PUBLIC SERVANT RETIRES — O. C. "Cap" Gibbs received a certificate from the Oregon State Bar Association in October commemorating 50 years of law practice in Lakeview. On Jan. 7, he retired from public life after serving as Justice of the Peace of South Lakeview since 1956.

Lake County Justice Retires After 50 Years

LAKEVIEW — Sunday, Jan. 7, marked the end of over 50 years of public life for O. C. "Cap" Gibbs when he retired as Justice of the Peace of South Lakeview, a position he has held since March 2, 1906, but almost 79 years of age is not preventing him from making plans for activity in the future.
"Cap," as he is familiarly known locally, and Mrs. Gibbs have relatives in locations that would completely outline the United States, and they hope to see all of them.
Their immediate family, however, is on the west coast; a daughter, Mrs. Goldia Horn and family in Project City, Calif.; a son, Henry, an engineer with the Pacific Power and Light Company, who lives with his family in Portland; and a daughter, Barbara G. Hiatt, superintendent of the Oregon State TB Hospital in Portland. A grandson is being married in Chileo on Jan. 27 and they plan to be there for the wedding.
The plans of Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs are independent of family and relatives in that they intend to visit with them but not stay at their homes. This will be their first winter out of Lakeview in 51 years of residence, with the exception of two when he was on army duty during World War I.
They will rent facilities near the California families, stay there for the winter months, then to Portland for a month or so, and then to the east coast where they will spend several months with other relatives. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs are natives of Washington, D.C.
Reminiscing on the first day he arrived in Lakeview, Dec. 29, 1911, "Cap" recalls it was not conducive to a favorable impression of the place. The town marshal had been shot down in cold blood. It was thought he had been called to a home where a man was beating his wife. The story goes that when the marshal got there, the husband met him at the door and shot him with a 22-special. The young Gibbs had been in rougher places.
He served as a special clerk for the government land office in North Dakota and also covered the New Mexico country. He decided to stay in Lakeview, and after two years here the girl who was to be his bride arrived from Washington, D.C., and they were married on Jan. 10, 1914. He had a law degree, bachelor degree in 1906, and masters in 1909, and was admitted to practice in Oregon on a certificate from the District of Columbia. In October of this year he received a 50-year certificate from the Oregon State Bar.
The couple was married in the house where they now live, but it was occupied by another family. They stayed there until the following June and went out on a homestead, land which they still own. In 1928 and moved back to town.
In 1913 Gibbs received the appointment from Governor West as district attorney for Lake County, under the County Attorney Act. Thus, he was the first district attorney for Lake County and held the job until 1917. He was on active duty in World War I for two years. He entered as a candidate for officers' training and advanced to captain, in command of Company I and later Company L of the 353rd Infantry, 91st Division.
During a recent illness in Portland, he was visited by a war buddy whom he didn't remember but who had kept a diary of every day that they were together. It was an interesting reunion.
In the years following Gibbs practiced law in Lakeview until he was appointed justice of the peace. He found Lakeview and Lake County a good place in which to make his home.
Native home of the Clydesdale horse is the Clyde Valley of Scotland, which produces some of the world's largest draft horses.

Study Opens In Lakeview

LAKEVIEW—The Bishop sewing courses in the home economics division of the Lakeview High School adult education program for the winter semester will be the first to start. Bishop I will start Monday, Jan. 14; Bishop II, Wednesday, Jan. 16; and Bishop III, Tuesday, Jan. 15.
The starting date for the millinery course has been changed to Monday, Jan. 23. All of the home economics courses will be held in the home economics room of the Lakeview Junior High School building. Starting time has been set at 7 p.m.
The farm law course will be taught by Robert Nichols, local attorney. This course will include instruction in the areas of contracts, negotiable instruments, livestock and fence laws, methods of doing business, distribution of property, water rights and investment and insurance. Considerable time will be given to discussion of cases and problems of individual interest.
This course is slated to start on Monday, Jan. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Lakeview High School vocational agriculture building. It is felt that many ranchers in the area might benefit from this, and all persons interested should register prior to the first meeting by contacting Bob Elden, adult director, at WH 7-2335 or WH 7-3212.
The adult course in arc welding is also slated to begin on Tuesday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. in the Voc. Ag. building. This is designed for beginner welders or those individuals wishing further instruction in the technique of welding mild steel. It has been set up on a practical basis with considerable time given to individual practice.
All courses are planned for 30 class hours and are of non-college credit.

Arthur likes to tell about his first duplicate with his mother. He had learned the point count and a little about Blackwood. His five heart bid showed his two aces; his six heart bid showed his two kings and his seven diamond bid was intended to show his one queen.
Mrs. Robinson did not know this new Blackwood variation and passed with the idea that Arthur had a long diamond suit.
Arthur might not have known much about bidding, but even as a beginner the play of the cards was easy for him. He decided that West's nine of hearts opening was a double-ton. In that case he could only count twelve tricks, but Arthur found his thirteenth by means of an unusual trump play.
He won the opening heart lead; cashed the king and ace of spades and ruffed a third spade high. He returned to his hand with the king of clubs and ruffed his last spade with another high trump.
He then ran off three rounds of trumps, discarding dummy's fourth heart on his third trump. Since trumps broke three-three Arthur had his thirteenth trick and the first top score of what will undoubtedly be a long series of triumphs.
