Slam Made By Gerber

By OSWALD JACOBY

In international competition, the nonplaying captain of a team has a tougher job than the players. He doesn't have to make the actual bids and plays, but he has to decide which pairs will be in action at each session of play. He can't let friendship or sentimentality interfere with his decisions and he has to keep the six players on the team happy, anxious to win, and in good condition.

John Gerber of Houston is an ideal captain. He started his work at the trials when he watched all players in action, commissioned other experts to watch certain pairs also and started collecting information leading to the final decisions as to who should play against various French, Italian and South American pairs in the matches.

Johnny, a top player, is inventor of the Gerber four club convention.

In this convention certain bids of four clubs ask for aces. Thus, South is interested in a slam after his partner's two-no-trump response, but does not want to go past game if North holds but one ace. The Gerber four club allows him to have his cake and eat it too.

He bids four clubs and South goes four spades to show two aces. In Gerber four diamonds shows no ace, four hearts, one ace, etc.

South jumps to six hearts and makes the contract since the ace of clubs is the only loser.

Klamath Basin Explorer Scout Program Started

Exploring, the high school age program of the Boy Scouts of America, took a giant step forward at two meetings held in Klamath Falls this week.

After more than three months of organizational effort, Klamath Basin high school aged young men were invited to one of two organizational meetings.

The first was held Wednesday evening in the meeting room of the Klamath County Library. At that time 86 young men met with the leaders of the post which is sponsored by the Weyerhaeuser Company.

The second was held on Thursday evening at the theater on the Oregon Technical Institute campus under the guidance of the leaders of the post sponsored by Oregon Technical Institute. There were 42 young men at that meeting.

Opportunities for vocational exploration in the many technical fields offered there, but will begin with exploration into six primary fields. These are, auto and diesel mechanics, engineering technology, medical technology, metals technology, including gunsmithing, and electronics technology.

The next meeting of the post, which is open to boys who are at least 14 years old, will be held in the OTI theater on Thursday evening, Jan. 31.

Weyerhaeuser Company Manager Jack Bishop selected Doug Stowell to serve as institutional representative for the Weyerhaeuser post. Serving as post committee members are Chuck Cooper, Martin Laugel, Thomas Patterson, Wendell Huettl, and Conrad Borsting. Serving as advisor of the post is Jack Zimmerman, forester. Associate adviser is Bill Stegemeyer.

The Weyerhaeuser post will offer young men a complete exploration of the woods products industry from the growing and harvesting of the timber to its ultimate utilization as lumber and related products. It will also include the other areas of corporation operation such as sales, research and accounting.

The next meeting of the Weyerhaeuser post will be on Thursday evening, Jan. 24, at the mill. Membership will be limited to 40 explorers.

In the meantime Council President Dr. George Massey and Bob Gotshall, organization and extension chairman, are contacting other potential sponsoring institutions.

The explorer program as offered in these two new posts is the result of many years of study by the Boy Scouts of America and the Research Center of the University of Michigan.

It is a program designed to provide opportunities for young men to explore adult-like roles and is promoted by the Boy Scouts of America to teach and reinforce certain broad ethical aims.

Further information regarding the explorer program may be obtained by calling the Boy Scout Service Center, 1819 Manzanita Street, TU 2-4611.

National Jaycee Week Noted In Klamath Falls

The Klamath Falls Jaycees, who celebrate this week as National Jaycee Week, can look back on another year full of worthwhile civic activities.

Mayor Robert Veatch congratulated the Jaycees for the outstanding service they rendered through their various projects, to our community over the past years.

This week is also Rotorua Sister City Week and the New Zealand city's official representative to Klamath Falls is doubling as a representative of his city's Jaycees International.

New Zealand Jaycee Clifford McDonald listed some of his organization's annual activities as a comparison to the work the junior chamber does in Klamath Falls.

The Rotorua group's 102 members sponsored such activities as building a school for handicapped children, raising $20,000 for a sports center and collecting rubbish from residences and on Rotorua Clean-up Day.

On a national level (New Zealand claims more Jaycees per population than any other country in the world) the members participated in a project to supply medical supplies and give financial help to the staff of a hospital in Southeast Asia.

The 32-member Klamath Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored flag, hunter safety, public speaking, get out the vote and boy's wrestling programs this past year. During the holiday season they organized the Christmas Shopping Tour for underprivileged children, the Hello Santa program and the Christmas Lighting Contest.

On a state level the Jaycees finance a boy's home in Orono, Korea and nationally they sponsor the teen-age safe driving road-test, the Miss America Contest and the national Soap Box Derby.

Talks Slated On British Mart Entry

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Talks between French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer could decide the fate of Britain's entry into the European Common Market, diplomatic sources said.

The two "grand old men" of Europe meet Sunday in Paris. Their discussions were expected to center on De Gaulle's opposition to British membership in the European community at this time.

Diplomatic sources said the extent of Adenauer's influence on the French leader could determine whether the recessed talks on Britain's membership application will lead anywhere or just fade out.

Adenauer was under pressure from all political parties in his own country to use his personal influence to soften De Gaulle's firm stand. The chancellor has received warnings from German business and union groups that an end to the Brussels talks could be disastrous to Europe.

The other four partners in the market—Italy, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg—all back the British position.

The other partners Friday forced France to postpone its demand for an immediate suspension of negotiations. The talks here were adjourned until Jan. 28.

Great Decisions Study Scheduled For Feb. 3

Several study groups will be formed in Klamath Falls under the nation-wide 1963 Great Decisions Study Program, it was announced by Ben Kerns, regional chairman who recently attended a state-wide meeting in Portland to help organize the program.

Planned are 10 adult and five student groups, to meet for eight weeks. Breakfast meetings are planned for businessmen. Study will start Feb. 3.

Of interest to all Americans will be these world problems: The Common Market, Red China and the USSR, Algeria, Spain, India, Laos and Vietnam, The Alliance for Progress, and Peace and Its Problems and Prospects.

The Great Decisions Program has been carried on for several years by the Foreign Policy Association and is administered in Oregon by the State Council for Great Decisions. Last year more than 4,000 persons took part in the program with more than 250 discussion groups and more than 25 schools participating. More than 40 newspapers and 26 radio and television stations carried news, information and discussions of these topics based on the material provided for the main program.

The studies cover eight meetings of small groups of two-month interested persons over a two-month period, February and March of each year. Study materials are furnished for nominal fees through the state council in cooperation with the Foreign Policy Association, which provides a well-prepared synthesis of background information and latest developments concerning each topic study. Group meetings are of an informal nature, with groups made up of from six to eight couples of 12 to 20 persons.

The program has been endorsed by President Kennedy, former President Eisenhower, and is sponsored by a number of organizations within the state including the World Affairs Council, Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, League of Women Voters, Oregon Council of Churches.

Tax Hearings Get Speedup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has set a swift timetable for hearings on President Kennedy's $10 billion tax-cutting plan.

The three-year plan, which Kennedy will detail in a special message to Congress Thursday, already has touched off a bipartisan attack on his record $99 billion budget. Many members say they favor tax cuts only if spending is also cut.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills announced that the House Ways and Means Committee will begin hearings Feb. 6 with testimony from Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges and Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz who will testify for the administration.

The committee then will recess until Feb. 18 at which time it will begin hearing testimony from the public.

Persons wishing to express their views without appearing before the committee were told that written statements should be submitted no later than March 15. This indicated Mills had not ruled out the possibility that public testimony might be completed in four weeks time.

Beauty Cut By Terrorist

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Miss Linda Light, a 19-year-old beauty contest winner, was terrorized for nearly two hours Friday by a prowler who slashed her with a butcher knife and knocked her unconscious.

Miss Light, Miss Kansas in the 1962 Miss Universe beauty pageant at Miami Beach, was treated at a hospital and released. The knife wound was not serious.

Her father, William J. Light, said "Linda was not criminally attacked. A physician has definitely determined this. My daughter right now is in a state of shock and under a physician's care."

Miss Light, a student at Washburn University, told authorities she found the man in the house when she returned home from classes.

She attempted to telephone police, but the man seized her and held a butcher knife against her throat. He demanded money and became angry when she told him there was none in the house. He pushed her against a wall, Light said, and used the knife to rip the buttons from her suit coat. Then he cut her across the abdomen, ripping through her blouse.
