

Garden Club Sets Workday

The Greensprings Garden Club will hold a workshop for the making of wreaths and candles on Thursday, Nov. 2, at 10 a.m. at the B. M. Antle residence on the Ashland Highway.

Those interested in making wreaths or plaques are asked to bring linoleum paste, coping saw, pruning shears, Elmer's glue and leaves and pine cones collected for this project.

Those planning to make candles bring paraffin, wicking, mold, old color crayons for color, trimming, glitter and coffee can or pan.

Members are also asked to bring a sack lunch and a piece of firewood.

Lois Stewart Accepts Post

Mrs. Lois Stewart, for many years on the news staff of the Herald and News and for the past 10 years waterfront reporter for the Advertiser in Honolulu, has resigned her position with the paper to accept an executive position with the Parker Ranch.

The Parker Ranch, located on the Island of Hawaii, is owned by Richard Smart and is the largest single ownership ranch in the world.

Mrs. Stewart, as part of her new assignment, will publish a Parker Ranch newspaper for the 300 employees and their families.

Friends here were advised that she will keep her home at 243 Kaalawi Place, off Diamond Head Road, Honolulu 15, and divide her time between the ranch executives offices in Honolulu and at the ranch on Hawaii.

Party Honors Recent Bride

BONANZA—A beautiful bridal shower was given at the Bonanza library the evening of Oct. 26, honoring a new bride, Mrs. Donald Hughes, the former Suzanne Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rice of Dairy.

Hostesses were Evelyn Woods, Frances Jacobs, Verla Nelson, Esther Brown, Louisa Horton, Virginia Thomas, Doris Butts, Mary Jacobsen, Doris Short and Cora Leavitt.

A tiered cake was topped with a tiny bride and bridegroom and pink roses. Pink candles flanked the cake on the refreshment table.

Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Vernon Haley, Pat Nelson and Kay Toffel assisted Suzanne with opening the gifts and fashioning the bouquet of ribbons. Seventy friends attended the party.

OVERCOME IT

Force yourself to overcome shyness. It's a self-built barrier between you and those who whom you'd like to be friends. When you've won your battle, you'll find a whole new world opened to you.

ENGAGED—Word has been received from the Rev. and Mrs. M. A. McKinnie of Arlington, Wash., formerly of Klamath Falls, telling of the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Marie, to William Edmund Ahearn. A graduate of KUHS, she is majoring in history at Wellesley College. Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Ahearn of Wassaic, N.Y., is a graduate of Cornell University in Worcester, Mass. He is presently employed as a physicist for RCA in Burlington, Mass. The wedding will take place in June.

We The Women

Space For Living Beats Lure Of Living In Space

Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"First Woman in Outer Space—Who It's Likely To Be" says the blurb on the cover of a woman's magazine.

I'll bet one thing 999 women out of 1,000 reading that will have a single thought, "I know one woman it's not going to be—and that's me!"

The good earth holds everything most women count dear—home, family, friends and personal responsibility that is ever-changing but never-ending.

The average woman can't even leave these on a safe little weekend trip without worrying about things going wrong. What a burden of conscience she would carry with her into outer space!

And the dream of most women is to do a bit better, to shine a bit brighter, to create a bit more happiness right in their own domains. That's a woman's dream—not to explore the unknown, but to make the known more to her liking.

Through the ages, women have followed their men whenever and wherever they could. And so it isn't unlikely that some day women will follow them into outer space.

But it won't be the challenge of the unknown that gets them into space suits.

They'll tag along only to go where their men go. And most of them won't be willing to do that, until space suits are available in children's sizes, so the whole family can be together.

Until it is possible to set up housekeeping in outer space, most women aren't going to be the slightest bit interested in taking off.

Where women can keep the home fires burning, that's where they will always feel at home and needed and useful. Living space has always been and always will be the kind of space that interests women.

Engagement Is Announced

Announcement of the engagement of their daughter was recently told by Mr. and Mrs. John Huddleston of Crescent. Jeanne Huddleston will become the bride of David Allen on Nov. 11. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen of San Francisco.

The future bride is a graduate of Gilchrist High School and is employed at the Snack Cafe there. Her fiance, a graduate of Los Altos High School, is employed by Gilchrist Timber Company.

SUCCESS STORY...

Over sixteen thousand families in our area now use flameless electric heat in their homes. This represents an increase of over 400% in 10 years! No other heating system can show this proof of home-owner preference.

The sunshine-clean warmth which an automatic electric heating system brings to so many modern homes is a miracle of the modern age. It eliminated the necessity of using the age-old method of heating—fire—just as the modern automobile eliminated the horse and buggy as a method of transportation.

Grandma had to heat with fire, but you don't!

Only electric heat is flameless, fumeless, and foolproof. That's why moderns prefer it. And prove their preference by installing it in the great majority of new and modernized homes.

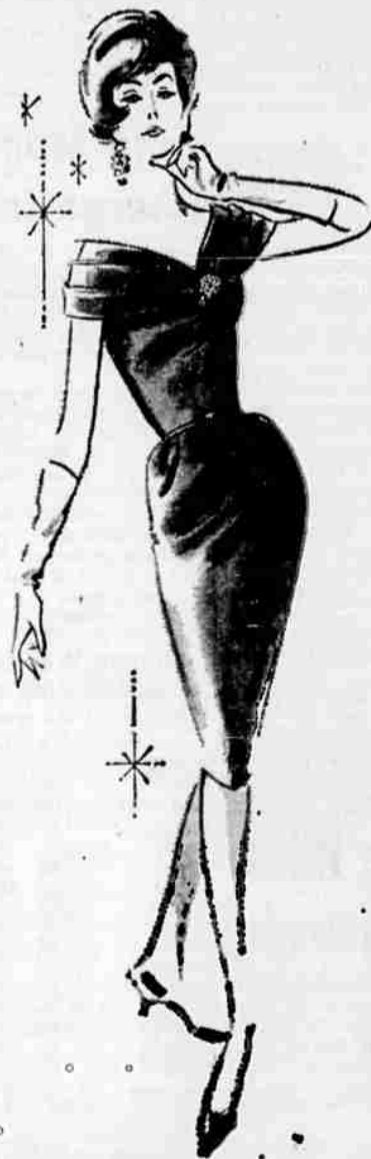

Get the complete electric heat story from a Cal/Ore Electrical League member before you choose a heating system for your home.
