DICE CRAIN Rites Held

Funeral services were held Jan. 5 for Dice Crain, one of the most prominent members of the Klamath Indian Tribe, who played an important part in Indian affairs during his lifetime. He was born in the Williamson River country in 1882, 10 years after the end of the Modoc War when there was still enmity between the Klamaths, Modoc and the whites. In spite of this he worked for law and order among his people. Mr. Crain spent most of his life near Beatty where he ranched. His hobby was race horses and he owned several stables from time to time. He continued familiar with track information until his death. He was buried in Masekesket Cemetery.

Dairymen Talk Price

SALEM (UPI) — Oregon dairymen opened discussion today on a rough draft of a new milk price bill approved Monday by a special dairy industry committee. The proposal includes an amendment that would remove milk control from the State Department of Agriculture and give it to a nine-member commission appointed by the governor. The actions came as the Oregon Dairymen's Association opened its three-day annual convention Monday afternoon. The proposed legislation would set a minimum price on milk at producer levels. It was approved 13 to 7 by a special industry steering committee appointed last year. A new committee was named to polish the rough draft for presentation to the 1963 legislature. The general idea of the legislation won support in a show of hands from some 300 dairymen attending the meeting.

by Helen David from the book "Eliza," authored by Patricia Campbell. The story is centered around an eastern girl, Eliza, who leaves a sheltered home to marry a logger in Washington territory. Eliza is appalled at the treatment given the Indians, especially the children, by the white population and determines to start a school for the Indian youngsters. Her difficulties in getting the school started in the face of white prejudice and in adjusting her own life to the crudeness of her surroundings form the background for much of the musical's action. The staff of the Klamath Players includes Martin Franz, production, Mrs. A. H. Patterson, choreography; LaMar Jensen, musical direction; Mrs. Miller, direction; Stevens, staging.

Davis' Will Beneficiary At Macdoel

A Macdoel woman has been named the major beneficiary in the $1.5 million estate of the late Robert J. Davis, a California man and former Oregonian who was reported killed in a Baja, Mexico, hunting accident Christmas night, according to information received Monday from Helen Morley, sister of the deceased. The will stipulates that Wanda Yarborough, about 53, Macdoel, is to receive $750,000, with the deceased's brother and sister to receive $25,000 each, and the remainder of the estate going to the victim's parents, according to Mrs. Morley. In addition, the will also absolves people owing money to the late Davis of those debts, it was said. Davis, 62, a retired Southern Oregon and California banker and rancher, had moved from Orland, Calif., to his hunting lodge in Baja several months ago, an undisclosed source told the Herald and News following the shooting incident. The source said that Davis was a former resident of the Klamath area and had been a widower for the past four years. The couple had no children. An item in the Herald and News last Oct. 22 reported that Mrs. Yarborough, principal beneficiary of the will, had purchased the 32,000-acre Thunder Valley ranch in eastern Idaho and would take possession of the property in April of this year. Mrs. Yarborough had obtained the ranch to raise Appaloosa horses and short horn cattle, it was reported.

Council Deadlocked On Multiple Dwelling Zone Adjacent To OTI

(Continued from Page 1) planning commission when it came up for approval. When the vote came it resulted in a deadlock. Councilman Walter Fleet moved to deny the rezoning and Councilman Lloyd Hoyt seconded it. The motion was defeated when Councilmen Lyle Kellstrom, James Barnes and Chet Hamaker moved to read the ordinance granting the rezoning and Barnes seconded it. However, they were the only two voting for the motion, as Hoyt and Fleet opposed as did Hamaker. Then Hamaker moved to continue the hearing to Feb. 4. This motion brought no objection and was passed. Felix Peace appeared to ask the council to study the traffic situation at Main and Michigan. He detailed two recent accidents, one Dec. 12 and the other Dec. 17, when two accidents occurred at Main and Michigan. In one, his daughter was injured, and in the other, Mrs. Bessie Hearn suffered fractures of both legs. He also asked that something be done about motorists who fail to stop for pedestrians. Veatch informed him that the city manager and the street superintendent were conducting a study of that intersection, and had been doing so since the two accidents mentioned. Hamaker pursued the issue of not stopping for pedestrians, and asked Police Chief Charlie Howard why the law was not being enforced. Howard replied that the department was "getting some, but it was difficult. The pedestrian has to be in the crosswalk, and not on the curb," he said. Hoyt also reminded Howard that Jeanette Lashua, 84, a onetime resident of Klamath Falls, died in late December in a Roseburg nursing home where she had been for two years. She was a native of Wisconsin, born Sept. 17, 1878, and was a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in this city and later in Roseburg. County Officials Take Oath Of Office Monday

Three county officials who were reelected to serve four-year terms in the November general election and another who was reappointed by the county court to serve a similar term were sworn in to office by Judge David R. Vandenberg in circuit court about noon Monday. The incumbents included Eva Cook, county treasurer; Frank Ganong, county commissioner, and Lyle Smith, county surveyor. Reappointed as constable was C. Guy Merrill, who was first named to the post he now holds in August, 1951. Mrs. Cook took the oath of office for the third time Monday since she was first elected in 1954, after having served one and one-half years as deputy treasurer. The event marked the beginning of second terms for both Ganong and Smith. The latter was elected the county's first surveyor in 1938, when the duties of that post became disestablished from those of the county engineer. Ganong was first appointed to the county court Feb. 6, 1959, and was elected to serve a two-year term the following year. This year he defeated Owen Bailey, Rocky Point, by a vote of 7,966 to 5,128 to win a four-year term in the county court post. Mrs. Cook and Smith were both unopposed during the last election.

Hours are from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. The Malin drive is sponsored by the Eastern Star Chapter. Mrs. Frances Kalina, one of the drive leaders, reports 60 Malin residents have signed pledges to give blood in Merrill. Tulelake Chairman Bill Ganger reports nearly 100 pledge cards turned in to him by residents of Newell and Tulelake, with PTA representatives assisting in the donor recruitment.

Fence Post Case Viewed As Mistake

The removal of 107 fence posts from the Weyerhaeuser Tract, near Lake of the Woods, several days ago was an "honest mistake" and not a case of theft, the sheriff's office learned Monday. Sheriff Murray "Red" Britton said the posts had been cut by Jack Weimer, Henley, on the timber company tract last Wednesday and were stacked and left there. When Weimer returned two days later, the lumber was missing and nearby were the tracks of a dual truck which led in the direction of Klamath Falls. Investigation by Sheriff Britton Saturday resulted in locating the man who had taken the posts because he "believed the wood had been discarded." The missing items were returned to Weimer and the case of theft was dropped. Weimer cuts the posts on Weyerhaeuser Company lands, with approval of the company, and sells them for approximately 50 cents each.

R. Gregory Not Guilty

Raymond Orville Gregory, 26, was judged not guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor in the circuit court of Judge David R. Vandenberg, about 4:30 p.m. Monday. A jury of seven women and five men deliberated one hour and three minutes before voting 10-2 for the not guilty verdict. One man and one woman juror dissented. Gregory had been charged with providing beer to a 14-year-old Klamath Falls girl and taking her out of the state without her parents' consent. The trial began Thursday and ended after the closing arguments of the attorneys, 2:57 p.m., Monday.
