

Weather Roundup

Temperatures during the 24 hours ending at 4 a.m. PST-Saturday.

Table with 3 columns: Location, High, Low. Includes Astoria, Baker, Brookings, Burns, Lakeview, Medford, Newport, Pendleton, Portland, Redmond, Salem, The Dalles, Chicago, Los Angeles, New York, San Fran, Washington.

Northern California: Fair; continued cold. Western Oregon: Fair through Sunday; highs 25-35; lows 10-20.

Corvallis: Fair through Sunday; highs 25-35; lows 10-20. Bandon: Partly cloudy; highs 5-10; lows near zero.

Four Escort Teams Ready

SALEM (UPI) — Escorts for Monday's inaugural proceedings were named Friday in a joint House-Senate announcement by Rep. Clarence Barton, D-Coquille, and Sen. Ben Musa, D-The Dalles.

Congo Crisis Threatens U Thant's Future As United Nation's Chief, Roundup Of Week's News Indicates

By United Press International U Thant, and the police powers of the United Nations itself. Congo led indirectly to the death of Hammarskjold in a plane crash.

Stocks Make Light Gain Despite Profit Taking

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks ran into stubborn resistance from profit-takers late last week but finished with a modest gain based on a sharp Tuesday rally.

The lack of progress in the last three sessions despite heavy trading lent credence to a growing belief in the street that the big "putch" following the week before last week's breakthrough to new recovery highs, was running out of gas.

The upside highlights were largely special situations and depressed issues which have lagged well behind the market's long recovery since mid-1961. Another strong segment were those issues knocked down by year-end 1962 tax selling.

A leading forecaster said at the weekend that he still feels the market has been going up under false illusions, and he finds an "unhealthy, if vehement desire on the part of investors who were burned last year to recoup their losses by taking even greater risks."

Warning Issued He also warned that a rally like this can end as quickly as it started "once the principal players decide to collect their marbles."

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index finished the week at 64.85 for a gain of 0.72. In the Dow-Jones averages, industrials rose 9.37 to a new recovery peak of 671.60.

Man Slips Off Bridge

POWERS (UPI) — Buddy Wilson, 36, of Coos Bay was killed Friday night when he fell 30 feet from a frosty footbridge into the Coquille River five miles south of here.

Powers Police Chief Gerald Straight said Wilson struck his head on a rock in the river. Wilson's stepfather, Ray Hilton, saw him start across the bridge in the darkness.

Share Profit Plan Okayed At Kaiser

FONTANA, Calif. (UPI) — Kaiser Steel Corp. employees overwhelmingly approved a revolutionary new profit-sharing plan Friday night.

It is designed to eliminate strikes over economic issues and provide job security against automation. The plan, developed over a three-year period in a cooperative study by economists, Kaiser officials and the United Steelworkers Union, becomes effective March 1—but would cover only employees of the Kaiser plant here.

Approximately 4,000 of the 5,400 employees who cast ballots voted for the plan. A union spokesman said official breakdowns of the votes would be determined at a later date although the outcome would not be affected.

The long-range plan supported by both the union and management was the subject of the secret balloting. Union spokesmen said most of the opposition votes came from employees who worked on an incentive basis. They contended the plan would cost them from $3,000-$4,000 a year in overtime.

Atomic Test Talks Slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States announced Saturday that U.S. and Soviet negotiators will begin talks in New York Monday on nuclear testing and disarmament.

American officials voiced some optimism—though very cautiously—that prospects for an agreement to end nuclear testing might be advanced. The talks, beginning Monday afternoon at Soviet U. N. Mission headquarters in New York, will be between William C. Foster, director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; H. E. Fedorenko, Soviet ambassador to the U. N.; and Semyon K. Tsarapkin, Russia's disarmament negotiator at Geneva.

The State Department said that following recent talks between U. S. and Soviet officials, it is believed that further discussions in the United States on the issues of nuclear testing and disarmament might be useful.

"It is hoped," the department said, "that meetings between representatives of the two governments will assist in advancing preparations for the resumed session of the Disarmament Conference next month in Geneva."

The 18-nation Geneva disarmament talks (actually 17 because France is represented by an empty chair) resume Feb. 15. The United States and Russia are "co-chairmen" of this conference. It is in this role that the talks in New York will be held.

Nuclear test ban talks, have been stalled since 1958, largely over the issue of Russia's refusal to accept international inspection against cheating.

PAGE 2-A HERALD AND NEWS, Klamath Falls, Ore. Sunday, January 13, 1963

CELEBRATE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY — The Bank of Klamath Falls celebrated its fifth anniversary on Friday, Jan. 11, with an open house and a display of the latest in automated equipment.

Klamath Bank Notes Fifth Birthday

Klamath's locally owned and operated Bank of Klamath Falls held an open house Friday, Jan. 11, to commemorate its fifth year of operation.

Jack Holt, executive vice president, estimated that 2,000 persons attended the event. The latest in automated proof and transit equipment has been added to the bank and was placed on display in the lobby.

Trouble In Mississippi Blamed On Negro Student

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Chancellor of the University of Mississippi charged Friday that James H. Meredith created trouble on the campus by holding a news conference last Monday.

The meeting with newsmen was followed by demonstrations against the Negro student. "We were getting along quietly before the press conference," Dr. J. D. Williams said. "The press conference sparked the whole thing."

The 29-year-old Air Force veteran called reporters to his dormitory and told them he would leave "Ole Miss" soon unless "definite and positive changes" were made at the school to make his attendance easier.

Williams said Meredith implied that "students and others were not doing what they should to make his life what he thought it should be."

Thursday night's demonstration against Meredith was the roughest of a new series of protests against Meredith's attendance at the university. About 400 students, some of them shouting "Go home, nigger," participated.

University officials took stern disciplinary measures Friday to insure against further demonstrations.

CELEBRATE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY — The Bank of Klamath Falls celebrated its fifth anniversary on Friday, Jan. 11, with an open house and a display of the latest in automated equipment.

Slide Combed For Buried Man

EUGENE (UPI) — A search for the body of one of four loggers who died in a massive slide about 50 miles east of here Thursday was scheduled to resume.

Thomas Bowman of Finn Rock and the other loggers were buried by the slide. The bodies of the other men were recovered. A fifth logger was rescued after being buried.

Searchers dug through a 50-foot deep mass of mud, snow and timber in an attempt to find the body Friday. Only two men were allowed to work in the slide area at a time because of the danger of more slides.

The Board of Directors includes R. F. Mest, president; J. O. Fisher, vice president; D. D. Reeder, secretary; C. A. Henderson, treasurer, and Harry D. Boivin.

Chester A. Arthur was president of the United States when the Pendleton Act, establishing the Federal Civil Service, became law in 1882.

The 29-year-old Air Force veteran called reporters to his dormitory and told them he would leave "Ole Miss" soon unless "definite and positive changes" were made at the school to make his attendance easier.

Williams said Meredith implied that "students and others were not doing what they should to make his life what he thought it should be."

Thursday night's demonstration against Meredith was the roughest of a new series of protests against Meredith's attendance at the university. About 400 students, some of them shouting "Go home, nigger," participated.

University officials took stern disciplinary measures Friday to insure against further demonstrations.

American officials voiced some optimism—though very cautiously—that prospects for an agreement to end nuclear testing might be advanced.

The talks, beginning Monday afternoon at Soviet U. N. Mission headquarters in New York, will be between William C. Foster, director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; H. E. Fedorenko, Soviet ambassador to the U. N.; and Semyon K. Tsarapkin, Russia's disarmament negotiator at Geneva.

The State Department said that following recent talks between U. S. and Soviet officials, it is believed that further discussions in the United States on the issues of nuclear testing and disarmament might be useful.

"It is hoped," the department said, "that meetings between representatives of the two governments will assist in advancing preparations for the resumed session of the Disarmament Conference next month in Geneva."

The 18-nation Geneva disarmament talks (actually 17 because France is represented by an empty chair) resume Feb. 15. The United States and Russia are "co-chairmen" of this conference. It is in this role that the talks in New York will be held.

Nuclear test ban talks, have been stalled since 1958, largely over the issue of Russia's refusal to accept international inspection against cheating.

American officials voiced some optimism—though very cautiously—that prospects for an agreement to end nuclear testing might be advanced.

The talks, beginning Monday afternoon at Soviet U. N. Mission headquarters in New York, will be between William C. Foster, director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; H. E. Fedorenko, Soviet ambassador to the U. N.; and Semyon K. Tsarapkin, Russia's disarmament negotiator at Geneva.

The State Department said that following recent talks between U. S. and Soviet officials, it is believed that further discussions in the United States on the issues of nuclear testing and disarmament might be useful.

"It is hoped," the department said, "that meetings between representatives of the two governments will assist in advancing preparations for the resumed session of the Disarmament Conference next month in Geneva."

The 18-nation Geneva disarmament talks (actually 17 because France is represented by an empty chair) resume Feb. 15. The United States and Russia are "co-chairmen" of this conference. It is in this role that the talks in New York will be held.

PAGE 3-A HERALD AND NEWS, Klamath Falls, Ore. Sunday, January 13, 1963

CELEBRATE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY — The Bank of Klamath Falls celebrated its fifth anniversary on Friday, Jan. 11, with an open house and a display of the latest in automated equipment.

Man Slips Off Bridge

POWERS (UPI) — Buddy Wilson, 36, of Coos Bay was killed Friday night when he fell 30 feet from a frosty footbridge into the Coquille River five miles south of here.

Powers Police Chief Gerald Straight said Wilson struck his head on a rock in the river. Wilson's stepfather, Ray Hilton, saw him start across the bridge in the darkness.

Searchers dug through a 50-foot deep mass of mud, snow and timber in an attempt to find the body Friday. Only two men were allowed to work in the slide area at a time because of the danger of more slides.

The Board of Directors includes R. F. Mest, president; J. O. Fisher, vice president; D. D. Reeder, secretary; C. A. Henderson, treasurer, and Harry D. Boivin.

Chester A. Arthur was president of the United States when the Pendleton Act, establishing the Federal Civil Service, became law in 1882.

The 29-year-old Air Force veteran called reporters to his dormitory and told them he would leave "Ole Miss" soon unless "definite and positive changes" were made at the school to make his attendance easier.

Williams said Meredith implied that "students and others were not doing what they should to make his life what he thought it should be."

Thursday night's demonstration against Meredith was the roughest of a new series of protests against Meredith's attendance at the university. About 400 students, some of them shouting "Go home, nigger," participated.

University officials took stern disciplinary measures Friday to insure against further demonstrations.

American officials voiced some optimism—though very cautiously—that prospects for an agreement to end nuclear testing might be advanced.

The talks, beginning Monday afternoon at Soviet U. N. Mission headquarters in New York, will be between William C. Foster, director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; H. E. Fedorenko, Soviet ambassador to the U. N.; and Semyon K. Tsarapkin, Russia's disarmament negotiator at Geneva.

The State Department said that following recent talks between U. S. and Soviet officials, it is believed that further discussions in the United States on the issues of nuclear testing and disarmament might be useful.

"It is hoped," the department said, "that meetings between representatives of the two governments will assist in advancing preparations for the resumed session of the Disarmament Conference next month in Geneva."

The 18-nation Geneva disarmament talks (actually 17 because France is represented by an empty chair) resume Feb. 15. The United States and Russia are "co-chairmen" of this conference. It is in this role that the talks in New York will be held.

Nuclear test ban talks, have been stalled since 1958, largely over the issue of Russia's refusal to accept international inspection against cheating.

American officials voiced some optimism—though very cautiously—that prospects for an agreement to end nuclear testing might be advanced.

The talks, beginning Monday afternoon at Soviet U. N. Mission headquarters in New York, will be between William C. Foster, director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; H. E. Fedorenko, Soviet ambassador to the U. N.; and Semyon K. Tsarapkin, Russia's disarmament negotiator at Geneva.

The State Department said that following recent talks between U. S. and Soviet officials, it is believed that further discussions in the United States on the issues of nuclear testing and disarmament might be useful.

"It is hoped," the department said, "that meetings between representatives of the two governments will assist in advancing preparations for the resumed session of the Disarmament Conference next month in Geneva."

The 18-nation Geneva disarmament talks (actually 17 because France is represented by an empty chair) resume Feb. 15. The United States and Russia are "co-chairmen" of this conference. It is in this role that the talks in New York will be held.

Pacifica Probe Stalled By Senate Red Hunters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More witnesses will be called in the Senate investigation of "possible Communist infiltration" of the Pacifica Foundation, according to Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

The Senate Internal Subcommittee inquiry temporarily ended Friday, but Dodd said it would continue. He did not disclose when and where the hearings would resume or whether they will be open.

Dodd also declined to discuss what had been revealed in the two days of closed-door hearings regarding the foundation, which owns radio stations in Berkeley, Los Angeles and New York.

Jerome Shore, executive vice president of the Pacifica Foundation, testified for two hours Friday. He said he told the subcommittee that he is not a member of the Communist party and has not been for nine years.

He said he invoked the First and Fifth Constitutional Amendments in refusing to answer questions about events and associations before 1954, and some afterward. In the same prepared statement, Shore said he contended the hearing had no proper legislative purpose or authorization.

Shore was the last of four executives of the foundation who were questioned by the subcommittee during the investigation. Others were Dr. Peter Odgaard, University of California political science professor and foundation director; Acting Director Trevor Thomas; and Joseph Binn, manager of the New York station KBAI.

Dorothy Healey, a Los Angeles Communist official and commentator on KPFFK also was subpoenaed but refused to answer questions other than her name and address.

Dodd said Friday that protests that the inquiry is a threat to freedom of speech and press were "based on misinformation."

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

China was the first country to ornament its fine silken material with patterns, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

DENTAL PLATES Repaired, etc. Our convenient, handy, practical, and economical services NOW available. PERSONAL DENTURE SERVICE

WOODBURY LANOLIN RICH HAND CREME Reg. 1.00 Only 49c plus tax

Jergen's LOTION With Free Dispenser Reg. 1.00 plus tax

Bath Towels YOUR CHOICE 88c Tame (Reg. 1.10) Creme Rinse With Free Grapefruit Spoon plus tax

BULK SHEET FOAM 3 Thicknesses For Reupholstering 1/2"x18" Running Ft. 39c 1"x18" Running Ft. 59c 1 1/2"x18" Running Ft. 79c

SHREDDED FOAM 3 bags 1.00 Reg. 49c Jumbo Bags

YOUR CHOICE Large Assortment of Quality SCISSORS From Manicure to Large Sewing Sizes 1.59

REMEMBER -- ALL GROCERY PRICES GOOD THROUGH WED. While Stocks Last!

Use First National Bank Money Orders, Up to 300.00 -- 20c

BIG Market EASY FREE PARKING Right Reserved To Limit—Closed Sundays 4710 So. 6th

ESQUIRE TV-4-4567 MATINEE ONLY TODAY DOORS OPEN 12:45 "The LOST WORLD" Plus 3 CARTOONS REGULAR PRICES Starting TONITE! ONE PERFORMANCE NIGHTLY AT 7:30 DOORS OPEN 7:00 "BOCCACIO 70" in 3 parts starring SOPHIA LOREN and ANITA ECKBERG Admission for "Boccaccio" $1.25 (Incl. Tax)

WOULD-BE BANK ROBBER CHARGED PORTLAND (UPI) — Thomas W. Sowell, 45, Salem, a would-be bank robber who was captured by firemen instead of law enforcement officers, was indicted by the federal grand jury here Friday. Sowell was captured Jan. 3 attempting to rob the Parkrose Branch of the Oregon Bank. He was caught by firemen called to the bank when an employee mistakenly set off the fire alarm instead of the alarm that calls police. Also named in a general indictment was Leslie A. Barneille, 60, of San Francisco. He is charged with theft of a car which was driven from San Francisco to Salem.

Lakeview and Klamath Falls Classes Forming! Develop These Basic Traits: SELF CONFIDENCE, SPEAKING SKILLS, HUMAN RELATIONS INSIGHT, DECISION-MAKING ABILITY, POSITIVE MOTIVATING ATTITUDES. Dale Carnegie Course FOR MEN AND WOMEN Approved for Oregon Korean Veterans J. R. (Bob) Taylor, Associate Sponsor 548 Lozier Lane, Medford, Oregon

BIG Market EASY FREE PARKING Right Reserved To Limit—Closed Sundays 4710 So. 6th