The Klamath Falls Nile Club was hostess Dec. 12 to Zuleima Temple No. 13 for the Daughters of the Nile ceremonial honoring Supreme Queen Hazel Marshall from Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. Marshall, on a nationwide tour of Nile Temples, has been active in the organization since 1942. Her late husband was a soloist with the Des Moines Shrine Temple Band.

Zuleima Temple Queen Katherine Stonecypher presided at the ceremonial at the Scottish Rite Temple when 22 candidates were initiated in the colorful ceremony.

Lavish decorations for the affair were in Egyptian theme using palm trees, Oriental throws and rugs and large baskets of golden chrysanthemums. In charge of decorations was Phyllis May.

Arrangements for the ceremonial were made by Gretchen Thompson, president of Nile Club, and her co-chairman, Imogene Jones.

Temple hostess Jean Coddington and her committee were hostesses at a tea for the candidates preceding the ceremony.

Following the ceremonial a banquet was held at the Winema Hotel in honor of Mrs. Marshall and the newly initiated members. Kathleen Thompson served as toastmistress.

Seated at the head table were Mrs. Thompson, Supreme Queen Hazel Marshall, Queen Katherine Stonecypher, Chester Stonecypher, Sen. Lynden Newby, new potentate of Hill Temple, Mrs. Newby, Supreme Princess Roy A. Dixie Layman, Past Queen Sara Peters, Arthur Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Barnhart, Stella Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. George Dugan, Gretchen Thompson, president, Klamath Falls Nile Club, Wally Thompson, Stuart Balsiger, Klamath Falls Shrine Club president, and Mrs. Balsiger.

Kathy Chukote, accompanied by Marie Obenchain, sang several numbers for early dinner entertainment.

Senator Newby, guest speaker, spoke on the proposed three million dollar Shrine hospital in care for as many as 1,700 critically burned children every year. The cities under consideration as the site for this hospital are San Francisco, Denver, Portland and Los Angeles. Two other regional hospitals are to be constructed in either the east or south.

In her talk, Mrs. Marshall told of the major achievements of Daughters of the Nile in the past year. Contributions totaling $119,232 were made to the Convalescent Fund which purchases braces, artificial limbs and special shoes for out-patients of the 16 Shrine hospitals across the nation. In addition, 23,894 garments and 46,225 incidental items were provided for the institutions. Mrs. Marshall acknowledged the $1,100 check presented to the fund by Zuleima Temple.

Among the 200 attending the banquet were officers and members from Southern Oregon and Northern California. Past queens introduced included May Moss, Klamath Falls; Harriet Guldager, Eugene; Joan Reiter, Medford; Lucille Rice, Medford; Leona Bryant, Coquille; Obera Dunn, Ashland; Doris Wray, Coos Bay and Sara Peters, Ashland.

Nile Club presidents introduced were Ethel Jochen, Brookings; Janet Brunell, Coos Bay; Stella Piper, Cave Junction; Willie Adams, Weed; Laura Dodson, Dunsmuir; Bea Paxton, Lakeview; Gretchen Thompson, Klamath Falls; Goldie Gunn, Cottage Grove.

Banquet table decorations were done by Ailsa Kuykendall, Mary Vlahos and Louise Estes. Margaret Larkin was in charge of reservations.

Soak Off Used Stamps

POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—Here is a tip for stamp collectors. To remove the stamp from paper, soak in cold water for 10 minutes. Then slide off the paper. To dry, place stamp between two paper towels and go over with a warm iron. PATRICIA ANNE

Our thanks to another of our young readers (11 years old) who shares her own pet trick—and a good one—with us. POLLY DEAR POLLY—As I go through magazines before throwing them away, I cut out all articles for children. Some are patterns for puppets, easy-to-make gifts, decorations, etc. I keep these in a box along with scraps of felt, paper and other materials. Whenever the neighborhood children come to visit or when I baby-sit, they enjoy seeing what I have to make that day.

STEPHANIE
Another good way to keep little minds busy and little hands

out of mischief. POLLY DEAR POLLY—I find that plastic baby bottles in which milk has been used get to smell sour, so I put in one-half teaspoon of baking soda, fill with water and let stand overnight. Next morning they smell sweet and fresh. I also use soda to clean combs and brushes. Just add a couple of teaspoons to a pan of water after five or 10 minutes soaking, dirt floats out of combs and brushes and leaves little or no scrubbing for me.

MRS. D. G. DEAR POLLY—When packing to move, I label each carton in big black letters with the name of the room where it is to be unpacked. For example, a box with dishes, pots and pans would be marked "KITCHEN" on the outside. When the box arrives at the new house, one quick look will tell the movers where to put it.

DEAR POLLY—When making circular felt skirts for growing girls, cut them two or three inches longer than the present skirt length. Finish the skirt and cut off a circle of two or three inches from the bottom and put this away until the skirt needs lengthening. How happy you will be to have those extra inches. Just sew that circle of felt on to the bottom of the skirt and cover the seam with a fancy braid, stitching or pick-rack and the skirt will be good for another year or two.

MOTHER OF THREE GIRLS. GIRLS—I think this idea should be good not only for felt skirts but also corduroy, velvet, wool or any other firm skirt fabric. All of us who sew know that circular skirts cannot have deep hems to let out, so this suggestion keeps them from being a one-season proposition when the girls are still growing. POLLY

The top-up kids are influencing fashion in England. The top-uppers are youngsters who get their kicks from tearing around at high speed on motorcycles. Their uniform: boots, tight pants and leather jackets. In town, the top-up costume takes the form of daintily pointed leather boots rising well over the ankle and with a little heel. For casual wear, jackets and slacks, belted at the hips, continue the top-up silhouette.
