

Traffic Law Violators Up

SALEM (AP) — Convictions of motorists for traffic law violations are up 15 1/2 per cent in the first 10 months of 1961 over the same period last year, the state Motor Vehicles Department said today.

The department said it received reports of 192,000 convictions through October of this year. Part of the increase was attributed to the use of uniform traffic citations, which simplifies the court's reporting of convictions.

Convictions and records of all accidents of motorists are recorded by the department in its master license file.

Convictions were recorded for 20,500 drivers in October.

Licenses of 476 were suspended during the month. All but 190 of them were suspended by the department. The rest were suspended by the courts, which recommended fewer suspensions than in the year before.

There were 223 drivers whose licenses were suspended for driving while intoxicated and another 235 suspended for another full year because they were caught driving while their licenses were suspended. License suspensions are mandatory in both cases.

Others lost their licenses temporarily for poor driving records.

600 Attend Press Meet

PORTLAND (AP) — More than 600 grade school and high school journalism students attended the 25th annual Oregon School Press Conference at Portland State College Saturday.

The conference was sponsored by Portland newspapers and the Oregon Tuberculosis and Health Association. Those who attended listened to talks about newspaper work, and about the activities of the tuberculosis association.

In the afternoon, the students toured the newspapers' operations.
