

'Tolerance' Advocates Threaten U.S. Survival

Advocates of tolerance for "American communists" and their "political party" propagate a myth which endangers America's survival, writes Harold Ranstad in The American Legion Magazine for November.

"It is abundantly clear that there is no such thing as an American Communist," Ranstad writes. "Communists have no nationality, and Communists in the United States feel they owe no loyalty to its government. . . . The Communist Party, U.S.A. is not a political party. It is part and parcel of the international Communist apparatus, wrapped in the flag of the United States and hiding behind its constitution for the purpose of destroying it."

Just as phony, according to the article, "A Lesson Many People Never Learn" is the claim that domestic reds should be tolerated because their efforts to overthrow the government cannot succeed.

"Such arguments ignore the indivisibility of the Communist menace. There are not two Communist threats, one domestic and harmless and the other foreign and formidable. There is but one threat, an international enemy with a dangerous foothold inside our gates."

Air Seeding Bids Asked

The Bureau of Land Management in Portland will open bids at 2 p.m. Nov. 2 for aerial seeding by helicopter of 3,500 acres of government-owned forest land near Burns, Ore., the Department of the Interior announced today.

The forest tree and range grass seeding project requested will be used as part of the bureau's program for rehabilitation of fire damaged lands in Grant, Harney and Baker counties.

BLM is also inviting bids to furnish all necessary equipment, tools, supplies and materials, transportation, labor and supervision for the rehabilitation of two parcels of public domain land by scarification, snag falling, brush clearing and burning an approximate total of 58 acres, located in Placer County, Calif., about 24 miles northeast of Auburn. Bids on this invitation will be opened at 2 p.m. Nov. 9.

Details on the aerial seeding project in Oregon and the California forest rehabilitation project are available to prospective bidders at the Bureau of Land Management, Room 730, 1002 N. E. Holladay Street (P.O. Box 3861), Portland 8, Ore.

Fires Hurt Hunt Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forest fire damage caused by carelessness and disregard of safety rules by some threatens the future hunting opportunities of all sportsmen, a forest industry official said today.

James C. McClellan, chief forester of American Forest Products Industries, Inc., said the West has been plagued by an outbreak of forest fires in recent weeks.

Oregon forests have been particularly hard-hit, McClellan said, noting that on a recent weekend, 76 unattended campfires were reported in one part of Central Oregon.

McClellan said some 34 million acres of commercial timberland owned by lumbering and wood processing companies have been opened to hunters.

"Thoughtless hunters can cancel out all the good work done by the millions of citizens who have worked without pay to educate the public in forest conservation under the Keep America Green program," McClellan said in a statement.

Halt Asked To Logging

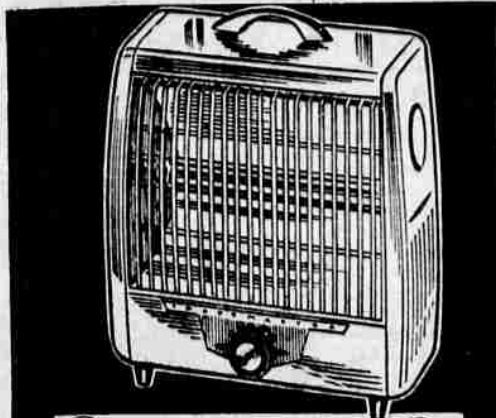

CORVALLIS (AP)—The Oregon Cascades Conservation Council is asking a halt to logging in parts of the Cascade Range.

The council was formed last year to try to protect scenic areas of the Cascades.

A letter to President Kennedy said that some of the lands needing protection were "the buffer areas leading to the high country. But many of these areas are being cut right now before studies are completed."

The council deplored logging on Whittewater Creek, a quarter-mile from the Mt. Jefferson Primitive Area, and in Bear Valley off the Metolius River.

The council also asked the President to keep loggers and roads out of specified areas on the east and west sides of the Mt. Hood Wild Area and around the Mt. Jefferson Primitive Area and the Three Sisters Wilderness Area.
