

Camp Fire Director To Visit Here

Janet Murray, regional director of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., will pay an official visit to the Klamath Council, Oct. 23-27, according to Mrs. Naomi French, executive director.

Miss Murray, whose headquarters are in Spokane, Wash., advises councils in Alaska, Idaho, Oregon, Montana and Washington. While in Klamath Falls she will work with the Klamath Council staffers, members and board committees.

She will speak at a luncheon at 12 noon Wednesday, Oct. 25, at Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church. Attending will be Camp Fire leaders. Miss Murray will also make other appearances in behalf of the organization.

Following her official visit to the Klamath Council, Miss Murray will remain in Klamath Falls Oct. 30 - 31 to conduct a two-day workshop for all councils in Southern Oregon. Preview "Scrollfilms" of Camp Fire activities will be featured the first day, while leaders will devote the second day to studying the Horizon Club program for older girls in the organization.

Miss Murray, whose job calls for developing and strengthening the programs of 51 Camp Fire Girl councils, praised the number of men and women who voluntarily give hours to the group in a pre-visit letter to the Klamath Council.

"This devoted service to our future citizens gives evidence of the American belief in the value of voluntary associations, and their place in the American way of getting things done."

Potato Market Service Opens Merrill Station

A Federal-State Market News Service station has been opened at Merrill to report on potato marketing activity and shipping activity in the Klamath Basin.

George Mason, veteran market reporter with experience in New York City, Blythe and other California Market News offices will be in charge of the new office located in the Recreation Center Building where it shares quarters with the potato and grain inspection offices.

The office is jointly financed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Oregon State University and the California State Department of Agriculture. Two years ago Bill Hutto and Charles E. Rannels operated an office in the Klamath Basin district, but the office did not function last season.

Arrangements for the station were finalized in early October when Marion Thomas of the Oregon Extension Service and Max Johnson of the California Department of Agriculture met with George Mason, representing the USDA, and local industry leaders to determine the location of the office and the extent of its operation.

The office will operate on a seasonal basis until the end of the winter potato marketing season. Information from the Merrill station will be carried nationally over the USDA Market News leased wire and published in various publications. The primary local objective is to supply timely information which will help producers and shippers become better suppliers and sellers of Oregon potatoes.

Persons wishing to receive the daily reports from the office may write directly to the issuing office at P.O. Box 982 in Merrill or to the OSU Extension Service at Corvallis.

YOUTH OF THE MONTH

The Kiwanis Club selected Bob Spencer, KUHS student, and president of the KUHS Key Club, as Youth of the Month for October. Bob has many interests in addition to school and Key Club work, among them are a keen interest in electronics, skiing, participation in high school wrestling, automobiles and deer hunting. He is shown here at the Thursday Kiwanis Club meeting where he was honored guest.

By TIM MASON
The United States Air Force Band with George S. Howard conducting staged two performances in Pelican Court Wednesday and delighted crowds that came from as far away as Lakeview and Yreka.

Brought to Klamath Falls by the KUHS Music Department, this outstanding band featured the famous Singing Sergeants and two renowned soloists in their "Symphony in the Sky" program.

Al Ullman, United States congressman of the Second District in Oregon, spoke to all KUHS juniors and seniors in Pelican Court last Wednesday.

He spoke on the legislation of the past Congress which has only recently adjourned. A question and answer period followed his talk.

Some 50 juniors and seniors spent four hours last week working on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, which is designed to give an example of the college placement and entrance test to be given in the spring to high school seniors. This test was also a grading basis for several scholarship grants.

Members of the school's National Honor Society chapter are selling KUHS monogrammed stationery during both lunch hours at 75 cents.

11 Students Win Honors

Eight sophomores and three juniors of Henley High School were awarded certificates for their outstanding performances on the National Educational Development Tests.

The recipients include Kathy DeGrande, Connie Harris, Celia Kerns, Tom Schiff, Warren Schultz, Mike Soran, Jack Stiverston, and Linda Taylor, all sophomores; Lydia Ulmer, Dick Houck and Harvey Kammerer, juniors.

The students receiving certificates scored in the top quarter of the state in the tests, prepared by Science Research Associates, given last March to more than 366,000 students in the ninth and tenth grade classes across the country.

Holiday Ranch Scene Of Beef Cattle Tests

The grading and weighing phases of the beef cattle performance testing program carried out in Oregon will be demonstrated at the Holiday Ranch near the Weyerhaeuser Mill on the Keno Road on Wednesday, Oct. 25, starting at 2 p.m.

In announcing the demonstration, Ray Petersen, county extension agent, stated that the Holidays have followed this program for 10 years and have developed an excellent herd of beef cattle. John Landers, livestock specialist from Oregon State University, will assist in the demonstration.

Farm Taxes To Be Talked At Committee Hearing

The effects that the Oregon taxation system is having on agriculture will be the subject of a Legislative Interim Committee hearing at the Linn County Courthouse, Albany, Oct. 27, according to an announcement by Sen. Robert Straub, chairman of the Agricultural Interim Subcommittee on Taxation.

Straub stated that the subcommittee consisting of Sen. Edd Ahrens (R-Marion County) and Rep. George Plicter (R-Klamath County) plans to hear specialists in agricultural economy from Oregon State University and the extension staff during the morning session and Oregon Tax Commission personnel in the afternoon.

Straub said he was reserving the evening to hear the views of farm group representatives and any individual who desires to speak on the subject.

"We intend to evaluate Oregon's real and personal property tax structure as it applies to agriculture," Straub said, "and to seek substitute plans pointing towards greater equity and easing of the agricultural tax burdens." Straub said the public or any members of the legislature that are interested are invited to attend the all-day and evening sessions.

The affix will take place at the new banquet room of the Winema Hotel on Saturday, Nov. 11. Serving will begin at 7 p.m.

Cost of the supper is being partially underwritten by the Klamath County Farm Bureau, so that tickets are available for only $2.50 per plate. Information may be obtained by calling Bob Norris, chairman of the event, or the Klamath County Farm Bureau office.

This is the second annual dinner promoting local commodities to be sponsored by the county Farm Bureau, last year's lamb buffet dinner having featured lamb exclusively.
