

Ranch Tour Plans Told

LAKEVIEW — All county residents are invited to attend a tour of the MC Ranch on Tuesday, Feb. 12, according to Bill Lane, Vern Colvin, and John Kiesow, Lake County Stockgrower's Committee in charge of arrangements.

The tour to begin with a free luncheon at the MC Ranch Shop will highlight the feedlot operation where some 5,000 head of cattle are fattened each year. Other points to be included in the tour will be the feed mill, discussion of rations, finish of the cattle, and dual grading. Arrangements are being made for a pack area to be on hand to discuss finish, dressing percentage, and dual grading.

Jack Nicols and Bill Lane, representing the MC Ranch, are making ranch arrangements for the tour.

The tour scheduled to begin at 11:30 a.m. and end at 3 p.m. will be of interest to businessmen as well as local ranchers. Ample inside space is available for the visit in the event the day is inclement.

BULL SALE MATERIAL — These views were taken last week of two groups of the range-ready bulls which will be sold Wednesday beginning at 1 p.m. at the Klamath County Fairgrounds. The bulls arrived at the fairgrounds this morning and can be inspected prior to the sale. A total of 82 bulls have been consigned to the sale. — County Agent Photos

Klamath County 4-H Leaders Invited To State Meet

Klamath County's 4-H Club leaders are invited to participate in the annual State 4-H Leaders' Conference given by Oregon State University, Jan. 23-25, in Corvallis. Motel accommodations and transportation arrangements will be arranged through the county extension office, according to Beverly Bower and Francis Skinner, 4-H Club agents.

Local 4-H leaders who attend the conference will get acquainted and exchange ideas with some of Oregon's 3,500 4-H leaders, receive new information helpful in conducting their clubs, and be brought up-to-date on new and revised 4-H project areas available to youth in their communities. First and second year 4-H leaders are especially encouraged to attend the conference. A breakfast has been planned Thursday for these new leaders only. They will learn how their local 4-H club is a part of the county, state and national 4-H club program that presently enrolls 2 1/2 million boys and girls. They'll also have a chance to ask questions and get a birdseye view of new project ideas.

Registration for the conference begins Wednesday afternoon followed by a get-acquainted hospitality tour. That evening leaders will attend the Sears banquet, be greeted by OSU president, James Jensen, and be entertained by the OSU chorus. Keynote speaker for the banquet will be Dr. Orlo M. Brees, public relations representative for the National Association of Manufacturers.

Dr. Brees, author of "Spudville Philosophy and Foolosophy" was a New York newspaperman who later went to the New York legislature. He has been a coal miner, textile worker, salesman, teacher, minister, and printer. Dr. Brees completed his formal education at Shurtleff College in Illinois, Brown and Columbia universities, University College at Southampton, England, and University of Vienna.

Thursday is the new leaders' breakfast and an all-day program focused on community action for will be given new ideas on how to help youngsters find worthwhile activities to carry out in their communities.

Late that afternoon Ragnar Anderson, 4-H club leader from Colton, will show slides and tell about a week he spent at the National 4-H leaders' forum in Washington, D.C. this fall. Anderson is a dairy club leader from Clackamas County.

Thursday has been designated as international night with Oregon's International Farm Youth Exchange delegates on the program. IFYE's are Jerry Maddy, Albany, who lived with Finnish families; Reata Young, Grants Pass, Luxembourg; Don Walls, Hermiston, Honduras; and Robert Youngman, McMinnville, Ecuador.

Friday leaders will attend regional breakfasts and attend a luncheon sponsored by Standard Oil of California honoring winners of 4-H college scholarships provided by the oil company. In the last few years Standard Oil has given more than $12,000 worth of these scholarships to 4-H youth. Gene Lear, associate director of the cooperative extension service, will speak to leaders at the Friday luncheon.

Also participating in the program will be Edgar A. Reeves, program leader on 4-H club work for the federal extension office in the 13 western states.

The Oregon 4-H Leaders Association honors a 4-H leader by providing a trip to the national 4-H leader forum in Washington, D.C. In 1963 the leader will be a woman with announcement of the leader's name to be made at the final luncheon, Jan. 23. Klamath County is submitting the name of Mrs. Harold Campbell.

Leaders who have not made conference reservations but wish to do so should contact the County Extension Office.

Washington (UPI) — The State Department said Monday that Red China may be able to explode an atomic device "toward the end of this year or next year."

But, said department press officer Lincoln White, there would be a "long gap" between explosion of a nuclear device and development of usable nuclear weapons by the Red Chinese.

Bull Sale Scheduled At County Fairgrounds

By RAY O. PETERSEN
County Extension agent
The third annual Range-Ready Bull Sale, sponsored by the Klamath Cattlemen's Association, will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 23, at 1 p.m. at the fairgrounds in Klamath Falls, according to Norman Jacobs, president of the association.

The bulls will be brought to the fairgrounds Tuesday morning and will be inspected for soundness by a sifting committee comprised of Dr. Dred J. Wedam, Louis Randall and John Horton. Anyone interested in seeing the bulls at that time is welcome to be present.

The sale committee has checked the bulls on the ranches on two different occasions and only bulls of satisfactory quality have been accepted for the sale, Jacobs reported.

Eighty two bulls have been consigned for the sale, including 62 Horned Herefords, eight Polled Herefords, 10 Aberdeen Angus and two Shorthorns.

Consignors to the sale are as follows: Horned Herefords; Haley Hereford Ranch, Donald Jacobs, Norman and Lois Jacobs, Lost River Ranch, Sidney Kerns, J. C. and Juanita Stevenson, Harry and Inez Obenchain, Jim Watts and Wright Hereford Ranch; Polled Herefords; Haley Hereford Ranch, and J. C. and Juanita Stevenson; Aberdeen Angus, J. Leland Pope, Charles and Alvin Cheyne and Warren Angus Ranch; and Shorthorns, Ralph Vaden.

The Klamath County Cow Belles will serve coffee and doughnuts from 9 am. and a lunch at 1 p.m. the day of the sale. Bob Rhodes will be the auctioneer.

PINE GROVE SHEEP CLUB
The Pine Grove Sheep Club meeting was held in December at the home of the leader, Dr. W. F. Dean. The meeting was called to order by Diane Vanderhoff, president. We chose a new reporter who is Marilyn Mann.

Mr. Horton talked a little to the members who are raising cattle. We were each given a disease of sheep to report on at our next meeting.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments served.
