Rebel Girl Inherits Grandma's $20 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Geddes Benedict's will leaves the income from a $20 million trust to her rebellious granddaughter, Gamble Benedict Porumbeanu.

Gamble's runaway marriage to Andrew Porumbeanu, Romanian-born former chauffeur, cost her lump-sum payments of much of her inheritance.

An amendment to the will — made by Mrs. Benedict a week after the marriage—placed the granddaughter's entire fortune in trust so she could never get any of the principal.

The will, as amended, sets aside for Gamble two-fifths of Mrs. Benedict's estate estimated at more than $50 million.

In addition, when Gamble becomes 21 next Jan. 15, she will receive an estimated $500,000 from the estate of her late mother, Mrs. Josephine Sharpe.

Income from two-fifths of Mrs. Benedict's estate was willed to Gamble's brother, Douglas, a student at Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y. One-fifth of the wealth goes outright to Mrs. Mary A. Graham, a niece of Mrs. Benedict.

The will was found Tuesday in a safe in Mrs. Benedict's mansion. The 77-year-old widow died of heart disease in the house Sunday night.

Gamble, who is living in Switzerland with her husband and their 6-month-old son, will not fly here to attend the private funeral for Mrs. Benedict in the mansion Thursday.

The Porumbeanus would risk arrest here.

Magistrate Peter M. Horn, of girls term court, Tuesday turned down a plea gy Gamble's lawyer to dismiss contempt of court warrants against the couple. In proceedings instituted by Mrs. Benedict, Horn had ordered the pair to keep apart and had adjudged Gamble a wayward minor and a ward of the court.

Horn said he would not dispose of the case until the couple—Porumbeanu now 37 and his wife 20—"present themselves in court." Horn accused the couple of deliberately avoiding the jurisdiction of the court by living in other states and in Switzerland.

Prior to Horn's announcement, Porumbeanu had said in Switzerland that he did not think his wife would come here for the funeral—even if she could have immunity from arrest—because she couldn't stand the ordeal of seeing her relatives at the funeral.

"Among those who will be at the funeral," Porumbeanu said, "are some relatives of Mrs. Benedict who have instigated all this litigation against my wife."

He said his wife has arranged for a memorial service in a Zurich church at which the Porumbeanus will offer prayers for Mrs. Benedict.

Boy Scouts Place Bane In Top Job

Charles F. Bane, president of the Modoc Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, was elected to the Region Eleven Executive Committee at the regional annual meeting held recently in Yakima. Region Eleven comprises Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Alaska and western Montana and there are 46 members of the regional committee. Ron Phair, Klamath Falls, is also a member of the group.

One of the big jobs to be undertaken by the committee is playing host to the National Council meeting in Portland next May. Over 2,500 adult scouters from all over the nation are expected to attend the annual event.

Also attending the meeting in Yakima were Joe Hicks, council finance chairman, and Harold Ashley, leadership training chairman.

Spud Prices Creep Up

CORVALLIS (AP)—Prices generally moved a little higher as the potato harvest neared the finish in Oregon.

The Oregon State University Extension Service said today that only 5 to 10 per cent of the crop remained to be dug in the Klamath Basin and less than 5 per cent in Central Oregon.

Around 3 per cent of Idaho's upper valley acreage remains to be harvested and from 5 to 10 per cent of the lower valley. Digging will continue as long as the weather permits and until freezing makes harvesting too expensive.

Growers generally have their potatoes in storage and are in no hurry to sell now. There were fewer shipments during the past week and a jump in prices.

The advance in grower prices amounted to 10-20 cents in Central Oregon and 15-25 cents in Idaho.

Central Oregon growers were getting mostly $1.30-1.35 per hundredweight on U. S. No. 1A Russets delivered to packing plants early this week, OSU said. In the Klamath Basin, the price to growers on the same grade, at the cellar, ranged from $1.35-1.50.
