

Voice Identification Focal Point Of Williamson Armed Robbery Trial

A courtroom battle over ad- nately identified the youth as the squad from Milwaukee. He was mission into evidence of a voice holdup man two days later at the identification was continuing Wed- the other officer present at the nesday morning in the armed lineup. robbery trial of Johnnie Lee Wil- fice.

Williamson's attorney objected strongly to state police lineup methods and accused the police of "Star Chamber" tactics. He argued that Williamson had not been fully advised of his rights and that he was told to read a paragraph despite his objections.

Four state police officers were called to the witness stand by the state, which was trying to disprove the defense attorney's allegations. Sgt. Bruce Lattin, Corp. Larry Bergmann and privates Curtis W. Culp and William P. Bones Jr. all said they were at the lineup on Aug. 31 and none of them remembered any protests by Williamson. They did admit, however, that they did not inform Williamson of the purpose of the lineup.

Williamson was arrested on Aug. 31 on a warrant charging him with carrying a concealed weapon. The armed robbery charge was not filed until the youth's identification by Mrs. Haynes.

Judge David R. Vandenberg sustained defense objections to the voice identification and the district attorney's office said an attempt would be made to locate State Police Lieutenant Benninghoff, a member of the arson meeting.

Air Explorer Paul Kanitz, Squadron 44, Tulelake, was named vice-chief by the conclave. The entire Modoc Area Council was also honored; the local governing body will act as host to the 1962 Order of the Arrow meeting.

Two Scouts Get Honors

Two Modoc Area Council Explorer Scouts, one an Air Explorer, were honored at a state-wide meeting of the Order of the Arrow in Portland recently.

Explorer James McDonald, member of Post 100, Klamath Falls, was elected chief of the Oregon lodges at the meeting.
