

Army Plans Size Jump In England

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth II announced today in an ages old ceremony government defense plans that could double the size of the British army to protect her realm in today's threatening times.

In her annual speech opening a new session of Parliament, the smiling queen said in a speech written by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government that several army manpower measures were planned.

About 50,000 national servicemen and 140,000 reservists could be affected. The present size of the British army is about 165,000 officers and men, War Office spokesmen said.

The queen, standing in ermine and crown jewel splendor, said the government planned to extend the two-year active duty of some army national servicemen (draftees) by six months.

Some reserve troops also will be subject to a recall to active duty.

There was no indication as yet exactly how many men the government plans to add to the army. Macmillan's Conservative party and the opposition Labor party recently voiced concern about the British Army of the Rhine in tense West Germany being undermined.

Sources said British defense officials pledged an army buildup to Deputy U.S. Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric when he visited London last week.

The British buildup appeared similar to the U.S. increase in army manpower recently.

The queen coupled the news of a defense buildup with pledges to continue and increase Britain's partnership with the United States and other Western Allies and British participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

She also said her nation would seek East-West settlement "which will preserve the security and freedom of the people of West Berlin."

July Farm Aids Cost $74 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's new system of bookkeeping on crop surpluses showed Tuesday it cost $74,673,000 to carry out farm price support operations during July.

The department said this compares with a cost of $150,328,000 which the same system of computation would have shown for July last year under the Eisenhower administration. Under the old formula, the department had reported July losses a year ago at only $17,424,000.

Under the old system, costs of handling, storage and transportation of surpluses in the government's hands were added to the inventory value of the commodities. The costs of handling did not show up until the commodities were finally disposed of.

Under the new system, which Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman ordered into effect in June, the handling costs—storage, transportation and the like—are not added to the inventory value of the surpluses, but are kept separate under the heading of losses.

Thus, the department said, the estimate of losses of $17,424,000 for July 1960 did not reflect handling charges.

The latest report showed that it cost the government $36,938,000 to handle the surpluses in July—more than $1 million a day.

On July 31, the department had $1,614,766,000 invested in price support loans on commodities being held off markets by producers and $5,500,877,000 invested in commodities owned by the government as a consequence of price support operations.

What topped the commodity investment list with $2,826,000,000 in loans and government-owned stocks. Corn was next at $2,452,000,000, sorghum grains were third at $776 million.

Con Prefers Death To Jail

FREMONT (UPI)—Melvin F. Koltzman, 36, an ex-convict, killed himself with carbon monoxide poisoning today rather than face near-certain return to prison, police said.

Koltzman, convicted of felonies three times, had been paroled from San Quentin Prison only a month earlier and was to appear in police headquarters on a woman's complaint that he threatened her with a gun.

An hour before he was to appear at headquarters, his wife found him dead in their car at the rear of their home here.

Medford Theater Group To Present Four Plays During Winter Season

Broadway Theater League of Medford, sponsored by the Medford Junior Service League, is bringing four plays to Medford this season.

"Critic's Choice," written by drama critic and author, Walter Kerr, will open the season in late November, according to theater league leaders. Larry Parks and Betty Garrett are stars.

The league, which will bring an array of famous stars to Medford, is the same organization that has been received so well the past few seasons in Portland. This year Medford and Eugene have been added to the itinerary.

On Feb. 17 the league will bring "Thurber Carnival" with King Donovan, Imogene Coca and Arthur Treacher.

Scheduled for March 28 is the "Best Man," which has been described as a "political melodrama that comes close enough to the truth to be both comic and exciting."

Donald Porter, stage and television star, will play the lead in the political spoof which has its setting in Philadelphia hotel rooms during a presidential convention.

Four of the series will be "Mary Stuart" starring Faye Emerson and "Elizabeth the Queen" featuring Eva Le Gallienne.

Only season tickets, or memberships, are sold to the plays, according to Mrs. Gilbert Turley, 2325 E. Main, Medford, who is handling memberships. Hence, a season ticket and assured seat can be had for $20 per person. There are a number of good seats still available, she said.

All performances will be in the Holly Theater, which was built in 1930 for staging plays and concerts. The theater is considered to have excellent acoustics and seating facilities.

Death Toll Reaches 414

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A pickup truck overturned and burned north of Enterprise Monday night, killing a Portland man, and a car collided with a truck near Sandy early Tuesday, adding a California woman to the swiftly mounting toll of Oregon highway deaths.

The Enterprise accident occurred as Floyd J. Strader, about 45, and a companion, Artie Holstein, both of Portland, were looking for a hunting party. Strader, the driver, was killed and Holstein was unhurt. Strader was thought to have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Mrs. Norman O. Dversdahl, 29, Brownsville, Calif., was killed and her son Erick Norman, 5, suffered a concussion in a head-on crash with a truck on the outskirts of Sandy. Her husband, in a following car, saw the accident.

The truck driver, Robert Wade Tovey, 40, Portland, said he had swerved to avoid a large dog and that as he pulled back into his own lane Mrs. Dversdahl's car then swerved toward him.

The deaths put October's toll at 46 and the year's total at 414, a figure reached 12 days earlier than in 1959 when Oregon had its all-time record high in traffic deaths.

Two Men Die In Truck Crash

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP)—Two Oregon men were killed Monday night when their big truck went out of control on Highway 99W and plowed into a roadside tree. Killed in the accident 10 miles south of Red Bluff were the driver, Amor Lanzo McDaniels Jr., 17, of Canyonville, Ore., and Joseph Berkeley Synan, 45, Riddle, Ore.

They were traveling north in the flatbed truck about 9 p.m. when the accident happened.

Society Acquires Rare Book Of Oregon History

Oregon Historical Society recently acquired a copy of Elijah White's "A Concise View of the Oregon Territory" (Washington, D.C., 1846), a 76 page paperbound book of great rarity and importance.

Elijah White, born in New York and educated at medical college in Syracuse, N.Y., was assigned to the Lee Mission in May, 1837. Differences with Jason Lee caused him to return East in 1841. In 1842, as federally appointed sub-Indian agent, he led the first wagon train of more than 100 persons to Oregon. Among many others, some of his achievements included the establishment of a code of laws for the Nez Perce Indians, membership in a committee of 12 appointed at the second "Wolf Meeting" at Champeo to consider civil and military protection for settlers in Willamette Valley, lo-

'Denial' Slows Search Treatment For Alcohol

NEW YORK (UPI)—Here you have two men, one seeking help, the other eager to give help. But the help-seeker is dead set against revealing what help he really needs, and the would-be help-giver doesn't really want to find out.

The sad thing is neither is consciously aware of what he is doing. They're both using the psychological and unconscious mechanism of "denial." And that, said Dr. Melvin L. Selzer, a psychiatrist, is a big reason why the "disease" alcoholism is often undetected and so untreated.

This kind of alcoholic hides his vice from himself as well as from the world. He claims he can "take it or leave it alone." Anyhow, he may say, he drinks only beer. Unconsciously he sees life as unbearably empty and threatening if it is life without strong drink.

Desperate Matter
To him there can be no life without alcohol. Unconsciously it is a desperate matter. He has to keep himself convinced that he doesn't really need alcohol. In that way he can believe there is no reason why he should give it up.

And so he goes to a physician and laments his ailments but omits the real one. The eager professional help-giver may then fuss around with secondary symptoms without ever rooting out their real cause, namely, alcoholism.

The doctor, too, is using the "denial" mechanism, Selzer said. Doctors have long since learned alcoholic patients are frustrating and there's no really good treatment for the "disease," alcoholism. You can understand why "the physician may be loath to discover that one of his patients is alcoholic," Selzer continued.

Many Never Realize
Selzer is a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He was lecturing physicians on the psychiatric quirks of alcoholism—and lamenting that so many people never realize a person is an alcoholic unless he or she habitually appears in public, dead drunk.

He granted what is well-known. Occasional heavy drinkers are not necessarily alcoholics and there is no standard or generally successful medical treatment of alcoholism. The alcoholic is a tough problem for a doctor but doctors should never permit an alcoholic's "denial mechanism" to prevent them from making the diagnosis.

Physicians should not be thrown off by the "denial" mechanism, Selzer said, in "provide visible public support" for President Kennedy's efforts to find some other way besides war to settle international differences.

The petition was signed by the mayors of Tacoma and Seattle and political leaders in both parties, she said, in addition to everyday citizens.

Mrs. Stadler said she works on a voluntary basis for the Platform for Peace program. "They pay for my babysitters, that's all," she added. "My husband, David, is a geneticist. That's where I learned about fallout."

Mrs. Stadler is a political science and history graduate of the University of Rochester. Her husband teaches at the University of Washington.

Band To Go To Pasadena

HILLSBORO (AP)—The Hillsboro High School band will go to the Pasadena Tournament of Roses for the Jan. 1 parade and Rose Bowl football game with a surplus of money.

A fund of $8,000 has been subscribed by $861, said chairman Charles Epps. This will allow the 100 band members to travel in greater comfort, he said. A variety show raised $3,000 of the fund.

Silver Dollar Stack Talked

SEATTLE (AP)—Wonder what a million stacked silver dollars look like? A Walla Walla firm may show you at the Seattle World Fair.

Biggest bugaboo facing Northwest Historical Medals, Ltd., is solving the weight problem. The dollars would weigh about 63,000 pounds—heavy enough to collapse an ordinary floor.

The idea of displaying a million bucks was disclosed with the announcement Tuesday by George Whitney, concessions director, that Northwest Historical Medals has been awarded the contract to produce and distribute all souvenir medals at the fair.

SP Chips At Saving Estimate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Allan C. Furth, Southern Pacific attorney, chipped away today at Santa Fe Railway's estimate that it can save $4.8 million a year by consolidating some of its facilities with Western Pacific.

Furth was cross-examining J. C. Davis, Santa Fe's trainmaster at Needles, Calif., at Interstate Commerce Commission hearings on whether Santa Fe or Southern Pacific should be allowed to take over Western Pacific.

Furth's questions were intended to show that Santa Fe had not included some expenses in its estimates and that some parts of its projects would not work.

For example, he drew data that he hopes will show that a Western Pacific self-propelled barge, the Las Plumas, is too big to fit into the slip at Tiburon, Calif., in accord with Santa Fe's plan.

Furth sought an admission that as many as 19 crews might have to be transported each day between the San Francisco Bay Area and Stockton, Calif., because more trains would move in one direction than the other.

Southern Pacific maintains that Santa Fe proposed consolidations only after Southern Pacific bid for Western Pacific control. Santa Fe's consolidations, according to the Southern Pacific, were hastily conceived as an excuse for Santa Fe to thwart Southern Pacific.

No Middle Name Chosen

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Crooner Bing Crosby and his wife agree their new son's name will be Nathaniel Crosby, but what about a middle name?

Mrs. Crosby, former actress Kathy Grant, says the boy's name is Nathaniel Michael Crosby. Hospital officials said that's the name he's going by.

But in London, Bing says as far as he is concerned, the child's name is Nathaniel Patrick Crosby. Crosby's publicity aide, Jean Garich, said Bing had talked to his wife by telephone Monday and apparently straightened the matter out. If that was the case, there is little evidence to support it.

Bing who is in London to film "Road to Hong Kong," is still sticking with Patrick as a middle name. Kathy hasn't backed down on her announcement that her son, born Sunday, is named Nathaniel Michael Crosby.

Miss Garich indicated, however, that Crosby, who has five other sons, might be willing to compromise.

"I think they are two very nice names," she quoted the singer as saying.

Air Fallout Minimized

PORTLAND (AP)—There is no reason for concern about the amount of radioactive fallout currently in the air, Dr. Ralph Sullivan of the state Board of Health said on his return from a national conference on fallout.

And, he said, a close watch is being maintained for the future. Milk in the Portland area is being monitored, he said, to determine its content of strontium-90, a product of radioactivity believed to cause bone cancer. There was a decrease in the amount when nuclear testing was suspended in 1958, he said, adding that any increase from recent blasts is not expected before spring.

Currently, he said, he was more concerned over the possible effect on young persons starting to smoke cigarettes than he is over fallout.
