Girls To Receive Scouting Awards

Girl Scouts, who have fulfilled requirements for attaining their first class rank since last spring, the board of directors of the Junior Girl Scout Council is sponsoring a dinner and Court of Awards in their honor tonight.

The buffet dinner will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Johnston. A Court of Awards will precede dinner with each girl receiving her first class rank badge in an appropriate ceremony designed for this occasion.

To be eligible for this recognition, Intermediate Girl Scouts must have completed the second class rank and, within a two-year period thereafter, have earned a minimum of 10 proficiency badges. Completion of four specific requirements, in the respective areas of the Girl Scout program, is an additional requirement for this rank.

Senior Scouts will be present at the dinner to introduce the honored guests to the Wing, Trailblazer, and Mariner programs which will be available to them when senior status has been accomplished.

Invitations have been extended to the following girls from the central area, Falcon Heights, and Malin: Sally Wales, Cynthia Johnson, Beth St. John, Linda McDaniel, Vickie Prarat, Donna May, Kathy Dunn, Beth Hutcherson, Christine

During 1958, the United States earned $800 million from foreign visitors, but American tourists spent more than $2 billion abroad, including $536 million in Europe.
