Nurses Attend Oregon Meet

At the 57th annual convention of the Oregon Nurses Association in Portland, District 8 was represented by Mrs. Gertrude Whistler, president; Mrs. Mary McNeal and Mrs. Lena Buckham from the private duty section; Mrs. Mae Speirs, public health; Mrs. Margaret Strode, chairman for nomination of officers of ONA and health nurse at KUHS, and Mrs. Jeanne Ford, chairman of general duty section.

Headquarters for the convention Oct. 11, 12 and 13 were at the Multnomah Hotel. The convention group was greeted at the Benson Hotel at a breakfast by Gerry Frank. His talk entitled "Out of This World" alerted nurses to the growing need for more nurses and the continuing and specialized training and education of the "already nurse."

Mrs. Johnnie Schick, outgoing president, welcomed the House of Delegates at the opening session at the Multnomah Hotel and gave her report. At the Thursday luncheon held in the Rose Bowl, Barbara J. Schull, R.N. and editor of the A.J.N., gave the keynote speech, "Our Future Is Showing."

Speaking at other sessions and panel discussions were Dr. Carl B. Ashley and Carl M. Stevens, Ph.D., and ONA economic consultant.

PERFUMERY TRICK

If your skin doesn't retain perfume very well, try saturating a cotton ball with your favorite scent and tucking it in your bra.

Lakeview Pair Exchange Vows

LAKEVIEW — The marriage of Mary Elizabeth O'Malley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent O'Malley of Lakeview, and Jerald Ray Steward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steward, also of Lakeview, was solemnized in St. Patrick Catholic Church at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, Sept. 23.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Father Peter Duignan. The wedding music was played by Mrs. M. M. Barry and she was also accompanist for the soloist, Robert Shotwell. Bouquets of white chrysanthemums decorated the altar to which she was escorted by her father.

Wide insets of lace combined with tulle over a second skirt of net tiers resulted in the bouffant effect for the bride's gown. The closely fitted bodice of lace had long sleeves coming to a point at the wrist and a scalloped, jewel trimmed neckline. A seed pearl crown held the fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Attendants for the bride were Mrs. Joan Stewart as matron of honor with Arthada Ylino and Janet Stewart as bridesmaids. Aqua sheer nylon jersey formed their frocks and they carried bouquets of white carnations with a touch of pink. Susan Steward, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Steward, was flower girl, and the ring bearer was Steven O'Malley, brother of the bride.

The bridegroom's attendants were Larry Steward as best man and Bertron Daron, Robert Blair, Myron Steward and Dennis O'Malley as ushers.

A dress of green lace with white accessories was worn by Mrs. O'Malley for the wedding. Mrs. Steward wore a gold jacket dress with black and beige accessories. Both had corsages of pink rosebuds.

The wedding reception was held at Hunter's Lodge where the cake was cut by Mrs. Pat O'Malley, assisted by Mrs. George Steward. Mrs. Lloyd Steward and Mrs. Harvey Steward poured coffee, and the champagne punch was served by Jack Clinton and Lloyd Williams. Karin Windle arranged for signing of the guest book.

PRACTICAL, BUT...

Your purse was not intended to be a carry-all for miscellaneous objects. Clean it out each day before you use it. You no longer need those old shopping lists and soiled facial tissues. Get rid of them so that you can open your purse without embarrassment.

OWC Meets For Luncheon

Highlights of the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Kingsley Field Officers Wives Club were election and installation of new officers and a style show presented by Fashion Villa. Arrangements for the day were under the direction of Ann Buck and Polly O'Connell.

Ann Buck presided over the meeting before turning over the gavel to the new president, Darleen Maxwell. Other new officers are Jerry Wood, first vice president; Jeanne Biggs, second vice president; Vy Harless, secretary; Rosemary Blanch, assistant secretary; Marg Oliver, treasurer, and Linda Smith, assistant treasurer.

Decorations for the luncheon carried out the fashion theme. Decorated coat hangers on each table were given as individual prizes and a fancy hat box was won by Vy Harless.

Commentator for Fashion Villa's style revue was Dorothy Reed. Coordinators were Mrs. Nellie Mueller and Eleanor Bergman. Hair styles were by Laura Scheek of Laura's Beauty Fair.

Member models were Marge Oliver, Vy Harless, Ginni Marks, Chalcooooooooooooo b and Linda Smith and Marge Fuhrman.

Newcomers welcomed to the club were Nancy Robison, Donna Moorhouse, Carla Flamm, Pauline Springer and Nell Giles.

STRETCH THEIR USE

Don't throw rubbers away because sides are split. Patch with adhesive-type plastic tape on the inside; use a tube-packaged rubber compound to mend tear. Rubbers will serve well in home or garden.

Basic Themes Lead Fashions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Four major fashion themes for spring emerge from the collections shown thus far by leading New York designers.

They are:

—A heightened look to the waistline, detailed with high-set buttons on suits and coats, with fabric bows, insets or high-riding belts on dresses.

—A construction closer to the body, but rarely hugging the figure.

—Continuation of a knee-high skirt lengths for day.

—Designers' renewal of the bias cut in all fabrics and their enchantment with a softened look via ruffles.

These are the "basics" to watch for when you do your spring shopping. But apt to go unnoticed are numerous other fashion touches.

Pump For Daytime

Take shoes. The low heeled pump is in for daytime. Models at most shows wore alligator or kid pumps with narrow toes and chunky one-inch heels.

Take hats. The wide brim swept off the face and the side draped turban were the shapes most frequently used to accessorize daytime clothes. For evening, encase your hair and face in several yards of sheer veiling.

Take collars. That is, take collars if you can find them. The collar-less look continues into spring '62 in suits, coats and costumes. When collars are attached, they're neat, well-mannered little jobs lying flat against the collarbone.

Few Sleeves

Take sleeves. There again, if you can find them. The sleeveless dress often is topped with a brief, swinging jacket called the "flip," also sleeveless.

When there are sleeves, they end just below the elbow. The glove to wear with them no longer is the classic shortie, but an elbow-length kid.

Take fabrics. They get lighter

STOLE, SUIT MATCH

Paris shows a new way to get more mileage from a winter suit: have a huge stole made of matching fabric. If possible, line it with fur.

PENCIL 'GREASE GUN'

If you think you'll lose your mind over a creaking door, try rubbing the hinge with a lead pencil. You'll be surprised to find that the noise disappears.
