

State Okays Medford Hospital Plan

SALEM (UPI) — The State Board of Health today gave qualified approval of a new concept in hospital construction to a Medford group.

The board told Sacred Heart Hospital it could proceed with the plan.

However, the board also approved a report of the advisory council on hospital licensing and on hospital and medical facility survey and construction. The council had recommended disapproval of a license for the Sacred Heart hospital because the individual rooms, designed to be 8-by-16 feet, would be too small.

Dr. Forrest E. Rieke, president of the board, said "compromises can be worked out between Board of Health requirements and Sacred Heart plans."

Dr. Brandt Bartels, Medford, said "there has been a conflict between the hard-headed people of Medford and the hard-headed people of the State Board of Health. Some of our people feel that a lot of dogmatic statements have been made and not many constructive statements made. But I think our differences can be worked out without interfering with our basic concept."

Dr. Bartels said hospital construction regulations have not changed in Oregon in 17 years and that the single room concept would modernize medical practice.

Traffic accidents cost the lives of 3,160 persons in the U.S. during May, 1962.

SPEAKER — Robert Van Houte, Morrow County School superintendent and Oregon Education Assoc. president, will speak at the Jan. 19 meeting of the Klamath County OEA at the Winema Motor Hotel.

He will say that the Oregon Program involves 21 local school districts which are undertaking such projects as team teaching, flexible scheduling, and variable groupings of pupils. It is sponsored by the State Department of Education, the State System of Higher Education, and local school districts working with eight colleges.

'Soft Sell' Set For Mental Clinics

SALEM (UPI) — The State Board of Control decided today against "using unnatural stimulants" to encourage community mental health clinics in Oregon.

The board declined to act on a proposal to let communities make use of federal funds up to 90 per cent the first year in establishing clinics.

Counties presently are required to match state funds on a 50-50 basis. The board postponed action on the overall proposal to change the language governing federal grants to the clinic program.

Gov. Mark Hatfield, head of the board, said the state mental health clinic program never was conceived on a "promotional basis."

Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr. said 10 per cent participation by counties would be "a long way from what was originally conceived as a sound basis."

He said the state's aim was not to "ram this thing down people's throats."
