BONANZA GARDEN CLUB

BONANZA—The Bonanza Garden Club met at the home of Alyce Haley of Dauby on Nov. 25.

The club will again sponsor the Christmas lighting contest, assisted by Pacific Power and Light. There will be two divisions, one for outdoor lighting, the other, window or entrance decorations. There will be three prizes given to each group. First prize will be $10, second, $7.50, and third prize, $5.

Anyone wishing to enter the lighting contest is asked to mail a card to Alyce Haley, Route 1, Bonanza. No phone calls will be accepted.

The next meeting of the club at the home of Virginia Hartley on Dec. 19, 2 p.m., will be the annual Christmas party with a gift exchange. Anyone bringing a child is asked to be sure and bring a gift for them to exchange. Hostesses will be Mrs. Virginia Hartley and Mrs. Elsa Clark.

POLLY'S POINTERS

This Is A Slick Job

POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—Tired of listening to the Top Man of our Totem Pole gripe and snort every spring to change our double-track aluminum storm windows, I used a small paint brush to coat the slides with floor wax last spring. This fall they worked like a charm. Instead of gripping, he whistled through 12 storm windows. I am sure this would work on any type aluminum window.

GIRLS—Hang on to those old plastic tablecloths; here is another use for them—
POLLY—Sleet on a windshield can be hard to remove if the car is outside for several hours. Cut a strip of old plastic tablecloth and carry it in your trunk. When icy weather threatens, stretch the plastic across the windshield and hold in place by tucking it in the front doors. When you return to the car, remove the plastic cloth and

Galanos' Spring Styling Is Subtle, Flattering

NEW YORK (UPI)—Daring necklines for daytime and skirt lengths kept short marked the James Galanos spring fashion collection.

The Beverly Hills, Calif., designer who traditionally brings each new collection to Gotham for its preview, also decided that the sylph silhouette was the shape for spring.

This one follows the body lines "effortlessly," as a spokesman said during Wednesday afternoon's show at a New York hotel ballroom. "The fabric is moulded subtly and shaped to accent rather than reveal." Accent proved to be on various parts of a woman's anatomy—the neckline, the bust, the waist, or hips.

But it was revelation for necklines on a group of daytime jersey (less work). Some of you may have chair backs narrow enough that this would be possible.

POLLY—When in a hurry to iron some clothes that have not been dampened, I thoroughly wring out a wet Turkish towel and lay the article to be ironed in the towel and roll tightly. The dampness distributes evenly.

Couple Note 50-Year Date

MOUNT SHASTA — The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Lorenzen was observed by open house at Mount Shasta Ski Bowl Sky Room Saturday afternoon, Dec. 29. The guest book held 142 names of those attending.

The Lorenzen were married in Los Angeles in 1912. They came to Mount Shasta in 1916 and have been active in the social and business life since then. He was a member of Siskiyou Union High School District for most of the time he has lived here, is also city attorney, and president of the bank.

The Lorenzen have become world travelers during late years. Mrs. Lorenzen has made a hobby of collecting dolls from each land visited and now has representatives of nearly all civilized lands.

ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hoag of Waldport announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Marlene, to Keith Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Larson of Klamath Falls. Both young people are senior students at Oregon State University, she is majoring in elementary education and her fiancé in science education. Their wedding will be a June event in Corvallis.

July and August are the only two months named for historical figures; the former for Julius Caesar and the latter for Augustus.
