

Needle Band Still Defies Space Hunt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — So far those 350 million tiny copper needles fired into space by the United States haven't posed the danger Russian spaceman Gherman Titov and some Western scientists predicted.

In fact, no one even knows where the needles are.

The Air Force said today they have not been spotted by either radar or radio waves in a space search being conducted by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Lincoln Laboratory at Lexington, Mass.

The needles, designed to test the possibility of a jam-proof communications system, were launched Oct. 21 from Point Arguello, Calif., as a piggy-back package on a Midas satellite.

The hair-like needles were supposed to form a band around the earth at an altitude of 2,100 miles to serve as a reflector for radio waves sent from one part of the world to another. But the Air Force announced last week that no trace of the needles could be found.

Titov charged in Moscow last week that the needle experiment was a "reckless step interfering with peaceful conquest of space."

Some Western scientists complained that the needles might interfere with satellites and with astronomical observations of the heavens.

Jurors Keep Court Busy

County Clerk Charlie DeLap and Sheriff Murray (Red) Britton have been busy during the current term of circuit court.

DeLap and Britton have drawn the names of 241 prospective jurors since the court term began on June 21. According to the two county officials, about one-third of the persons could not be located, another third were excused for a wide ranging variety of reasons and the final third were actually available to serve.

A special venire of 70 names was drawn Monday morning for the re-trial of the Johnnie Lee Williamson armed robbery case. A mistrial was declared earlier this month in the same case due to illness in the family of one of the jurors.

Jurors are paid at the rate of $7.50 a day plus 10 cents a mile. DeLap said increasing jury expense was one of the reasons for a near 40 per cent increase in the current circuit court budget. Another reason, of course, has been the addition of a second circuit judge for Klamath County.

Repairman Arraigned

Gary R. Dahlstrom, 26-year-old Klamath Falls appliance repairman, was arraigned Monday evening in district court on the felony charge of larceny by bailer.

Dahlstrom, 1726 Oregon Avenue, appeared with his attorney and asked for a preliminary hearing, which was set for 9:30 a.m. next Tuesday by Judge Hal F. Coe.

The information of felony was signed by Edward G. DeLyria, 2425 Summers Lane. DeLyria accused Dahlstrom of appropriating a studio bed, davenport and youth bed which had been entrusted to his care. The furniture was valued at more than $75.

Hood Dies In Medford

Delmann Osborne Hood, 74, who had been active in business and professional affairs in the Northwest since 1920, died in Medford Oct. 28.

With a brother, the late Ernest B. Hood, he entered into the public utilities field in 1923 with Columbia Utilities Company. The firm owned independent telephone properties in Southern Oregon and Northern California, serving the telephone public of Merrill, Malin, Tulelake and other surrounding towns in the Klamath Basin.

He also served as a director of the First National Bank of Klamath Falls. He had lived in Medford since 1942. His widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Hood, survives.

Family Night Scheduled

A special family night will be staged by Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 467 at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 4, at the Moose Hall, 1019 Pine Street.

The evening will open with a potluck dinner for the entire family. Afterwards there will be games for the younger children, dancing for teen-agers and entertainment for the adults.
