

RECENTLY WED — In a recent double ring ceremony in Eureka Marilyn Irene Perkins of that city became the bride of William Phillip Bruno of Tulelake. They will make their home in Eureka.

Eureka Rites Unite Couple

The First Presbyterian Church, Eureka, was the setting for the early fall wedding of Marilyn Irene Perkins and William Phillip Bruno. The double-ring service was read by the Rev. James M. Brown.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Merrill Perkins of Rio Dell. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Paulson of Tulelake and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Woodward of Alturas.

The bride was given in floor-length, plain de soie, embellished with crystals and pearls, the skirt sweeping back into a chapel train with bustle. The molded bodice was topped by a yoke with scalloped bateau neckline and elbow-length sleeves.

A crystal crown held the short bouffant bridal veil. She carried a cascade of arrangement of white roses and stephanotis on a white ribbon.

Mrs. Julie Lindblom served as her sister's patron of honor, wearing a street-length dress of burnished gold silk organza, fashioned with a full skirt with puffs at the back held by hemline roses. Her short veil was caught by a single rose of the same material, as her gown. She carried a bouquet of yellow spider chrysanthemums and tangerine carnations fastened with tangerine ribbons.

Barbara Haman, maid of honor, was attired in a gown identical to that worn by the patron of honor. Other bridal attendants were Eloise Pelanconi, Rio Dell; Margaret Wade, Bandon, Ore.; Suzanne Jacobsen, cousin of the bride, Roseburg, Ore.; Penny Perkins, another cousin of the bride, Roseburg, and Elizabeth Paulson, sister of the bridegroom, Tulelake. They wore light green gowns identical in design to those of the senior attendants. For flowers they had single yellow spider chrysanthemums tied with tangerine streamers.

Flower girl was Mary Anne Sweet, cousin of the bride. She carried rose petals in a small basket. Phillip Woodward, cousin of the bridegroom, Alturas, was ringbearer.

Refreshments followed the ceremony, hosted by past matrons of Tulelake chapter. Mrs. Al Hardman was at the silver; coffee service. Mrs. Stanley Bradbury presided at the punch bowl.

Lower heel acceptance is a noticeable change for spring shoes, reports the National Shoe Retailers Association and low-stacked tailored fashions will be strong with modified less-elongated points and snip squares on high heels.

Couple Note Anniversary

ALTURAS—Fifty years of married life were marked for Mr. and Mrs. Jean Boulade of Alturas with a gathering of their family on Friday, Dec. 28.

Anna Plante and Jean Boulade were married in San Francisco at the Notre Dame of Victoria Cathedral in 1912. Both are natives of France and met in the Bay City where each was employed. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Boulade moved to Susanville where they operated a laundry for some time. In 1927 they moved to Alturas to own and operate the Alturas Steam Laundry until their retirement. At one time they also owned the Riverside Hotel at Bieber which Jean Boulade built before the railroad came to that area.

Joining the Boulades to celebrate their anniversary was Mrs. Boulade's maid of honor 50 years ago, her sister, Maria Weston of Alturas.

The couple have a daughter, Alice Dewey, and a son, Remy Boulade, both of Alturas, and eight grandchildren.

WED 50 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Jean Boulade marked 50 years of married life with members of their family on Dec. 28 at their home in Alturas.

Many Topics Headline News Of Women In '62

CHICAGO (UPI) — Birth and death, the inevitables of the human race, led the headlines in the women's world in 1962.

Use of the drug thalidomide was blamed for the birth of hundreds of deformed babies in West Germany, England and Canada. When doctors declared the drug the culprit, thousands of expectant women worried about health of their offspring.

One in particular decided to do something about it. Mrs. Sherri Finkbine sought legal permission for an abortion in her native Arizona, when she learned she had taken the drug — bought overseas — during the early stage of pregnancy.

Denied permission in this country, she and her husband flew to Sweden where doctors performed the operation.

One woman stood firm against U.S. approval of the drug — Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey of the Food and Drug Administration. Eventually her stubbornness paid off . . . she was applauded by Congress, officially honored by President Kennedy.

Death took two of the world's most famous women. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, intrepid former first lady, died at 78 after a stubborn illness, diagnosed after her death as a rare type of tuberculosis. Marilyn Monroe, the blonde symbol of sensuality, died in her Los Angeles home of an overdose of barbiturates.

Women In Crisis

This was the year the flames of the Cuban crisis burned hottest. Navy wives and children were moved from the Guantanamo Naval Base. Women visitors to the White House let their purses be searched under increased security measures.

In Algeria, European women who had known no other home found their families uprooted, as Algeria proclaimed its independence. Ten thousand African women and children rioted against United Nations troops in Katanga. U.S. women proved themselves excellent if unofficial ambassadors. Vice President Lyndon Johnson's wife, Lady Bird, and one of the Johnson daughters accompanied the graying Texan on a tour of the Middle East.

The First Lady, Jacqueline Kennedy, took time out to visit India and Pakistan. And she and daughter Caroline vacationed in Ravella, Italy.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy began to build a new home in Virginia . . . and ignored their relatives' parties that sometimes wound their guests up in the nearest swimming pool.

The French style leaders pretty much left hemlines alone; they remained at the kneecap. But designers in the United States and abroad wrapped women into a looser-fitting, natural silhouette.

In Wimbledon, England, tennis officials put a halt to colorful pants worn by women contestants. "White only" became the rule for future tournaments.

Love, as usual, helped make the world go 'round. Princess Alexandra of Kent became engaged to Angus James Bruce Ogilvy, Juliet Prowse, the dancer, actress, was engaged to Frank Sinatra — for one month.

Zsa Zsa Gabor wed husband number four, Herbert Hunter. Prince Juan Carlos of Spain married Princess Sophia of Greece. And boxer Ingemar Johansson married his long-time sweetheart Birgit Lundgren.

Taylor Leaves Fisher

For some, love cooled. Elizabeth Taylor separated from Eddie Fisher, and cavorted through Rome nightclubs with her "Cleopatra" co-star, Richard Burton. Judy Garland and Sid Luft became ensnared in two-state divorce proceedings. And Pamela Mason ended her 22-year marriage to actor James Mason. Marriage ended also in 1962 for Lana Turner, Carol Burnett, Mrs. Francis Gary Powers, Dinah Shore and Rosemary Clooney.

Death came to former Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, who was 82; the Empress of Ethiopia, who was 71; Eddie Cantor's wife Ida; and Mrs. Florence Carpenter, mother of one of the astronauts.

These other feminine names made news in '62:

Princess Grace of Monaco, who abandoned plans to return to Hollywood, then had to cut short a Paris holiday while her husband's tiny country feuded with France over taxes.

Mrs. John Glenn, Sr. was named World Mother of the Year. And in Crofton, England, a four foot tall, 70-pound woman proclaimed herself champion beer drinker. Mrs. Elsie Daines downed half a quart of the brew in nine seconds.
