

Inspector Warns Old On Crooks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Postal Inspector H.B. Montague warned elderly citizens today that all manner of crooks are out to filch their money with schemes ranging from land fraud to fake youth nostrums.

Montague testified before a special Senate committee on aging which is conducting hearings on frauds and quackery affecting older persons.

He said mail fraud is on the increase and "experience has shown that certain schemes have particular appeal to elderly citizens, many of whom have been victimized by these promotions."

There were 324 convictions for mail fraud during 1962, an increase of 21.6 per cent over the previous year, Montague said. Federal investigators have adopted new techniques to catch these "white collar bandits" but they are still at work in large numbers bilking the public of millions of dollars every year, he said.

Montague listed these frauds as having particular appeal to the elderly:

Advance fee racket: Owners of small businesses are induced to sell property to secure loans they never receive.

Vending machine schemes: Swindlers offer part-time employment for persons wanting to supplement family income. The victim is induced to buy the machine that brings him no money in return.

Sewing machine promotions: Housewives are talked into buying machines at excessive cost to make money at home making garments.

Land frauds: Retired persons are sold worthless lots as far away as Brazil through beautifully illustrated brochures sent through the mail.

Medical frauds: Elderly persons are sold nostrums advertised to restore youth.

Dr. Ronald W. Lamont-Havers, national medical director for the Arthritic and Rheumatism Foundation, told the committee Tuesday that arthritic sufferers are constantly subjected to fake gadgets and medicines advertised as a cure.

"The publication of books and magazine articles (reporting alleged cures) is one of the greatest frauds being perpetrated on the American public today," he said.
