started July 1.

The Pacific Northwest program includes new starts on the western division of The Dalles project, Ore., Bully Creek extension of the Vale project, Ore., and the Avondale, Dalton Gardens and Hayden Lake pipe rehabilitation project, Idaho.

Of the $271.5 million appropriated by Congress for the construction program, the bureau earmarked $7,403,000 for Washington, $2,868,000 for Oregon and $813,000 for Idaho.

With $446,000 for the western division of The Dalles project, the bureau intends to prepare a definite plan report, conduct repayment contract negotiations, acquire land and rights and award contracts for pumps and motors. Preparations will also be made for the award of construction contracts in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1962.

On the Bully Creek extension of the Vale project, the bureau plans to use $601,000 to start construction on the Billy Creek Dam, an earth-fill structure that will create a 32,000 acre-foot reservoir.

It will provide supplemental irrigation water for 34,000 acres of land.

Other sums and plans for their use in the Pacific Northwest are: Washington

Chief Joseph Dam, Foster Creek division, $52,000 for investigation and remedial work on the sand problem in the intake line at the Bridgeport bar pumping plant.

Chief Joseph Dam, greater Wenatchee division, $2,449,000 to continue construction on the east

Wool Show Scheduled On Sunday

Klamath Basin women are invited to attend the 15th annual "Make It Yourself With Wool," style show at the city library auditorium Sunday afternoon, Oct. 22. The show will open at 2 p.m.

Autumn's latest fashions in wool suits, coats and dresses will be modeled by seamstresses in both senior and junior divisions to select a winner from Klamath County. The winning costume here will be entered in state competition later in Portland. State winners will compete at the national level.

The contest, sponsored by the women's auxiliary to the National Wool Growers' Association and the American Wool Council, offers attractive prizes and exciting trips and scholarships to the winners. The Klamath Basin Sheep Producers' Association is also offering cash prizes in the amounts of $10, $7, and $3 in each of three divisions.

Winners in both the senior and junior divisions will receive an all-expense paid trip to Portland for the state contest Nov. 17-18 at Meier & Franks in Portland.

Husband Hides Wedding From Mom

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Some people say you make up letters. Why would you have to make up any when you get letters like this one?

My husband married me four years ago. We have two sons. He told me his mother was a semi-invalid and couldn't attend the wedding. When I wanted to introduce myself on the phone he said no. He calls her long-distance every two weeks but he has never once suggested that I speak to her.

Yesterday he confessed that he never told his mother he got married. Now I know why he has never let me talk to her on the phone. It also explains why she never sent gifts for the babies.

He wants to visit her during the Christmas season—alone. He says he'll break the news gently and then send for me and the children. This man is 31 years old. What shall I do? — CON-STANTINOPLE

Dear C: A man who can't tell his mother that he's getting married—and then continues to keep his marriage a secret for four years is pretty sick. He needs professional help.

Urging him to see a doctor before he leaves on the trip. He'll need outside help in order to break the news to mother.

Dear Ann Landers: How does a working girl tell her boss that his horrible cigars smoke up her glasses, smell up her clothing and make her sick to her stomach?

This has been going on for two years and it's more than I can stand. When he calls me in for dictation I turn green just thinking about what the next 30 minutes are going to be like.

I'd appreciate any advice you can give me.—EMERALD

Dear Emerald: Look in the classified section of this newspaper and line yourself up another job. Get your references.

Then (for the sake of your successor) go into the boss' office and tell him you left because his horrible cigars smoked up your glasses, smelled up your clothing and made you sick to your stomach.

And while you're at it, suggest that he change brands. Good cigars are not offensive.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going with a man who is six years older than I am. He has been around a lot and is now ready to settle down.

We enjoy the same things and get along well together. The problem is, he never finished high school and I'm in my second year

Soule's Visit In Santa Clara

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Soule have returned from a 10-day visit with a son, Andrew R. Soule and family, living in Santa Clara.

The younger Soule is a civil engineer for the California Water Company of San Jose. Mr. and Mrs. Soule, who have two sons, are now building a home on an acre tract near Los Gatos.

Two Caught In Cheese

Two men were caught Wednesday as they tried to steal cheese from Klamath Falls supermarkets, according to city police.

Arrested and charged with petit larceny were Robert E. Giboney, 47, a transient, and Jewel Houston, 34, 128 South Seventh Street. Giboney was arrested at the Safeway Store, Eight and High streets, while Houston was arrested at the Market Basket, Ninth and Pine streets. Police said both men were trying to steal cheese.

Giboney, arrested Wednesday morning, was taken to district court in the afternoon. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Hal F. Coe. Houston was arrested Wednesday night.

Car Prowls Under Probe

Three youths were arrested and questioned by city police Wednesday night after reports that they were prowling in cars in the parking lot behind the Winema Hotel.

Police stopped the youths' car downtown a few minutes after the prowling reports. Arrested were Alvis C. Smith, 18, 2214 Gary Street, and two juveniles, ages 16 and 17. All three youths were positively identified by witnesses, police said.

Smith pleaded not guilty to a vagrancy charge Thursday morning in municipal court and a hearing will be held later. The juveniles were lodged in jail for further disposition by the county juvenile department.
